By George Barr McCutcheon. Author of "Grausterk"

Copyright, 1904, Dodd, Mead & Co.

trend of a man impelled her to giance room. Marianx was coming toward called softly, but imperatively. It was beyond the power of woman to keep rain, signaling to her like a lovesick blinds, shutting out the night com-

"Oh, what a fool you've been!" she became oppressive, maddening. She felt the man's presence almost as

The little revolver that had served her and Raven lay upon a stool near the bedside every night. Consumed by the fear that the window might open slowly at any moment she reached forth and clutched the weapon. Then she upon the black space across the room.

For hours she shivered and waited for

The next morning she confessed to herself that her fears had been silly.

Her first act after breakfasting alone in her room was to seek out Colonel

Quinnox, commander of the castle a warm, red glow in her face and a quick beat in her heart as she crossed the parade ground. Vagabond though he was he had conquered where princes had failed. Her better judgment told her that she could be nothing to this debonair knight of the road, yet her heart stubbornly resisted all the argu-

Colonel Quinnox was pleasant, but he could give Beverly no promise of lenlency in regard to Baldos. Instructions had come to him from General

Marianx, and be could not set them aside at will. Her plea that he might once more be assigned to old time duties found the colonel regretfully obdurate. Baldos could not ride with her again until Marlanx withdrew the order which now obtained. Beverly swallowed her pride and resentment diplomatically, smiled her sweetest upon the distressed colonel and marched defiantly back to the castle. Down in her rebellious, insulted heart she was concocting all sorts of plans for revenge.

Chief among them was the terrible overthrow of the Iron Count. Her wide scope of vengeance even contemplated

the destruction of Graustark if her end

Full of these bittersweet thoughts, she came to the castle doors before she

As who was waiting for her upon the great veranda. As she mounted the steps, a preoccupied frown upon her fair brow, General Marlanx, lean, craf-ty and confident, advanced to greet her.

The early hour was responsible for the bright solitude which marked the place.

But few signs of life were in evidence

She stopped with a sharp exclamation of surprise. Then scorn and indignation rushed in to fill the place of astonishment. She faced the smiling old "Good morning," he said, extending his hand, which she did not see. She was wondering how much be had seen

"I thought the troops were massing

"There is time enough for that, my this morning," she said coldly. "Don't dear. I came to have a talk with you-in private," he said meaningly.

then?" she naked scornfully.

man with anger in her eyes.

and heard a? midnight.

you mass too?"

did."

about the castle.

could be obtained in no other way.

ments that her reason put forth.

fulness with a start.

"I am coming to a place waere at Again she drew steaming sway from won't get dripping wet." he called the rall, possessed of a r Treatives feelsoftly. There was a dangerous ring in ling that her form was an plan to the his voice, and she drew back in a vision as if it were trand daylight. The

"You must not!" she cried desperate | below once more before feeing to her Iv. "This is madness! Go down, sir!" "I am happy enough to fly, but can- the veranda. She fled swiftly, pausing not. So I do the next best thing-I at the window to lower the friendly climb to you." His arm was across the but forgotten numbrella. From below stone railing by this time, and he was came the sibilant hiss of a man seekpanting from the exertion, not two ing to attract her attention. Once more feet from where she cronched, "Just she stopped to listen. The "Hist!" was one minute of heaven before I go back | repeated, and then her own name was to the shadows of earth. I am happy again. Marianx told me you had dismissed me. I wonder what he holds in from laughing. It struck her as irrereserve for me. I knew he lied, but it wistibly funny that the Iron Count is not until now that I rejoice. Come, should be standing out there in the

you are to shield me from the rain." "Oh, oh!" she gasped, overwhelmed boy. Once she was inside, however, it by his daring passion. "I should die did not seem so amusing. Still, it gave if any one saw you here." Yet she her an immense amount of satisfaction spasmodically extended the umbrella to slam the windows loudly, as if in so that it covered him and left her out pure defiance. Then she closed the in the drizzle.

