Few Halloween pranks were played in Dallas this year, and residents of the city were agreeably surprised Wednesday morning to find their property unmolested and the town in its usual condition of good order.

Are the officers growing more watchful, or are the boys becoming more civilized?

James Hamilton, of Amity, had both feet crushed at Carlton, Tuesday night, while attempting to board the 7 o'clock passenger train as it was moving from the station. Hamilton did not attempt to get on until the train had started. Running alongside the moving train, he grasped the bar and attempted to jump aboard. His foot did not reach the lower step and he slid under the car. The wheels passed over both feet. The train was stopped and the injured man taken to McMinville.

Phillip S. Bates, publisher of the Pacific Northwest, one of the handsomest illustrated papers in Oregon, was up from Portland on a business errand, Monday. As a result of his visit, Dallas will be advertised in the columns of his paper for the next twelve months. A free descriptive write-up of the city will be published in the December or January number, and will be profusely illustrated with half-tone cuts furnished by the Observer office.

HEAD CONSUL BOAK COMING

Dallas Woodmen Make Great Preparations to Entertain Distinguished Visitor.

Arrangements are all completed for the visit of Head Consul I. I. Boak to Dallas next Tuesday evening, at which time the new Woodmen Hall will be dedicated. The meeting will be open to the public, and all are invited to attend.

Large delegations of visitors are expected from neighboring Camps, and it is probable that several drill teams will be in attendance. E. C. Kirkpatrick will be chairman of the evening. Committees have been appointed as follows:

Reception, V. P. Fiske, J. E. Sibley, Frank Kerslake, E. C. Kirkpatrick, W. A. Ayers.

Program, B. M. Guy, H. L. Toney, W. G. Vassall.

The program, as at present outlined, will be as follows: Selection—Orchestra.

Brief History of Dallas Woodman Camp—Hon. G. L. Hawkins. Selection—Orchestra. Address—Hon. I. I. Boak. Solo—Mrs. J. C. Uglow. Selection—Orchestra.

Woodcraft in Life and Death—Oscar Hayer. Dedication ceremony. Selection—Orchestra.

Exhibition drills by Monmouth, Newberg and McMinville teams will be intermingled with the above program.

PORTLAND MEN COMING

Dallas is included in Itinerary for Journey of Wholesalers Through Southern Oregon.

All details are now complete for the Portland business men's excursion into the Willamette Valley and Southern Oregon. A special train bearing 75 of the leading merchants and jobbers will leave that city, Tuesday, November 14, and will visit every town between Portland and Ashland.

The trip will be of three and one-half days' duration. There will be 60 stops on the entire trip and the time is divided in such manner as to allow from 15 minutes to an hour and a half at the various points.

The itinerary of the journey through Polk county is as follows: Friday, November 17—Independence, arrive at 1:50 p. m., leave at 2:20 p. m.; Monmouth, 2:30, 2:45; Dallas, 3, 3:25. It is probable that the City Council and the Board of Trade will co-operate in planning entertainment for the visitors during their 25-minute stay in Dallas, and the Observer hopes to be able to announce complete particulars in its next issue.

That the Portland business men are eager to make the trip is shown by the large number of applications that have been received for accommodations on the special train. The Oregonian says: "The business men are going up the Willamette Valley to Southern Oregon. They are going to brush elbows, exchange confidences, and eat, drink and be merry with their long-time friends, neighbors and fellow-citizens on the south. Portland will run no risks of any misunderstandings with the remainder of the state. What is good for Oregon is good for Portland, and what is good for Portland is good for Oregon. Portland and Oregon are one family, and it is to make certain that there may be no family misunderstandings that the excursion south is to be undertaken."

Pleasant Surprise for Pastor.

The members of the Presbyterian church gave a surprise and donation party to their new pastor, Rev. D. J. Becker, and his family, Wednesday evening. A large crowd was present, and many generous gifts were given. The affair was a pleasant social success, and afforded an excellent opportunity for Rev. and Mrs. Becker and the people of Dallas to become better acquainted. Mrs. Becker is a talented elocutionist, and favored her guests with several choice readings, which were highly enjoyable. Rev. Becker is a vocalist of more than ordinary ability, and his singing added greatly to the pleasure of the evening. The new pastor is popular with his congregation, and he and his good wife will be valuable additions to Dallas' church and social circles.
