

AGFEST, HOME, GARDEN SHOW

LUKAS EGGEN/Itemizer-Observer

The Polk County Home and Garden Show at the Polk County Fairgrounds provided a perfect place to show off a variety of plants that can grow and thrive in Oregon.

LUKAS EGGEN/Itemizer-Observer

Ryder Chenoweth, 2, takes a seat on one of the numerous tractors at the Mid-Valley AgFest on Sunday at the Polk County Fairgrounds.

LUKAS EGGEN/Itemizer-Observer

Bailey Frederickson, 6, enjoys petting one of the rabbits at the 4-H petting zoo on Sunday.

From model train sets to a petting zoo to live demonstrations, the Mid-Valley AgFest and Polk County Home and Garden Show provided fun, food, seminars, and countless treasures for people to discover on Saturday and Sunday at the Polk County Fairgrounds.

LUKAS EGGEN/Itemizer-Observer

Jared Bunn, 3, waits excitedly for a model train to pass by at the Mid-Valley AgFest on Sunday.

LUKAS EGGEN/Itemizer-Observer

Jordin Taylor, Corban Stadel and Melia Taylor experience what it's like in a covered wagon on Sunday.

LUKAS EGGEN/Itemizer-Observer

The Home and Garden Show offered a variety of products, including cups, plants and birdhouses.

LUKAS EGGEN/Itemizer-Observer

Leah Dye, 10, gets her face painted by June of J.J. Entertainment during the Mid-Valley AgFest on Sunday afternoon.