"And so should I," responded he pletely. softly. "Listen to me. For hours and Turning up the light at her dressing hours I have been longing for the dear table, she sat down in a state of sudold hills in which you found me. I den collapse. For a long time she wanted to crawl out of Edelweiss and stared at her face in the mirror. She lose myself forever in the rocks and saw the red of shame and embarrasscrags. Tonight when you saw me I ment mount to her cheeks, and then was trying to say goodby to you for she covered her eyes with her hands. ever. I was trying to make up my mind to desert. I could not endure the half sobbed, shrinking from the mirror new order of things. You had cast as if it were an accuser. me off. My friends out there were She prepared for bed with frantic eager to have me with them. In the haste, Just as she was about to scramcity every one is ready to call me a ble in and hide her face in the pillows spy-even you, I thought. Life was a shocking thought came to her. The black and drear. Now, my princess, it next instant she was at the windows. is as bright as heaven itself." and the slats were closed with a rattle

"You must not talk like this," she like a volley of firearms. Then she whispered helplessly. "You are mak- jumped into bed. She wondered if the ing me sorry I called to you." windows were locked. Out she sprang "I should have heard you if you had again like a flash, and her little bare only whispered, my rain princess. I feet scurried across the room, first to have no right to talk of love-I am a the windows and then to the door. vagabond, but I have a heart, and it is "Now I reckon I'm safe," she mura bold one. Perhaps I dream that I am mured a moment later, again getting here beside you-so near that I can into bed. "I love to go to sleep with touch your face-but it is the sweetest the rain pattering outside like that. of dreams. But for it I should have Oh, dear, I'm so sorry he has to walk left Edelweiss weeks ago. I shall nev- all night in this rain. Poor fellow! I er awaken from this dream. You can-wonder where he is now. Goodness! not rob me of the joys of dreaming." It's raining cats and dogs!"

Under the spell of his passion she | But in spite of the rain she could not drew nearer to him as he clung strong- go to sleep. Vague fears began to take ly to the rail. The roses at her throat possession of her. Something dreadful cheek, and he kissed its palm again withstanding the rainpour. The fear his life is not worth a breath of air." and again, his wet lips stinging her blood to the tips of her toes,

"Go away, please," she implored strongly as if he were in plain view faintly. "Don't you see that you must He was there; she knew it. "A rose, my princess-one rose to so vallantly at the inn of the Hawk kiss all through the long night," he

"I should die if any one saw you here." whispered. She could feel his eyes burning into her heart. With trembling, hurried fingers she tore loose a rose. He could not seize it with his hands because of the position be held. and she laughed tantalizingly. Then she kissed it first and pressed it against his mouth. His lips and teeth closed ever the stem, and the rose was his. "There are thorns," she whispered ever so softly. "They are the riches of the poor," he murmured, with difficulty, but she un-

"Now, go," she said, drawing resolutely away. An instant later his head disappeared below the rall. Peering over the side, she saw his figure spring sally to the ground, and then came the rapid, steady tramp as he went away on his dreary patrol.

"I couldn't help it," she was whispering to herself between joy and shame. Glaucing instinctively out toward the solitary lamp, she saw two men standing in its light. One of them was General Marlanx; the other she knew to be the spy that watched Baldos. Her heart sank like lead when she saw that the two were peering intently toward the blacony where she stood and where Baldos had clung but a moment

CHAPTER XXIL

C HE shrank back with a great dread in her heart. Marlanx, of all men! Why was he in the park at this hour of the night? There could be but one answer, and the very thought of it almost suffocated her. He was drawing the net with his own hands, he was spying with his own eyes. For a full minute it seemed to her that her heart would stop beating. How long had he been standing there? What had he seen or heard? Involuntarily she peered over the rail for a glimpse of Baldos. He had gone out into the darkness, missing the men at the lamp post either by choice or through pure good fortune. A throb of thankfulness assailed her heart. She was not thinking of her position, but and a Jealous one. I had hoped to win the affections of an innocent girl What I saw last night shocked me be youd expression."

"Well, you shouldn't have looked." she retorted, tossing her chin, and the red feather in her hat bobbed angrily. "I am surprised that one as cleves as you are could have carried on an amour so incautiously," he said blandly.

"What do you mean?" "I mean that I saw everything that occurred."

"Well, I'm not ashamed of it," obstinately. "Goodby, Count Marlanx." "One moment, please. I cannot let you off so easily. What right had you to take that man into your room, a place sacred in the palace of Graustark? Answer me, Miss Calhoun." Beverly drew back in borror and be-

"Into my room?" she gasped.

wilderment.

