

OBITUARIES

Michele Marie (Hemenway) Wooster

Nov. 27, 1950 – Oct. 15, 2017

Our beloved sister, mother, wife and friend fulfilled her earthly obligation in the early hours of Sunday, Oct. 15, 2017, at the age of 66.

Born in New Bedford, Mass., to Gilbert F. and Marie (Casey) Hemenway, the family relocated when she was very young to Southern California, where she grew up in the Los Angeles and Hollywood areas.

There she developed a love for horses and spent many afternoons and evenings riding horses from California and Pickwick Stables.

She received Jesus Christ into her heart at the age of 16. By 18, she was a young mother raising her only daughter with the love and support of her parents and her protective older brother.

She maintained a nurturing and comfortable home for the close-knit family, and was known in the Alhambra neighborhood as the Mom one could confide in and count on for wise counsel. Her nature was to nurture.

Michele was gifted with the heart of a philosopher, teacher and communicator. She had a great love of music, especially folk, Joni Mitchell and Paul Simon being two of her favorites.

In December of 1995, she married the love of her life, David "Randy" Wooster. They made their home in the San Bernardino Valley for two decades until relocating to Monmouth in 2013.

Blessed to be a homemaker for most of her life, she enjoyed arranging potlucks and game nights with her neighbors.

A talented cook, she loved to share her favorite recipes, feed friends and family, and, as she put it, "Chew the fat."

With several health conditions, she became a self-described "Professional Patient." Several cancers, including stage 4 Non-

Hodgkins Lymphoma in 1995, and life-threatening surgeries were her biggest earthly challenges, yet she exhibited much strength and grace in battle.

She finally succumbed to sepsis and metastasized Pancreatic Cancer.

Her belief was that her complicated health was her opportunity to benefit the medical community, a noble sense that overruled bitterness.

A phrase she had taught her daughter at a young age was, "Noblesse oblige": The noblest oblige.

To know her was to love her.

If she knew you, she loved you too.

Preceded in death by her parents, she leaves behind her loving husband Randy Wooster, of Monmouth; daughter Vanessa Hemenway Gaiser, of Independence; brother Alan and sister-in-law Judy Hemenway, of Vancouver, Wash.; and family/loved friends throughout the country.

A celebration of life/potluck is planned for Dec. 2 at 1 p.m. at Weekday School of the Bible, 1160 SE Holman in Dallas.

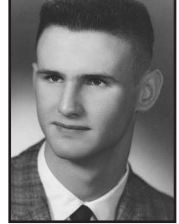

The family has invited her pastor, Thoren Sode from Berean Baptist Church in Independence, to share.

Cecil Dare Dillard

Aug. 13, 1943 – Oct. 31, 2017

Cecil Dare Dillard, age 74, departed this life on Oct. 31, 2017, in Mt. Shasta, Calif. Prior to moving to Mt. Shasta in 2006, he had been a longtime resident of Dallas.

Cecil was born on Aug. 13, 1943, in Fairview, Okla., to Bonnie and Cecil Clair Dillard, and was the oldest of three boys.

As a child, Cecil's family moved west to Goleta, Calif., from Oklahoma, and then subsequently relocated to Oregon. Cecil graduated from Springfield High School in Springfield in 1961, where he played several sports, including basketball, thereby capitalizing on his 6-foot, 6-inch stature.

He went on to attend College of the Siskiyous in Weed, Calif., where he also played basketball and made many lifelong friends. Cecil ultimately obtained a bachelor of science degree in education from Oregon College of Education (now called Western Oregon University), and continued there with his collegiate basketball career.

He later obtained a Master of Science in education while working as a teacher.

In the 1970s, Cecil settled in Dallas, where he taught a myriad of social science classes at Dallas High School and coached several sports teams, most notably the varsity basketball team.

Cecil married fellow teacher, Melanie Joy (Fruechtenicht) Dillard, on April 29, 1978, in Vancouver, Wash., and they had two sons, Dru (born in 1979) and Beau (born in 1983).

Cecil and Melanie attended Evangelical Bible Church and were active in the church community. Melanie predeceased Cecil on Dec. 10, 2002, after a heroic battle with cancer.

Cecil retired from teaching in the early 2000s.

In 2006, he reconnected with a former friend and widow, Sally (Sara) Abbe, of Mt. Shasta, whom he had met while at College of the Siskiyous in the 1960s. Cecil and Sally were married in Mt. Shasta on Aug. 31, 2006, and they shared 10 wonderful years together until Sally's passing on Nov. 24, 2016.

Cecil and Sally were active at the Evangelical Free Church in Mt. Shasta, and Cecil continued to help coach various local basketball teams in the Mt. Shasta area even in his retirement.

Cecil loved his family, fishing, a big breakfast, teaching, coaching, and all sports, especially basketball.

Cecil is survived by his two brothers, Bill Dillard (Donna), of Salem, and Jerry Dillard (Kris), of Dallas; his sons, Beau Dillard, of Mt. Shasta, and Dru Dillard (Theresa), of San Jose, Calif.; and his grandchildren, Chase (6 years old), Taylor (4 years old), and Ella (10 months old), children of Dru and Theresa.

Friends and family are invited to attend Cecil's memorial service at Evangelical Bible Church, 1175 SE Howe St., Dallas, on Saturday, Nov. 18, 2017, at 11 a.m.

Tencha Maria Campbell

March 10, 1923 – Oct. 26, 2017

Tencha Maria Campbell, of Dallas, passed away Thursday, Oct. 26, 2017, at the age of 94.

She lived an incredible life. In 1923, Hortensia "Tencha" Maria McCarthy de Zelaya was born to an Irish father and Spanish mother in the tiny town of Sabana Grande, Honduras.

Tragically, both parents died a few years later. Nuns at a local Catholic orphanage took Tencha in and raised her from a toddler to a young adult.

In 1940, Tencha became a dental assistant. And seven years later, met her future husband — a North American electrical engineer named Lloyd Campbell — when he came in for some dental work. The two married a year later. And two sons quickly followed, John and George.

For the next 30 years, Tencha traveled widely and lived in various mining camps throughout Central and South America. She sailed on a cargo ship through the Panama Canal, flew in a bush plane over the Amazon jungle, and took a road-rail vehicle across the Atacama Desert.

In 1980, Tencha and her newly retired husband moved to Dallas. The two never moved again. (Her husband, Lloyd, passed away in 1996.) Here she developed deep friendships and fell in love with the church community of St. Phillip.

Tencha wishes for everyone to think positive, and in her own words, "... be happy, I'm with God!"

Survivors include sons John (Lori) Campbell and George (Terrance O'Shea) Campbell; grandchildren Kate (Per Olstad) Campbell and Bradley Campbell; and great-grandchildren Eva Campbell and Hank Campbell.

A rosary will be held at 10:30 a.m. with a memorial service to follow Thursday, Nov. 9, at 11 a.m. at St. Phillip Catholic Church, 825 SW Mill St. Dallas. A reception at St. Phillip will be held after the service.

Charitable gifts in lieu of flowers can be given in Tencha's name to the Altar Society of St. Phillip Catholic Church. Dallas Mortuary Tribute Center is caring for the family. To share an online condolence, go to: www.dallastrIBUTE.com.
