PRISONER IS INDIFFERENT
Louis Savage is on Trial in Portland For Murder of Foster Wacheno.
The trial of Louis Savage, charged with the murder of Foster Wacheno on the Grand Ronde reservation last April is being held in the United States Court in Portland this week. A large number of Indians are attending the trial, and a desperate fight is being made to save the prisoner's life. Savage is popular among the Grand Ronde redskins, and his friends have made up a purse to defray the expenses of his attorney, B. F. Jones, of Toledo.
The principal witnesses against Savage are Stanford Ferne and Mrs. Veronica Smith, both of whom were at the house of John Wacheno the night Foster Wacheno was killed. In her testimony, Mrs. Smith told her story of the affair; how she was at the house during the night when the card game which is said to have led up to the murder was played; how two or three of the men appeared to have been drinking; how Savage about 1 or 2 o'clock flourished his revolver and pointed it at the group of players; how she knocked his hand down and how he said he only intended to scare the players. She told of the two shots which killed Wacheno, but said she did not see them fired, as she was in the house and the affray occurred outside in the yard. Cross-examination failed to shake her testimony. She also told of a fight which was nearly precipitated between Foster Wacheno and Savage last February and which was prevented by bystanders. She stated that Savage on this occasion attempted to pull a revolver from his pocket and that he was the aggressor. Stanford Ferne corroborated nearly all of the facts related by Mrs. Smith regarding the affair at the house of John Wacheno the night of the murder.
Savage does not seem in the least concerned as to the outcome of the trial, and with the characteristic indifference of his race, spends the most of his time in the courtroom in reading the daily newspapers.
[LATER—Savage was found guilty of murder in the second degree, and was sentenced to life imprisonment. The case will be appealed to the United States Supreme Court.]

Chicago Ladies' Quartette.
The Philharmonic-Lady Quartette of Chicago will give a concert in the Presbyterian church next Tuesday evening, under the auspices of the Lady Professorship Association of Dallas College. The Quartette is under the personal direction of B. Von Turner, and comes highly recommended by both press and public. The members of the organization are: Fanny Ferguson, soprano; Harriett G. Eddy, mezzo-soprano and accompanist; Adele Davis, alto, impersonator and violinist; Elizabeth Ferguson, contralto. The musical people of Dallas are looking forward to this concert with great expectations, and the singers will doubtless be greeted by a large audience. Admission 25 and 50 cents. Tickets for sale at Wilson's drug store. No reserved seats.
Married.
One of the prettiest weddings of the season took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Campbell, in this city, Wednesday evening, November 16, at 8 o'clock, when Rev. A. A. Winter, pastor of the United Evangelical church united in marriage Mr. Calvin D. Shephard and Miss Clevea Francis Siefarth. The bride was dressed in a beautiful costume of cream silk and carried a bouquet of white cosmos. The rooms were artistically decorated with smilax, white cosmos and ferns. The couple were married under a beautiful canopy of lace, interwoven with small vines of smilax, with a pair of white doves suspended in the center of the canopy, making a very pretty effect. About forty guests were present, consisting of relatives and friends, who presented the happy couple with many useful and ornamental presents.

MILL STREET DALLAS, OREGON

Will Sell Old Schoolhouse.
It is reported that the public school building in Monmouth is soon to be sold to the highest bidder. The building has not been in use since the Training Department of the Oregon State Normal School was established. By an arrangement with the board of directors of the public school, the 200 pupils of the Monmouth district are given school room facilities in the Normal building, where they are taught by the members of the senior normal class, under the supervision of a principal and critic teacher hired by the board of directors. Thorough preparation in both general and special methods is given the student teachers prior to their entering upon their duties. Each member of the senior class is required to teach 20 weeks, one half of each day. The plan is giving general satisfaction and excellent work is being done.