"Into my room?" she gasped.

"Let us waste no time in subterfuge. I saw him come from your window, and I saw all that passed between you in the balcony. Love's eyes are keen. What occurred in your chamber I can only"—

"Stop! How dare you say such a thing to me?" she fiercely cried. "You miserable coward! You know he was not in my room. Take it back—take back every word of that lie!" She was white with passion, cold with terror.

"Bah! This is childish. I am not the only one who saw him, my dear. He was in your room—you were in his arms. It's useless to deny it. And to think that I have spared him from death to have it come to this! You need not look so horrified. Your secret is safe with me. I come to make terms with you. My silence in exchange for your beauty. Tt's worth it to you. One word from me, you are disgraced and Baldos dies. Come, my fair lady, give me your promise. It's a good bargain for both."

Beverly was trembling like a leaf.

This phase of his villatiny had not occurred to her. She was like a bird trying to avoid the charmed eve of the ing to avoid the charmed eye of the scrpent.

"Oh, you-you miserable wretch!" she cried, hoarse with anger and despair. "What a cur you are! You know you are not speaking the fruth.

say whether she is to know or not. You can bind me to silence. You have lost Baldos. Take me and all that I can give you in his stead, and the world never shall know the truth. You love him, I know, and there is but one came so close that he could bury his told her that Count Marianx was on | way to save him. Say the word and face in them. Her hand touched his the balcony and at her window, not-

"And pretending to believe this of me, you still ask me to be your wife. What kind of a man are you?" she demanded, scarcely able to speak. "My wife?" he said barshly. "Oh,

You are not the wife of Baldos," he added significantly. "Heavens!" gasped Beverly, crushed by the brutality of it all. "I would sooner die. Would to heaven my father were here. He would shoot you shrank back in the bed, her eyes fixed as he would a dog! Oh, how I loathe you! Don't you try to stop me! I the window to open, dozing away time | shall know what manuer of beast you | and again, only to come back to wake- are." She was racing up the steps, flaming with anger and shame.

"Remember, I can prove what I have guard. In her mind she was greatly bonor and his life! It rests with you," troubled over the fate of the bold he cried eagerly, following her to the visitor of the night before. There was door.

lost through his engerness.

She flew to Yetive's boudoir, consumed by rage and mortification. Between sobs and feminine maledictions she poured the whole story, in all its ugliness, into the ears of the princess.

"Now, Yetive, you have to stand by me in this," announced the narrator conclusively, her eyes beaming hopefully through her tears.

fully through her tears.

"I cannot prevent General Marlanx from preferring serious charges against Baidos, dear. I know he was not in your room last night. You did not have to tell me that, because I saw you both at the balcony rail." Beverly's face took on such a radiant look of rejoicing that Yetive was amply paid for the surprising and gratifying acknowledgment of a second period of eavesdropping. "You may depend upon me to protect you from Marlanx."

I timber lands, in the States of California, Oregon, Nevada and Washington Territory, asextended to all the Policia of California, Oregon, hevada and Washington Territory, asextended to all the Policia of California, Oregon, hevada and Washington Territory, asextended to all the Policia of California, Oregon, hevada and Washington Territory, asextended to all the Policia of California, Oregon, hevada and Washington Territory, asextended to all the Policia of California, Oregon, hevada and Washington Territory, asextended to all the Policia of California, Oregon, hevada and Washington Territory, asextended to all the Policia of California, Oregon, hevada and Washington Territory, asextended to all the Policia of California, Oregon, hevada and Washington Territory, asextended to all the Policia of California, Oregon, hevada and Washington Territory, asextended to all the Policia of California, Oregon, hevada and Washington Territory, asextended to all the Policia of California, Oregon, hevada and Washington Territory, asextended to all the Policia of California, Oregon, hevada and Washington Territory, asextended to all the Policia of Angust to All guestended to all the Policia of California, Oregon, hevada and Washington Territory, asextended to all the Policia of Angust to All guestended to all the Policia of Angust to All guestended to All guesten eavesdropping. "You may depend upon to me to protect you from Marianx.

He can make it very unpleasant for above-described lands are requested to file their claims in this office on or before said 28th day of Baldos, but he shall pay dearly for this March, 1907. asult to you. He has gone too far."

