DEMOCRATS NAME TICKET

Oscar Hayter for Senator, and Frank H. Fawk for Representative.

Judge J. E. Sibley Makes Strong Speech in Defending Polk County Court Against Recent Charges of Extravagance.

The convention was called to order by County Chairman J. W. Kirkland at 10:40 a. m. D. W. Sears nominated Hon. G. W. Myer, of East Dallas, for temporary chairman, and upon motion of Judge J. E. Sibley his election was made by acclamation. J. M. Grant moved that the usual courtesies be extended to the newspaper men. E. B. Jamison, of Monmouth, was elected temporary secretary, and H. C. Eakin, of Dallas, assistant temporary secretary. Upon motion of Cass Riggs, a committee of five on credentials was appointed. The chair named Cass Riggs, Wm. Ridgeway, Frank Fawk, J. G. VanOrsdal and P. M. Kirkland to serve as such committee. Other committees were appointed as follows: On Order of Business—A. B. Muir, J. M. Grant, J. H. Mulkey, J. W. McDowell and J. D. Smith. On Resolutions—D. W. Sears, J. E. Sibley, L. M. Simpson, T. W. Brunk, N. F. Gregg. On Seating of Delegates—W. E. Conner, F. M. Lewis, A. S. Locke. The convention then adjourned until 1 o'clock p. m.

AFTERNOON SESSION. Upon re-assembling in the afternoon, a few minutes were spent in seating the delegates by precincts, after which the reports of the various committees were read and adopted. The report of the committee on resolutions was as follows. We, the representatives of the Democratic Party of Polk County, in convention assembled, do reaffirm our allegiance to the principles as exemplified by experience and enunciated by a long and illustrious line of Democratic statesmen. We believe that the public welfare demands that these principles be applied to the administration of all the affairs of government; that among these is a strict construction of the National constitution and the constitutions of the several States; that all powers of government, State or National, are derived from these constitutions, and the grants of power therein declared; that any infringement of these limitations of power is dangerous to our institutions, and the preservation of a free and popular government; that every citizen and every section of the country has a right to demand and insist upon equality of rights and privileges, and a complete and ample protection of persons, business and property; that all legislation, State or National, granting special privileges, advantages or immunities to any citizen, class or corporation, or to any section of the country, is inimical to the best interests of the people, and dangerous to our republican institutions. We believe a National debt is not a National blessing, but a National curse; we believe there should be left to the individual every liberty consistent with the welfare of other individuals, leaving to every town and county the largest possible measure of home rule; we believe that there should be as nearly as possible equal opportunities and equal burdens to all; we do not believe that trusts should have any place in a democratic government, and we believe the trusts have reached such alarming proportions in this country that they should be restricted, controlled or abolished. We heartily endorse and commend the administration of Governor George E. Chamberlain as wise, patriotic and economical. We reaffirm our demand for flat salaries for all officers, and the cutting off of all unnecessary and illegal fees and commissions. We favor the election of United States Senators by a direct vote of the people, thereby doing away with legislative hold-ups, and the disgraceful corruption incident thereto, and the nominees of this convention are hereby pledged to the support of this declaration. We condemn as unwise and contrary to the best interests of the people the act of the last Legislative Assembly of the State of Oregon, amending the Australian ballot law of this State, for the reason that the ballot law as it now stands safeguards elections and secures an honest expression of the views of the people, while the proposed amendment defeats these purposes and has a decidedly contrary effect; and we commend and endorse the action of Governor Chamberlain in vetoing said proposed amendment. We congratulate the people of Polk County upon their present excellent financial condition, and commend the action of the County Court for redeeming their pledge of four years ago to pay off the County debt then amounting to over $115,000, and bearing an interest of more than $700 a month; and while taxes have been heavy, principally by reason of an exceedingly high state levy, the people are now in the best financial condition and have more to show for their expenditures than ever before in the history of Polk County. The Chair appointed Finley Edgar, O. E. Foelt, A. W. Fink and M. F. White to act as tellers. Nominations for a State Senator be-slip along in a happy-go-lucky manner, and every year the county was growing deeper in debt. This was the condition of affairs when the present "extravagant county court" took charge of the business. "At that time warrants were three and one-half years behind. Last week, the County Treasurer issued his call for all warrants outstanding prior to the 4th day of last July; on next week he will issue another call that will leave an outstanding indebtedness of only six or seven thousand dollars. This has been done notwithstanding the fact that our State tax has doubled in the last three years and would of itself be a good heavy tax; yet, we have made no appreciable raise in the tax levy over what the prior court was running behind on. We have also built new or repaired a majority of the large bridges in the county, and where it was necessary to replace small bridge, we have torn it out, put in a sewer pipe, and made a permanent fill that will last always. Thousands of feet of lumber have been permanently replaced with dirt and gravel fills, and the expense ended. "I have no hesitation whatever in saying that during the last four years more permanent road work has been done than ever before in the whole history of the county. It is true that we have been unable to make good roads before every citizen's door, and I regret that this was impossible with the small amount of funds at our command; but a start has been made toward permanent road work instead of the old slipshod, summer-fallow style of work, and I feel assured that the incoming court, whoever it may be, will continue the good work on the roads until good winter roads are an assured fact all over the county. "I do not wish to become tiresome to the delegates, but I feel that it is not just to myself and my associates to correct some of the errors that have crept out and been circulated over the county, and to briefly explain what has been accomplished. I do not mean to say that we have not made mistakes; we are human like the rest of you and prone to make mistakes, but the work I have outlined has been accomplished, the debt of the county has been practically paid, and next year, no matter who is elected, the county taxes will be reduced. "There is one more point I wish to refer to. For the first time in the history of the county, the books of all officers have been audited once each year during the last four years and every cent of the public money has been accounted for. If you pay a dollar to any of the officers, it can be traced through to the time it is paid out on warrants; the books are kept balanced up; and at any time a citizen wishes to know how any fund stands, or how the county stands financially, he can learn almost instantly. In the last four years Polk county has not lost one cent of delinquent taxes—every dollar on the rolls has been collected. The statements I have made, I stand ready to verify by the records. I should like to go more into detail, and explain what has been accomplished, but time forbids. Gentlemen, I thank you."

