

OBITUARIES

Kenneth M. Walker

March 30, 1921 – Sept. 7, 2016

Kenneth Walker, 95, was born March 30, 1921, in Blaine, a tiny town in Tillamook County. He grew up in Pleasant Valley, graduating from Tillamook High School. From his father, Alex Walker, he developed a keen interest in natural history. In 1941, he and Charlotte Mae Doty married, spending the next 72 years together. His further studies at Oregon State College were interrupted by World War II, when in his junior year he was called up, enlisting in the Army as a second lieutenant after studying ROTC at Oregon State University. During the war, he was sent to France, Germany and Czechoslovakia, coming home in 1946, but remaining in the reserves for six more years. Back to graduate school, Kenneth completed a Master of Science degree in 1949, and then a Ph.D. in 1955, both in biology from OSU.

In 1951, the family moved to Tacoma, Wash., where he accepted a teaching position at the College of Puget Sound, now called University of Puget Sound. His favorite course was marine biology, which led to a big project: Building a family friendly cruising boat, Proteus I, from a 28-foot double-ended Bristol Bay fishing hull to explore Puget Sound and parts north.

In 1957, the family moved to Monmouth, where Kenneth took an assistant professor position at Oregon College of Education, now known as Western Oregon University, teaching until his retirement in 1986 as a full professor. His favorite class this time was natural history of Oregon; he would take his students on three spring field trips to experience firsthand the varied ecology of Oregon. Known as "Doc Walker," many meaningful relationships were forged during his years of teaching.

Retirement allowed Ken and Charlotte to enjoy fully the boating trips to Desolation Sound in the summer, and fifth-wheel excursions to Arizona in the winter. He enjoyed a full life.

Kenneth is survived by his daughters, Charline Durchanek and Virginia Hernandez; brother Bayard Walker; eight grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren. He was preceded in death by his wife, Charlotte; two sons, Roger and Ronald Walker; his parents and one grandson.

In lieu of flowers, we recommend donations to the Kenneth Walker Research Award set up by a former student. This is a grant-type award to fund undergraduate research in the biological sciences at Western Oregon University. Use this link for further information:
