WILL CRUISE TIMBER.

The County Court met Tuesday afternoon and employed W. V. Fuller and J. D. McDonald to cruise the timber land of Polk county for the purpose of aiding Assessor Graves in making up his valuations for assessment purposes. Messrs. Fuller and McDonald will qualify as Deputy Assessors, and will begin the work immediately. The movement to cruise the timber lands of Oregon for assessment purposes is rapidly growing in favor, and all of the Willamette Valley counties are taking up the plan. It is believed that a reliable cruise of the forests of Polk county will do much to equalize the burden of taxation in the county. The extra taxes received the first year will pay the cost of the cruising and leave several thousand dollars in the treasury. After the cruise is once completed, it will only be necessary to deduct the acreage logged or burned each year in making up the list of valuations for assessment purposes. The new plan of assessing will be fairer to the owners of the timber than the present method of assessment, as the assessor will no longer be obliged to guess at the quantity or quality of timber on a given tract, but will be enabled to make up his rolls with positive knowledge as to the value of every acre of timber land in the county.

Washington county has five experienced cruisers in the field, and the Court expects to have an estimate of all timber by June 15, so as to have it placed on this year's assessment roll. Clatsop county had her timber cruised two years ago, and the Assessor of that county is authority for the statement that the county made more than enough to pay for the cruise the first year from increased valuations on timber.

Benton county has not yet made a cruise, but the Court has the work under consideration and a meeting will be held this week to determine what action shall be taken.

The Lin county officials also have the matter of cruising under advisement. The Judge of that county is highly in favor of the plan, and it is reported that the Commissioners are of a like mind. The County Court of Yamhill county will meet today to consider bids for estimating the amount of timber lying between McMinnville and the Tillamook county line. The timber in Yamhill was assessed at only $5 an acre last year.

Marion county had several sections of timber cruised a few years ago, and the Court is preparing to have all the remaining timber cruised this summer. The property cruised before had been assessed at from $5 to $10 an acre, but was raised last year to $25 an acre.

Clackamas county will raise the assessment on her timber from $6 an acre to $15 an acre this year. No cruise will be made, and the Court will take the estimates of the owners of the timber.

The Lane County Court purchased the estimates of former cruisers on 1347 sections of timber land and will make their assessment according to these figures. Values will be raised to about $7 an acre on the better class of timber. Previous to this year, nothing was known of the actual worth of the timber lands, and good, bad and indifferent were assessed at $3 an acre.

Messrs. Fuller and McDonald, who have been employed to cruise the Polk county timber, are thoroughly qualified to perform the work, and the estimates furnished by them may be safely counted upon to be reliable and as nearly correct as it is possible to make them.

The death of Judge R. P. Boise reduces the living members of the Oregon constitutional convention, which framed the organic law of the state, to five, who are the following: Henry B. Nichols, of Benton county; W. H. Packwood, of Curry county; R. V. Short, of Yamhill county; L. F. Grover, of Portland, and General George H. Williams, of Portland.

AN ABUSED PRIVILEGE.

A free and unmuzzled press has long been one of America's boasted institutions, and the fair and intelligent criticism of public officers by honest newspapers, has contributed much to the cause of good government in our country. There are times, however, when the abuse of the "free press" privilege by sensational newspapers could almost make one wish that the Constitution did not grant such wide latitude. The publication of the savage and blindly unreasonable attack upon President Roosevelt by Socialist Debs might be cited as an instance. How any publisher with a drop of American blood in his veins or an ounce of patriotism in his make-up could stoop to print such a vile attack upon the chief magistrate of his country surpasses understanding.

It is a fact, known to all, that it was just such anarchistic utterances by certain sensational publications that led to the assassination of the beloved McKinley and plunged the Nation into mourning. Has the awful lesson, learned in tears and humiliation, been so soon forgotten? Is the assassin's bullet again to be invited, by permitting irresponsible newspapers to print abuse and vilification of our Presidents and thus fan the smoldering fires of hatred in murderous breasts? Is the red flag of anarchy to be flaunted in the face of the American people in the form of red headlines in sensational newspapers?

These are questions not to be lightly considered or turned aside. The people of the United States, with the causes leading up to the murder of William McKinley fresh in their minds, cannot afford to grow indifferent, and if there is no law to prevent the publication of anarchistic writings expressing hatred and contempt for our Presidents, the people can at least bring down upon the editors publishing them such a storm of protest that they will not care to repeat the offense.
