BID THEM FAREWELL

Departure of Mr. and Mrs. N. Dornisfe From Crook County Is Greatly Regretted.

ASHWOOD, Or., April 3.—The little town of Ashwood, true to its reputation of never doing things by halves, was not lacking Tuesday night, when the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. N. Dornisfe met at an early hour, at the residence of Milo Wood and went in a body to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dornisfe for a farewell party, which was a complete surprise to them. The visitors were made welcome and found seats on packing boxes, beds and everything available that could be used for the purpose. Light refreshments were passed around and all made merry for an hour, when affecting good-byes were said and a few small gifts were left in the hands of Uncle and Aunt "Poly," who are great favorites with the coming men and women of Ashwood. They departed next morning to make their home in Dallas, Polk County in the beautiful Willamette Valley, with many good wishes and God-speeds from all their friends.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. N. Dornisfe, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. Asher McCollum, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McCollum, Mrs. James Wood, Mrs. P. B. Geer, Mrs. A. J. Shrum, Mrs. L. Tomlinson, Mrs. James A. Dickason, Misses Orpha Pettit, Tessie, Ruby, Maud and Bessie Wood, Bertha Shaw, Vena Shrum, Allie Geer, Bessie McCollum, Masters Floyd Wood, Norman Shrum, Elmer McCollum and Harry Tomlinson.

It is with many regrets that the large majority of his congregation here have received the news of this decision, as his earnest work among them during the past two years, has justly earned for himself and family the respect and good-will of this entire community.—Dayton Optimist.

NO EXCUSE FOR HOSTILITY

Petty Rivalries Between Neighbor Towns Are Silly, Says Corvallis Times.

The following editorial from the Corvallis Times contains so much good common sense that it should be printed and re-printed in every newspaper in Oregon:

"An Albany fraternal order came to Corvallis last Sunday to worship. The visit was an expression of good fellowship. It was an incarnation of friendly relation. The exchange of friendly visits by the fraternal orders in the two towns is frequent. It is the embodied absence of feudism and the disappearance of hostile rivalry. The petty rivalries common to towns and cities similarly situated as are Corvallis and Albany, are silly. They are too small to be encouraged. There is room and plenty of it for both. There is enough trouble in the world anyway, without the canker worm of intertown hostility of which there are so frequent and so illuminating manifestations. There is scarcely ever excuse for it, and never honor in feeding and keeping it alive.

"It is better in the sight of God and man for one town to help build the other up instead of seeking to drag it down. A cordial relation is pleasurable for both, and the feud relation bitter for both. Mutual good feeling and kindness is testamentary to the common sense and the opposite signifies more or less of petty mindedness in both.

"It is a good day for Corvallis and for Albany when their fraternal orders lead the way for mutual esteem. May all the good people in both towns follow the example."

DALLAS GETS THE CUP

Her Basketball Players Are Also in Majority on All-Star Team.

Walter Critchlow, manager of the Dallas College basketball team, attended the business meeting of the Oregon State Basketball League in Portland, Saturday night. All the managers of the different basketball teams in the league were present and the guarantee money, posted at the beginning of the season, was refunded. A beautiful silver cup, donated by the physical committee of the local Y. M. C. A., was presented to Manager Critchlow, representing the Dallas team.

The work of the league has proved of great success and all the delegates were of one accord to promote the basketball interests of the state by playing under its auspices for another year. The heavy schedule of the past season caused some discussion, and the problem was finally solved by a system which is to be inaugurated at a future meeting by which the teams of the league are to be divided into sections and the champions of each section to compete for the state championship, and thus eliminate the burdensome and long schedule of the past season. The Monmouth and Salem Y. M. C. A. teams were retained as members of the league by a unanimous vote, both organizations promising to furnish stronger teams next year.

An election of officers for the coming season was held and resulted as follows: President, Murray Shanks, of Willamette university; secretary, C. F. Easter, of the Salem Y. M. C. A.; treasurer, Bert Allen of the Multnomah Club.