For County Commissioner, J. W. Kirkland presented the name of J. H. Mulkey, of Monmouth, and Mr. Mulkey was chosen by acclamation. For County Clerk, two names were presented, Independence furnishing both candidates. T. W. Brunk placed E. V. Dalton in nomination, and C. D. Simpson, in an eloquent speech, set forth the good qualities of Asa Robinson. The ballot resulted as follows: Dalton, 85; Robinson, 28. J. T. Ford, the present Sheriff, was re-nominated by acclamation, his name being offered by N. F. Gregg, of Jackson. F. E. Myer, of Rieckreall, was nominated for Assessor, and, upon motion of Seth Riggs, the choice was made unanimous. W. E. Birks, of Jackson, presented the name of Walter Butler, of Douglas precinct, for School Superintendent, and Mr. Butler was nominated without opposition. The second ballot of the afternoon was taken when nominations for County Treasurer were reached. T. W. Brunk named W. B. Daggett, of Dallas, and J. O. Staats named E. B. Jamison, of Monmouth. Mr. Jamison won out easily, receiving 84 votes to Mr. Daggett's 26. L. Ground was re-nominated for County Surveyor, and Dr. W. S. Cary, for Coroner. When nominations for Coroner were reached, some waggish delegate suggested the name of H. B. Plummer. Mr. Plummer happened to be in the room and turned the joke good-naturedly by saying that the convention had already nominated a man for Coroner who had voted in the recent Republican primaries, and that the man referred to was Dr. W. S. Cary. Delegates to the State Convention were elected as follows: F. M. Kirkland, G. W. Myer, W. J. White, I. M. Simpson, N. F. Gregg, Seth Riggs, D. W. Sears. JUSTICES AND CONSTABLES. District No. 1—Wm. Ridgeway, justice; D. G. Meador, constable. District No. 2—H. Wilson, justice; A. J. Smith, constable. District No. 3—A. Haldeman, constable. District No. 4—J. W. Chamberlain, justice; Ira Mehrling, constable. District No. 5—B. Wilson, justice. District No. 6—G. N. Townsend, justice; Wm. McQueen, constable. PRELECT COMMITTEES. Luckiamute—I. M. Simpson. Bridgeport—I. H. Wheelton. South Dallas—Oscar Hayter.

