Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs.

Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

Beautiful Columbia River Folder.

The passenger department of the Oregon Railroad & Navigation Company has just issued a beautiful and costly panoramic folder entitled "The Columbia River, through the Cascade Mountains, to the Pacific Ocean."

From Arlington to Portland and from Portland to the Pacific Ocean, every curve of the river and every point of interest are shown, while Mt. Hood, Mt. Adams, and Mt. St. Helens, perpetually covered with snow, stand out in their beauty. On the back of the map is an interesting story in detail of the trip from Huntington to Portland and from Portland to the ocean, not overlooking the beaches and the San Francisco trip by ocean. A copy of this folder may be secured by sending four cents in stamps to pay postage to A. L. Craig, General Passenger Agent of the Oregon Railroad & Navigation Company, Portland, Oregon. By sending the address of some friend in the East, and four cents in postage, the folder will be promptly mailed.

ADVERTISES DALLAS COLLEGE

President Poling Writes of His Work in Pennsylvania.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Oct. 12, 1904. FRIEND HAYTER: Greetings: I promised to write some of my observations after I got settled. I will now fulfill my promise. The trip east over the Great Northern railroad was made without any unusual delays or accidents. We left Portland, Monday, June 19, and arrived at Chicago the 23d. After a stop-off at South Bend, Indianapolis and Hicksville, Ohio, we arrived at South Fork, Pa., July 9. We received a hearty welcome by parents and other relatives and friends. Here we made our headquarters during the summer months. I was not permitted to rest long until I was billed for rallies of various kinds, preaching at campmeetings, and addressing various kinds of gatherings, so that I was permitted to rest one Sunday during what I hoped to be my vacation. But with the change of work and scenery, I have been gaining in strength and verduous as well. I assure you I took advantage of the opportunity of advertising our Dallas College, and as a result the interests of the college are more widely known than formerly.

During the summer it was my privilege to visit the Indiana State Normal School, located at Indiana, Pa. I was treated very cordially and enjoyed my interview with those in authority and my visit to their beautiful grounds and buildings. Have become somewhat acquainted with the public school work, also, since here, and I am impressed with this fact that Oregon has as good a public school system as any I have been privileged to investigate. Our Oregon requirements for teachers are as high and even higher than in Pennsylvania. Another thing has impressed me since here: More of our young men and women of Oregon finish the public schools and continue their education either at the State or Independent institutions. This speaks well for the intelligence of our people, and also, is prophetic of the high standard of culture of the future generations. Our Oregon people ought to be proud of our excellent state and county boards of education. I am free to say it is my opinion that the Oregon school system is superior to Pennsylvania. Of course I dare express this opinion in Oregon.

It has been my privilege to meet several of our eastern educators, and after discussing school work with them I am prepared to say that the students who attend our Dallas College have as many advantages and opportunities as those who attend institutions with larger endowments and equipments. What we lack in these lines is more than made up in the special and individual attention given the students by the faculty. More and more am I convinced that the smaller independent colleges still have a large field of work. It is true the small college gets little advertising and is generally unendowed. It cannot employ celebrities in its faculty, but that is not a severe loss to the student, for the majority of celebrities make poor teachers, and the best university teachers are usually the obscure instructors who are paid poorly and whose names are printed in small type in the catalogue. But the small college turns out more than its proportionate share of solid men and leaders. The foremost men of the various professions and callings of our country were educated in small colleges. The men who are willing to sacrifice larger salaries to teach in the smaller institutions, when they could command a much higher salary, do it for the love of the work, and such men will always render devoted and unselfish service.

But I have departed from the purpose of this correspondence. We are at last settled into what we call home. We left Johnston for the Willamette Valley to enter the pioneer work of our church. Now, after twenty years, I am placed back among many of the same people with whom I spent two very pleasant years. Many changes have taken place in these years. The terrible flood of 1889 swept over this great Conemaugh valley carrying death and desolation in its wake, and with it many of our former friends and people. But we are glad there is a remnant left so our coming is not entirely among strangers. This is a great manufacturing center. I am informed that Johnston has a larger pay roll than any other city of its size in the state. The city nestles in a narrow valley at the junction of Stony Creek and the Conemaugh river. The church of which I am pastor for the time being has a membership of nearly 300, situated in the heart of the city, with five other churches, supporting their own pastors, in the suburbs. But with all we have to make our stay pleasant, we often long for Oregon and the associations of the past years. We often think of our Oregon friends, and still believe there is no better state in the union than Oregon; no better climate than the Willamette; no better people than in Dallas; no better school than Dallas College.

My address is 113 Willow St., Johnstown, Pa. CHAS. C. POLING.

Miss Agnes Westley 616 Wells Street, Marinette, Wis.

616 Wells Street, MARINETTE, WIS., Sept. 25, 1903. I was all run down from nervousness and overwork and had resigned my position and take a rest. I found that I was not gaining my strength and health as fast as I could wish, and as your Wine of Cardui was recommended as such a good medicine for the ills of our sex, I bought a bottle and began using it. I was satisfied with the results from the use of the first bottle, and took three more and then I was restored to good health and strength and able to take up my work with renewed vigor. I consider it a fine tonic and excellent for worn-out, nervous condition, and am pleased to endorse it.

SEPTIC TANK A SUCCESS

Trustees inspect One Recently Installed at Mute School.

The new septic tank recently constructed at the State Mute school is giving complete satisfaction. The board of trustees of that institution visited the school and were highly pleased with the improvement in the sewerage system, which makes the conditions there more healthful.

"It seems to me that the septic tank will come into general use in cities," said Governor Chamberlain, after his return from the Mute school. "By this process all solid matters are consumed and the overflow from the septic tank is clear and odorless liquid. I believe these tanks should be used even where there is good sewer connections, for by this means the sewer system can be made to carry a large amount of refuse and the stream into which it is turned will not be so polluted. In suburban districts where there are no sewer connections the septic tank will do much to improve sanitary conditions. I believe the people should investigate the subject and learn the value of the septic tank."

BRIGHT'S DISEASE.

The largest sum ever paid for a prescription, changed hands in San Francisco, August 30, 1901. The transfer involved in coin and stock $112,500.00 and was paid by a party of business men for a specific for Bright's Disease and Diabetes, hitherto incurable diseases.

They commenced the serious investigation of the specific Nov. 15, 1900. They interviewed scores of the cured and tried it out on its merits by putting over three dozen cases on the treatment and watching them. They also got physicians to name chronic, incurable cases, and administered it with the physicians for judges. Up to Aug. 25, eighty-seven per cent of the test cases were either well or progressing favorably.

There being but thirteen per cent of failures, the parties were satisfied and closed the transaction. The proceedings of the investigating committee and the clinical reports of the test cases were published and will be mailed free on application. Address JOHN J. FULTON COMPANY, 420 Montgomery St., San Francisco, Cal.
