RETIRE FROM BUSINESS

III Health Causes W. J. Hooker to Give Up School and Law Practice.

The Register announces with regret that Prof. W. J. Hooker, of the Eugene Business college, will be obliged to give up his connection with that institution, and also his law practice, on account of the condition of his health. Since his last sickness, his physicians have told him that he will be obliged to live out of doors all the time if he has any regard for his health.

He expects to go to his parents' home in Polk county as soon as he can and spend his time out of doors this winter, and the next summer he will go to Eastern Oregon. His place will be hard to fill in the business college, but the service of an excellent teacher is now being arranged for.—Eugene Register.

Church on Wheels.

The chapel car Emmanuel is side-tracked at the depot, and services will be conducted each evening by Rev. and Mrs. E. R. Herminston, who are in charge. The services are full of music and cheerful song, and last just one hour. All are cordially invited. The chapel car has seats for over 100 persons, a costly organ and pulpit, and the necessary equipment for gospel services. These workers have been very successful in other fields, and come highly recommended.

More Mutual Telephones.

J. M. Staats, superintendent of construction of the Falls City, Lewisville & Dallas Telephone Company, has the contract for stringing another wire from Dallas to Airle and will begin the work at once. The new line will accommodate 18 subscribers. The company now has three wires between the two towns.

Chapel Car is Here.

The chapel car Emmanuel, in charge of a noble band of Christian people, is in Dallas. These people are assisting in an evangelistic campaign, and come with an anxiety to be helpful in the true elevation of mankind. They are capable, discreet, and mean business. All who desire to encourage a better condition of things are cordially invited to co-operate with their presence and influence.
 C. H. DAVIS.

School Children Remember Poor.

The pupils of the Dallas public school made a liberal Thanksgiving offering to the Boys' and Girls' Aid Society of Portland. The donation consisted of 85 quarts of canned fruit, 17 glasses of jelly, 1 sack of apples and potatoes, $25 worth of clothing, and $4.95 in cash. The young people brought their offerings to Principal Reynolds, who attended to the boxing and shipping.

SHORT TERM OF COURT

Session Begins Monday Morning and Closes Tuesday Afternoon.

The December term of Circuit Court for Polk county was adjourned Tuesday afternoon, after being in session less than two days. No grand jury was called, and only one jury case was tried. Irving Dubois, charged with a statutory crime, pleaded guilty and was given an indeterminate sentence by Judge Burnett.

The jury case tried was that of the Salem, Falls City & Western Ry. Co. vs. R. W. Hogg. The company brought suit to condemn a right-of-way across Hogg's land near the old Roberts warehouse, west of Salem, having previously offered him approximately $500, which was refused, Hogg claiming damages to the amount of $2750. The jury, after hearing the evidence and looking over the land, gave him a verdict for $325.

Justice Hardy Holman acted as court bailiff. Orders were made as follows:

- 1 First National Bank of Athena vs. H. E. Turner and P. M. Kirkland, action for money; J. H. McNary for piff.; N. L. Butler and Oscar Hayter for def. Judgment as per stipulation.
- 2 D. F. Lane vs. J. F. Schaffer and wife, action for money; Frank Holmes for piff.; C. L. McNary for def. Settled.

Polk county has instituted a scheme of holding an auction at Dallas on the second and fourth Saturdays of each month. Everything imaginable is sold, the auctioneer retaining 5 per cent for his services. While these auctions are a comparatively new thing, they are proving a great success, and "auction day" in Dallas looks like a 4th of July.—Jefferson Review.