"I don't think he has any proof against Baldos," said Beverly, thinking only of the guardsman. "But it is so easy to manufacture evidence, my dear. The Iron Count has set his heart upon having you, and he long she was confessing timidly, then boldly; that she loved Baldos better than anything in all the world

(TO BE CONTINUED,) "It is sufficiently private here, Count Mary-Dark circles under the eyes Marianz. What have you to say te were very reckless to do what you rington.

The Olds Gasoline Engines

I handle the "Olds" the best Gasoline Engine in the market. Just the thing ifor Wood Sawing, Pumping Spraying, Feed Mills, Churning, Etc.

Come and See the best gasoline engine made for farmers' purposes. .. '. '.'

Ed. Biddle, Agent Dallas, Oregon.

FOLEYS HONEY AND TAR Gures Golds: Prevents Pac

Street Improvement Notice.

good bargain for both."

Beverly was trembling like a leaf. of Dalias, made on the 18th day of March A. D.

DAN P. STOUFFER, Auditor and Police Judge of the City of Dallas, Oregon.

Notice to Creditors.

know you are not speaking the fruth. How can you say such things to me? I have never wronged you"— She was almost in tears, impotent with shame and fear.

"It has been a pretty game of love for you and the excellent Baldos. You have deceived those who love you best and trust you most. What will the princess say when she hears of last night's merry escapade? What will she say when she learns who was hostess to a common guardsman at the midnight hour? It is no wonder that you look terrified. It is for you to say whether she is to know or not.

Notice is hereby given that by an order of the Hotorable William (alloway, Judge of the Hotorable Willia djustment and settlement.

Dated and first published March 19, 1907.

E. A. MEYER,

Receiver aforesaid.

Oscar Hayter, Attorney,

Notice of Final Settlement.

crosiar, a person incapable of conducting his own affairs, has filed his final account in the own affairs, has filed his final account in the County Court of the State of Oregon, for Poik County, and that Saturday, the 30th day of March, 1907, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day, at the Court room of the said County Court, in the City of Dallas, Oregon, has been appointed by the Judge of said court as the time and place for the bearing of objections to the said final account and the settlement thereof.

N. CROSIAR.

N. CROSIAR, Gonodian aforesaid. Oscar Hayter, Attorney.
Dated and first published March 1, 1907.

Summons.

shall go to the princess myself. She shall know what manuer of beast you woodin, Defendant, Sammons. In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for woodin, belendant, summons.

To Leon A. Woodin, befendant:
In the name of the State of Oregon, you are bereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled court and cause within six weeks from the first "Remember, I can prove what I have said. Beware what you do. I love you so much that I now ask you to become my wife. Think well over it. Your honor and his life! It rests with you," he cried eagerly, following her to the door.

"You disgusting old fool," she hissed, turning upon him as she pulled the big brass knocker on the door.

"I must have my answer tonight or you know what will happen," he snarled, but he felt in his heart that he had lost through his eagerness.

"A carson & Carson & Cannon, or the store entitled acuse within six weeks from the first publication of this summons, to wit, on the 20th day of April, 1997, and if you fail so to appear and answer the said complaint, the plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded in her complaint, to wit. For a decree of divorce dissolving the bonds of matrimony now existing between her and yourself, and also performer name. Bertha H. Hubbard, and for such larther and other relief as may be equitable. You are relief as may be equitable. You are relief as may be equitable. On a relief demanded of the relief as may be equitable. The relief as may

CARSON & CANNON,

Notice For Publication.

United States Land Office, Portland, Oregon,
January 9, 1907.

Notice is hereby given that in compliance with the provisions of the set of Congress of time z, 1878, entitled "An act for the sale of imber lands in the States of California, Oregon, ALGERNON S. DRESSER.

Notice For Publication.

TIMBER LAND, ACT JUNE 2, 1878.
United States Land Office,
Portland, Oregon,
March 11, 1997.

is not the man to be turned aside easily."

"He seems to think he can get wives as easily as he gets rid of them, I observe. I was going back to Washing ton soon, Yetive, but I'll stay on now and see this thing to the end. He can't scare a Calhoun; no sir-ee! I'll telegraph for my brother Dan to come over here and punch his head to pieces."