At the meeting, the All-Star team for the year 1907 was also picked out, and the honors were won by Dallas college which had the strongest aggregation in the league and which won the state championship, with Willamette university as a close second. The All-Star team follows:

Forwards, Craven of Dallas college, and Busse of the Portland Y. M. C. A.; center, Shaw, of Dallas college; guards, Morton, of Dallas college, and Barton, of Multnomah.

A Corvallis Philosopher.
Jim Sing, the Chinaman, is a philosopher. He is cook at the Occidental. He has also a 50-acre hop yard near Wells. It is in connection with the latter that Jim manifests his philosophy. For his last season's crop he was at one time offered 13 cents. Later he was offered 15 cents. Now he can't get above 10 cents. If that. A buyer is coming this week to see them at that figure. "Oh, all sem in 100 years," said Jim; "no sell em at 15; can't get more than 10 now. All sem. No trouble. Just sem gamble. Play cards, have them klags; get em beat, lose money. All sem hope. Jos gamble, that's all." And Jim's laugh at his philosophy could have been heard a block.—Corvallis Times.

Judge N. L. Butler, of this city, was one of the judges of the debate between the students of McMinnville College and the Oregon Agricultural College in Corvallis, Friday night. The question debated was "Resolved, That the United States should subsidize her merchant marine." McMinnville, with the negative side of the question, was declared the winner by a unanimous vote of the judges.

CRUSHED ROCK IS BETTER

Gravel Superior to Mud as Road-Surface Material, But Lacks Lasting Qualities.

"My, My! If we just had these gravel beds in our state!" exclaimed a Wisconsin farmer as he rode over a Willamette Valley bridge spanning a creek whose shores were covered with fine gravel to a depth of several feet. "Your Oregon farmers do not appreciate the advantages they have in making permanent road improvements," he continued. "If we had gravel like that close to our highways, as you have here in the Willamette Valley, we would have most of our roads surfaced with it in short order. I am surprised that more Oregon roads are not covered with it."

The Wisconsin man overestimates the value of river gravel as a road-surface material. While it makes a surface far superior to mud, it is much inferior to crushed rock for permanent improvement. Its greatest advantage is in its proximity to the roads and the consequent cheapness of placing it upon highways. As the gravel is round and smooth, it loosens under travel and gradually sinks into the mud. Crushed rock, having sharp corners and straight edges, packs together and presents a smoother surface the longer it is subjected to the wear of travel. At the same time, the Wisconsin man is right when he says that in the gravel beds Oregon has a great advantage over such states as Wisconsin in permanent road improvements.—Oregonian.

High Pressure Days.
Men and women alike have to work incessantly with brain and hand to hold their own nowadays. Never were the demands of business, the wants of the family, the requirements of society, more numerous. The first effect of the pressure is a weakened or debilitated condition of the nervous system, which results in dyspepsia, defective nutrition of both body and brain, and in extreme cases in complete nervous prostration. It is clearly seen that what is needed is what will sustain the system, give vigor and tone to the nerves, and keep the digestive and assimilative functions healthy and active. From personal knowledge, we can recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla for this purpose. It acts on all the vital organs, builds up the whole system, and fits men and women for these high-pressure days.

INSTALLATION SERVICE
Dr. C. A. Mock Will Be Formally Installed as President of Dallas College, Thursday.

Rev. Charles A. Mock, Ph. D., will be publicly installed as President of Dallas College in a service to be held in the United Evangelical Church, Thursday, April 11, at 7:30 p. m. The principal address of the occasion will be delivered by Bishop William F. Hell, of Highland Park, Illinois. Hon. N. L. Butler will deliver an address representing the citizens of Dallas and community. Rev. A. A. Wintler will represent the board of trustees of the College in an address which will be responded to by President Mock in his inaugural.

Without any further formal word, the citizens of Dallas, Polk county, and, in fact, all the friends of the institution are most cordially invited to attend this service.

James Simonton, of West Salem, was a county seat visitor yesterday.
