

OBITUARIES

Jarvis Daniel Brandt

Nov. 12, 1948 – Aug. 22, 2016

Jarvis Daniel Brandt, 68, of Dallas, died Aug. 22.

He was born in Saginaw, Mich., to Alfred Daniel and June Cecelia Glazier Brandt. He graduated from Crescent

City High School in 1966. In January of 1967, he enlisted in the United States Navy and served until January of 1973. For most of his working years, he drove long-haul truck for Warner Enterprises. Because of ill health, he retired from the road. Jarvis loved to fish at Detroit Lake and Sheridan Pond or wherever the fish were biting. Even though he didn't eat fish, he would smoke it or give it away fresh for others to enjoy. He was good at Traeger Grilling and enjoyed reading.

He is survived by his significant other, Sharon Land; children, Michael Brandt, David Brandt, Allyson Brandt and Emily Birkey; two grandchildren; and sister, Marshann Burnett.

Private family services will be held. The Dallas Mortuary Tribute Center handled arrangements. To leave an online tribute: www.dallas-tribute.com.

Jean Marie (Hatfield) Hiebert

Feb. 25, 1928 – Aug. 16, 2016

Jean Marie (Hatfield) Hiebert, 88, of Dallas, died Aug. 16.

She was born in Boise, Idaho, to Ethel and Earl Hatfield.

She was raised in Roseburg and Salem. She graduated Salem High School. She played multiple sports and was very active in youth ministry and church group activities.

Jean taught Bible studies, served thousands of meals to college students, organized Christian literature publishing and missionary organizations information as a free service to others, led many prayer meetings with women's groups, made homemade clothes, blankets and toys for her children and grandchildren, and served in countless ways to many friends and neighbors.

Her passion was evangelism and world missions, especially to China. She loved flowers and gardening.

In 1950, she graduated from Biola University of LaMirada, Calif.

She was married to Elmer Hiebert, of Dallas, in the summer of 1950.

Together, they established Salem Heights Church, which still operates today. In 1960, they moved to Pullman, Wash., to plant a church.

Elmer was the pastor at Bethany Bible Church for six years, and Jean organized and ran the Sunday school program and neighborhood women's Bible study.

In 1968, they helped start nonprofit Christian bookstores in Pullman at Washington State University, and in Moscow, Idaho, near the University of Idaho. Jean and Elmer also started the Community Evangelical Free Church in Pullman, which still operates today.

Jean was active in Child Evangelism Fellowship telling Bible stories to many children as well as leading Bible studies for women groups in her community.

In 1973, Elmer and Jean moved to Tempe, Ariz., where they started another nonprofit bookstore for college students at Arizona State University called Quo Vadis (Quo Vadis is Latin for "which way are you going?").

Jean and Elmer both also worked for International Students Incorporated (ISI) on the ASU campus.

In 2006, they moved back to Dallas, and were involved with the International Student Club in Monmouth, at Western Oregon State University.

Survived by children, Ken, of Bellingham Wash., Carol Sapanaro, of Ft. Hills, Ariz., Steve, of Grangeville, Idaho,

Don, of Issaquah, Wash., and Paul, of Goldendale; 11 grandchildren; and six great-grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by sisters Mary Virginia Cooley and Helen Sharpnack; and husband Elmer.

Graveside services will begin at 11 a.m. on Saturday, Aug. 27, in the Dallas Cemetery.

Dallas Mortuary Tribute Center handled arrangements.

Jerry Mennis

July 4, 1942 – Aug. 24, 2016

Jerry Paul Mennis, 74, formerly of Dallas, died unexpectedly and peacefully at St. Anthony's Hospital in Gig Harbor, Wash., on Aug. 24.

Jerry was born in Salem to Paul and Evelyn Mennis.

Jerry attended grade school and high school in Dallas, graduating from Dallas High in 1960.

He attended Oregon College of Education (Western Oregon University), and the University of Oregon before enlisting in the Army National Guard.

Jerry met Sheryl Oliver in 1982 in Eugene. They married May 6, 1989. They lived in Eugene, Salem, and Scottsdale, Ariz., before settling in Gig Harbor.

Jerry loved exotic Caribbean vacations, warm sandy beaches, a cold beer, watching the sun go down, not a worry in the world.

His passion was sailing, owning four sailboats and sailing on Fern Ridge Lake every summer. He also enjoyed golfing, Duck football games, his family and his dog Molly.

Jerry enjoyed sales, especially his real estate career with Windermere in Dallas for about 10 years.

After retiring from Windermere in 2010, Jerry and Sheryl moved to Scottsdale. Jerry started driving tour buses.

Jerry suffered his first of two strokes in 2013 while living in Scottsdale, so he moved to Washington to be near family.

Jerry is survived and loved by his wife of 34 years, Sheryl; sons, Jim Mennis, of Everett, Wash., and Darin, of Hawaii; stepchildren, Tami Cline Stuart, of Bremerton, Wash., and Brandon Cline, of Seattle; and three grandchildren.

The family will hold a private memorial.

James Wesley Allison

July 25, 1922 – Aug. 27, 2016

James Wesley Allison, 94, of Dallas, died Aug. 27.

Jim was born in Galesburg, Ill., to Raymond A. Allison and Ruth M. Dunsworth Allison.

The Allison family moved to Oregon in 1923, settling in Hillsboro. Jim graduated from McMinnville High School in 1940, and from Oregon State University in 1961.

After completing one year at Oregon State, Jim enlisted as a private in the U.S. Army and served during World War II in the South Pacific.

He returned to Oregon State to earn a degree in education and a commission as a second lieutenant, and then returned to active duty in the Army.

He retired as a lieutenant colonel on Sept. 30, 1971. During his military career he lived in 10 different states and seven different foreign countries.

He was employed by Pacific Reflex Signs, a family-owned silk screen manufacturing business, in McMinnville, from 1971 to 1984, when he again retired.

Jim married Lola Mae Travis in December 1945. They had three sons. Lola Mae died of cancer in 1967. In September 1974, he married Dorothy J. Harris.

He was preceded in death by his eldest son, Tom in 1965; his first wife, Lola Mae Travis in 1967; and by his four brothers.

Survivors include his wife; sons, William T., of Florida, and Daniel R., of China; stepdaughter, Sandra L. Harris, of Dallas; stepson, W. Scott Harris, of Dallas; nine grandchildren; and nine great-grandchildren.

At the family's request, no services will be held.

Obituary Information

Obituary information must be submitted by 4 p.m. on the Friday before publication to be included in the newspaper.

Most funeral homes handle obituary information and provide it to the newspaper. However, information can also be submitted directly from family members.

Color and black-and-white photos can be submitted, but photos will only be published in black and white. The Itemizer-Observer uses a flag logo in the obituaries of people who served in the armed forces.

Obituaries — like all information submitted to the news department — are subject to editing for style, content and length.

Information can be brought or mailed to the Itemizer-Observer, 147 SE Court St., Dallas, OR 97338, or emailed to ionews@polkio.com.

The Details

What makes our home so special has a lot to do with the service.

Thank

Every funeral service deserves to be truly memorable, flawlessly planned, and correct to the smallest detail. The families of our community have long turned to us because we give every funeral service that kind of respect. In fact, giving our best is simply the way we do everything here. That can go a long way toward providing real comfort for the families we serve. And we think that makes our funeral home a special place indeed.