"Now, now, slon't be so high and mighty, dear. Let us see how rational we can be," said the princess gently, whereupon the hot headed girl from Dixie suspended hostilities and became a very demure young woman. Before long she was confessing timidly, then

"Rottland, Oregon, March II, 1907.

Notice is hereby given that in compliance with the provisions of the set of Congress of June 3, 1878, cutilled "An act for the saile of June 3, 1878, cutilled "An act for the saile of June 3, 1878, cutilled "An act for the saile of June 3, 1878, cutilled "An act for the saile of June 3, 1878, cutilled "An act for the saile of June 3, 1878, cutilled "An act for the saile of June 3, 1878, cutilled "An act for the saile of June 3, 1878, cutilled "An act for the saile of June 3, 1878, cutilled "An act for the saile of June 3, 1878, cutilled "An act for the saile of June 3, 1878, cutilled "An act for the saile of June 3, 1878, cutilled "An act for the saile of June 3, 1878, cutilled "An act for the saile of June 3, 1878, cutilled "An act for the saile of June 3, 1878, cutilled "An act for the saile of June 3, 1878, cutilled "An act for the saile of June 3, 1878, cutilled "An act for the saile of June 3, 1878, cutilled "An act for the saile of June 3, 1878, cutilled "An act for the saile of June 3, 1878, cutilled "An act for the saile of June 3, 1878, cutilled "An act for the saile of June 3, 1878, cutilled "An act for the saile of June 3, 1878, cutilled "An act for the saile of June 3, 1878, cutilled "An act for the saile of June 3, 1878, cutilled "An act for the saile of June 3, 1878, cutilled "An act for the saile of June 3, 1878, for the provisions of the sail of June 3, 1878, cutilled "An ALGERNON S. DRESSER.

Rocky Mountain Tea Nuggets

Marianx. What have you to say to me?"

I want to talk about last night. You were very reckless to do what you did."

"Oh, you were playing the spy, then P abe asked scornfully.

Mary Dark chiefs under the eyes indicate a singlest chief and reculation, torpid liver and kidneys. Exercise and Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea will make you well and beautiful. 35 cents. It's Bocky finestes in live Rocky finestes. It's Bocky finestes in tablet form, 35 cents a box. Gentinan make by then P abe asked scornfully. WALDEN NUCCETS FOR SALLOW PEOPLE

COUGHS KING OF CURES COLDS

THE WONDER WORKER

THROAT

GOLDEN

WEST

COFFEE

TEA SPICES
BAKING POWDER
PEXTRACTS:
JUST RIGHT

CLOSSET & DEVERS

M. OLIVE SMITH

teacher of

PIANO AND ORGAN

Studio, Room No. 2, Wilson Blad

Sacred Heart Academy

Boarding and day school for young him Music (Leschitaky method), Art; Compan Academic Course; special indurement in information address Stater Superior

W. V. FULLER

Timber Lands a Specilaty

same with me.

REAL ESTATE

If you have patented lands or relinquishments to sell, list

Office in Crider Building

Dallas, Oregon

DALLAS OREGON

FOR COUGHS AND COLDS

PREVENTS PNEUMONIA

I had the most debilitating cough a mortal was ever afflicted with, and my friends expected that when I left my bed it would surely be for my grave. Our doctor pronounced my case incurable, but thanks be to God, four bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery cured me so completely that I am all sound and well .- MRS. EVA UNCAPHER, Grovertown, Ind.

Price 50c and $1.00 ABSOLUTELY GUARANTEED! Trial Bettle Free

SOLD AND GUARANTEED BY BELT & CHERRINGTON.

OSCAR HAYTER.

Upstairs in Campbell building, Mill St

SIBLEY & EAKIN,

ED. F. COAD,

Office in Courthouse

N. L. BUTLER,

B. F. JONES

Office in Cooper Building.

INDEPENDENCE. - OREGON

OREGON

OREGON

OREGON.

A TTORNEY AT LAW.

ATTORNEYS AT LAW.

DALLAS,

MPACIFIC L ELEGRAD Study telegraphy and fit yourself for salaried position, with unparalieled opportunity for advancement. Railroad construction now under way makes great demand for trained operators. Takes only 3 to 5 months to learn, Tuition, 5 mos., $340.
Write for catalog. Pacific Telsgraph Institute, 5th floor, Commonwealth bldg., Portland, Or.

