FIERCE MORNING BLAZE

Honor's Meat Market and Kirkpatrick Hop Office Totally Destroyed by Fire.

The frame building on Main street occupied by a W. A. Honor's meat market and E. C. Kirkpatrick's hop office was totally destroyed by fire at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning. The fire was discovered by C. W. Matthews and B. Gildner, who immediately gave the alarm and gathered a number of men to fight the flames until the firemen arrived on the scene. While the fire-bell was being rung, one of the ropes broke, and, as a consequence, many firemen did not hear the alarm.

When the firemen arrived, the building was burning furiously, and it looked for a time as if the entire block was doomed to destruction. The firemen worked promptly, however, and soon had three streams of water playing on the fire, with the result that the blaze was gotten under control in a short space of time.

The Ellis and Kersey confectionery stores adjoining the burned building escaped with nominal damage, and both stores were open for business as usual during the day. The front of the Pfeiffer building, occupied by Mr. Ellis, was badly scorched and the windows were shattered, but otherwise there was no damage. The stock was slightly damaged by water. The Kersey building, owned by Mr. Kirkpatrick, escaped more fortunately, being only slightly scorched. The Kersey furniture stock was moved out during the fire and was slightly damaged.

Mr. Honor, owner of the meat market, estimates his loss at $1300, covered by insurance to the amount of $850. Mr. Kirkpatrick's loss on building and office furniture will probably reach $1500. He is in Seattle on a visit, and it is not known whether he carried any insurance on the building or its contents.
