DALLAS, OREGON, November 1, 1909.

The way is built up better and better.

Portland business men will start a special train and attend the Fair at Lewiston, Idaho. The Oregon is pleased with the exhibition of agricultural products and with the opportunity of seeing the state of the Lewis and Clark Fair. The public-spirited business men of Portland should realize a desire to attend the sale of their neighbors, when occasion offers. While the business men of Portland are in this appreciative mood, the Astoria people are not. They are not inclined to attend the Lewis and Clark Fair. The business men of Astoria are not inclined to attend the Lewis and Clark Fair. The business men of Astoria are not inclined to attend the Lewis and Clark Fair.

POLK WINS SECOND PLACE

Competition among Counties in West That Judges Decide in Polk's Favor.

Competition was so keen and the standard of merit so nearly uniform that it was necessary to the various county exhibits of the state of the fair, a jury composed of executive commissioners from outside the state, decided to split the awards offered by the state. The jury presented its findings Tuesday night.

RECENT IMP SALES

Several hundred Bales of Cotton Recently Bought at Polk by J. C. Lewis.

The two carloads of the Polk district opened at 12 noon several days ago. The cotton was bought by J. C. Lewis, of Polk, and was shipped to the New York market on Monday.
