Coad & Biddle have manufactured and sold more Morrison hop presses this year than in any year in the past.
 The demand for this excellent baler is steadily increasing, and the firm is kept busy with orders.

The Italian prune harvest is about over, and most of the driers in Dallas have ceased operation for the year.
 R. L. Chapman finished picking this week, and the Ellis and Kimball driers will probably shut down in a day or two.

The yield of Italians is light this year, but the fruit dries quickly and is of excellent quality. Less than half a crop will be harvested in Polk county. Mr. Chapman's 50-acre orchard yielded 2200 bushels this year, and it is believed that no large orchard in the county will show a better average per acre. The Chapman orchard usually produces not less than 6000 bushels. No sales are reported, but indications point to an opening market of three cents.

PLAY WAITING GAME

Hop Growers Are Not Anxious to Sell at Prevailing Prices.

Hops have advanced 1 1/2 cents since Monday, but few sales are reported even at the present high prices. The growers are standing pat for more money, and few can be tempted to sell by offers of 31 cents, now being freely made by all buyers. The growers are excited and are holding their crops, the big buyers are lying low, and thus the situation resolves itself into a waiting game. Notwithstanding this apparent inactivity, it is evident that the buyers are eager to purchase any choice lots that may be offered. Nobody understands this phase of the situation better than do the growers themselves, and, therefore, they are holding the tighter. The growers know that if they were to throw their hops onto the market, the buyers would snap them up instantly. Feeling that they have every advantage on their side, the growers will stand pat and endeavor to force the buyers to their terms. So far, the growers have had all the best of it, and it is likely that this state of affairs will continue. Most of them have set their mark at 35 cents, and many believe that this price will be reached before the end of the week.

Yesterday's Oregonian says: "The strongest feature of the market is the appearance of Eastern brewers, by their agents, on the scene. A large proportion of the latest sales were on this account. Buying for export has, by no means, ceased, but until the last day or two practically all the trading was in the interest of foreigners. Now the American consumers have come to the conclusion that it is time for them to step in. The market has gone ahead without a halt, and now the brewers are rushing in, trying to get a foothold before it is too late. This only increases the pressure to buy and can have no other effect than to enhance values."

The Southern Pacific Company probably has no finer engine on any of its roads than the one in use on the daily passenger train between Dallas and Portland. The company has many locomotives that are larger and more powerful, but none of them are as handsomely finished as the one in charge of Engineer Bat Casey. The paint and varnish on this locomotive are kept free from scratch or bluish, and no speck of rust or dirt is permitted to make its appearance on the bright metal parts. All of the machinery in the cab is nickel-plated, and the engineer's and fireman's seats are beautifully upholstered. Mr. Casey takes great pride in the appearance of his engine, and spends the greater part of his spare time between runs in keeping it in a perfect state of repair.

A Record-Breaking Trip.

P. A. Finseth arrived home from North Bend, Coos county, yesterday.
 He made a record-breaking trip from North Bend to Dallas, being only 23 hours on the way. Leaving on a small coasting steamer at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, he arrived in Newport at 6 o'clock Thursday morning. Hurrying to Yaquina City, he caught the early train for Corvallis, and arrived at Dallas at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Mr. Finseth is of the opinion that a small, swift steamer making one or two trips a week between Portland and Coos Bay, and touching at Newport, would be popular with the traveling public, as it would enable people from the valley to reach Coos Bay in a few hours and would do away with the wearisome stage ride across the mountains.

The metal filing cases purchased when the new courthouse was built have all been filled with county papers and records, and more furniture had to be provided. The new steel cabinets will be of the same style and make as those now in use. The bids of Glass & Prudhomme and the Irwin-Hodson Company were exactly the same—$555.00.