WOMEN beautiful Robertine gives what every woman most desires-a perfect complexion. It brings that soft, smooth, fresh. clear tint to the cheek that denotes youthfulness. It will bring beauty to those who lack it; it will retain it for those who already possess it; it will enable you to successfully combat the ravages of weather and lime. Don't doubt-don't argue. Just try Robertine. Your druggist will give you a free sample. All drug-

MAGAZINE READERS

SUNSET MAGAZINE beautifully illustrated, good stories and articles about California and all the Far West, CAMERA CRAFT devoted each month to the arwork of amateur and professional photographers.

All for . . . $1.50 Address all orders to SUNSET MAGAZINE Flood Building San Francisco

gists keep Robertine.

tistic reproduction of the best $1.00 ROAD OF A THOUSAND WONDERS a book of 75 pages, containing 120 colored photographs of picturesque spots in California and Oregon. Total . . . $3.25

DALLAS, A TTORNEY AT LAW. Office over Dallas City Bank. DALLAS, A TTORNEY AT LAW

A TTORNEY AT LAW J. L. COLLINS Main Street, Near Postoffice DALLAS, - - OREGON

DENTIST. M. HAYTER, Office over Wilson's Drug Store

DALLAS, ATTORNEY AT LAW L. D. BROWN

NOTARY PUBLIC; ABSTRACTS Mill Street opposite Uglow Bldg. OREGON. DALLAS,

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON. L. A. BOLLMAN, M. D., Uglow Building, Rooms 7 and 8, Mutual Phone Main 36, Bell Phone

DALLAS,

$2.00 Pays for the GBSERVER and the Weekly Oregonist one year. In order to take advantage of this liberal offer, your subscription to the OBSERVER must be paid up to date. Subscribe now. OREGON.

SALEM, FALLS CITY & WESTERN RAILWAY COMPANY. TIME TABLE No. 2 EFFECTIVE FEBRUARY 1, 1907.

|      |      |       | Pass. & Freight | No. 3FreightA. M. |      |     | STATIONS                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |     | Pass. &FreightA. M. | No. 4PreightP. M. | Pass. & | Freight | Freight | Freigh |
|------|------|-------|-----------------|---------------------------|------|-----|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|-----------------------------|---------------------------|---------|---------|---------|--------|
|      |      |       | 7:15            | 11:10                     | 3:20 | Lv. | DALLAS                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | Ar. | 9:30                        | 1:45                      | 5:15    |         |         |        |
| 100  | 0.7  | 7 (1) | 7:34            | No Stop                   | 3:39 | Ar. | *TEATS                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | Ar. | No Stop                     | No Stop                   | No Step |         | 1 10    |        |
| 4    |      |       | 7:38            | No Stop                   | 3:43 | Ar. | *GILLIAMS                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | Ar. | 9:02                        | No Stop                   | 4:47    |         |         |        |
| Lv.  | Lv.  | Lv.   | 7:43            | No Sto                    | 3:48 | Ar. | *BRIDGEPORT                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Ar. | 8:57                        | No Stop                   | 4:42    | Ar.     | Ar.     | Ar     |
| 6:00 | 9:00 | 1:30  | 7:55            | 11:50                     | 4:00 | Ar. | FALLS CITY                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Lv. | 8:45                        | 1:00                      | 4130    | 8:30    | 11:45   | 4:35   |
| 6:30 | 9:30 | 2:00  |                 |                           |      | Ar. | And the last of th |     | 100000                      |                           |         | 7:45    | 11:00   | 3:30   |

E. C. DoWITT & COMPANY, CHICAGO, ILL For Sale by Druggists.

J. G. VANORSDEL & SON

-DEALERS IN-

Cimber and Farm Cands and City Property. PROUND BY THE PROPERTY

Office on Court Street. Dallas, Oregon. AAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAA

Cures Biliousness, Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Torpid Liver and Chronic Constipation. Laxative Fruit Syrup Pleasant to take

Cleanses the system thoroughly and clears sallow complexions of pimples and blotches. It is guaranteed

For Sale by M. THOMPSON, Falls City.