Mr. Chairman and gentlemen of the convention: The business of the various county offices has increased ten fold in the last few years, and the County Judges must devote his whole time to his work; he must reside at Dallas, and put in six days in every week looking after county affairs; he must be a careful, painstaking, prudent and economical man, or the county business will suffer. I have in mind such a man, but before I mention his name I crave the attention of this convention for a short time while I briefly review what has been accomplished during the four years just passed. "Four years ago I stood before the democratic convention of this county and said among other things, that, if elected, I would use my best efforts to pay off the county indebtedness and to place county affairs on a business basis. The time has now come for me to show whether or not that pledge has been kept, whether I have been faithful to my trust; but, before proceeding further, I wish to again digress for a moment only while I make a few remarks not particularly pertinent to the issue. "On last Saturday, as you all know, the Republican convention of Polk County met in this room. Among other things, they adopted a set of Resolutions and Platform (if such it could be called) that was fearfully and wonderfully made. They endorsed President Roosevelt; they endorsed Senator Charles W. Fulton; they endorsed the Lewis and Clark Fair, and they condemned our present extravagant County Court that was at Nothing was said about the principles of the party, and I defy anyone to gain from that declaration any knowledge of what the Republican party does believe in; but a fair inference is, they want to get up to the pie counter. "The chairman of the committee who framed this wonderful document is a man named Knox. Perhaps some of you may know him. He is a statesman, and lives at Independence where he runs a small grocery and peanut shop. I do not know whether he was able to draft such a massive document from his own wonderful brain, without straining it, nor do I know whether he is an American citizen or not. He has been told by some that he has been naturalized, while others claim not. For myself, I confess I do not know, but I think that if the shades of Jefferson, Jackson, Calhoun, Webster, McKinley, Blaine, and other eminent statesmen of the past could have been present when that document was read, they would have turned green with envy. Gentlemen of the convention, I say unto you, without fear of successful contradiction, that if the massive brains of an hundred such statesmen as the one who framed those resolutions could be boiled down into a compound cathartic pill, it wouldn't physic a June-bug. "When the present county court took charge of affairs four years ago, we found everything in a topsy turvy condition; it was shortly after the courthouse fire; the new building was just completed and a portion, not all of the records had been moved in; the county was in debt about $115,000, or more, and no money was available to pay anything. Before a new tax roll came in, the necessary expenses of the county had increased this amount to about $130,000. A portion of the warrants outstanding drew 8 per cent, and a portion drew 6 per cent—a fair average being 7 1/2 per cent, or making a fixed interest charge of $25.00 per day in a county that casts a trifling over $2500 votes. We also found nearly all of the larger bridges in the county in a dangerous condition, no bridge work to speak of having been done since the spring of 1890 after the memorable flood of that year. We also found that the delinquent tax rolls were not collected, frequently rolls being turned over to and accepted by the court with as high as $15,000 unpaid and uncollectable, and this enormous amount was wiped out and the county was loser every year, very few pieces of land ever being sold for taxes. Everything was allowed to ing declared in order, J. G. VanOrsdal gained the recognition of the Chair, and, in a neat speech, placed before the convention the name of Oscar Hayter, of Dallas. No other names being offered, the nominations were closed and Mr. Hayter was declared the unanimous choice of the convention. Being called upon for a speech, Mr. Hayter responded with a five-minute talk, thanking the convention for the honor and pledging his best efforts to help carry the ticket to victory in June. For Representative, Frank H. Fawk, of Rieckreall, was named by N. F. Gregg, and, on motion of D. W. Sears, the nomination was made by acclamation. In placing before the convention the name of J. D. Smith, of Dallas, for County Judge, J. E. Sibley, the present County Judge, took occasion to comment at some length upon what has been accomplished by the present County Court, and, as his remarks were in the nature of a report of what has been done in the last four years, we give below the substance of what he said. "Mr. Chairman and gentlemen of the convention: The business of the various county offices has increased ten fold in the last few years, and the County Judges must devote his whole time to his work; he must reside at Dallas, and put in six days in every week looking after county affairs; he must be a careful, painstaking, prudent and economical man, or the county business will suffer. DEATH CAME SUDDENLY

James I. Ball Passed to His Rest After an Illness of Less Than Twenty-Four Hours.

James I. Ball, of McCoy, died of neuralgia of the heart at a hotel in Sheridan, Sunday morning, April 10, after an illness lasting less than 24 hours. Mr. Ball was working on the old Turner place, which he bought last Fall, when stricken by the fatal illness. He was found by Mr. Hunt, of Sheridan, and was at once taken to town for medical treatment. He continued to grow worse, and died early Sunday morning. Mr. Ball was a native son of Polk county, and was well and favorably known. He was born at Ballston, Oregon, 28, 1860. He married Miss Jerusha B. Conner in 1882. Mrs. Ball died in the month of October of last year. Mr. Ball left one son daughter, Banner, and two sons, Lloyd and Lyle. He was a member of the I. O. O. F. and the Woodmen of the World, and was buried by these orders in the Bethel cemetery on Monday, April 11. James Ball was an honorable man and enjoyed the confidence and respect of a wide circle of friends.

MOHAIR SOLD WELL

Polk County Pool Brought Thirty-Four Cents at Public Auction.

The Polk County Mohair Association disposed of its pool of 40,000 pounds of choice mohair at public auction last Friday afternoon. The handsome price of 34 cents per pound was realized for the entire lot. Sealed bids were opened first, but none of these were satisfactory, and the mohair was then offered at open sale. Seven bidders were present and the bidding was spirited. The successful offer of 34 cents was made by H. I. Fenton, of Dallas. The growers are well satisfied with the price received, as it is several cents above current quotations.

The Rural Northwest of April 15 says: "Very few individual sales have been made in Oregon, and these have been at about 30 cents. Growers who have asked for offers have been quoted from 27 to 31 cents, and local buyers in some of the districts where good hair is raised have been paying 31 cents. The Portland buyers say that the local dealers who are doing this can not unload on them at present except at a loss as the present market conditions in Boston do not justify more than 30 or at the outside 31 cents in Portland. These statements appear to be justified by Boston quotations but the market will not really open until the Dallas sale today. As a general rule that pool sells for from one to two cents above the Oregon market, as it is the largest pool in Oregon and is considered to be better than average quality."
