 Now the sound of the hammer is heard in the land; the muzzling of the decorator with his mouth full of tacks, as he balances precariously on the summit of the wobbly stepladder and carries on the work that shall cause the old town to blossom as a park flower garden, in all the hues that go to make up the stripes and field of Old Glory.
 Dr. O. D. Butler, of Independence, was painfully injured by a blow from the starting crank of his automobile, Sunday afternoon. Dr. Butler was operating the crank, when the engine kicked back, driving it around with terrific force. It struck his wrist near the joint, breaking the bones and mangling the flesh, producing wounds that will be very painful and slow to heal. The Doctor went to Portland immediately, to procure the best medical attendance possible.

 The city has cut down the large oak tree which stood in the center of the street at the entrance to the park. There is no occasion for sentimental ones to waste sympathy, for this tree was of poor shape and really obstructed the way.
 The Willamette Valley Lumber Company is building a new plank foot-bridge across the back water in the west end of their mill pond. The old bridge was so low that the water came up over the boards and rendered it almost impassable at times.
 E. L. Collins, an electrician in the employ of the Pacific Electric Company, of Portland, is visiting at the home of his father, Hon. J. L. Collins. He lately suffered a serious accident, falling from a ladder while engaged in work on a roof and breaking both arms.
 Those who work on the floats for the various business houses and lodges of Dallas are studiously keeping all facts concerning their progress in the dark. No sight of the floats can be obtained and few ideas as to the plans pursued in their construction. Hence the grand parade is bound to be filled with surprises for all who attend the celebration.

 Sunday afternoon, in his lecture to men, delivered in the Christian Tabernacle, Dr. S. M. Martin delivered some sound thoughts in an entirely new way. His subject was Manhood and Home; his treatment of the subject forceful but delicate. For an hour and a half, he held his audience under complete control, with such a mastery use of sound doctrine, balanced by touches of wit and pathos, as the citizens of Dallas have seldom had the pleasure of listening to.
 A grand rally will be held tonight in the M. E. Church. J. K. Hankins, of McMinville, A. J. Hollingsworth, of Amity, and W. J. Douglas, of Independence, will be present and each give an address.  The sawmills in Dallas and Black Rock will be closed on July 3 and 4, so we may look for large delegations of laboring men to turn out and help make the celebration all that it should be.
 Misses Naana Forbes and Ella Carpenter went to Salem, Saturday, to attend the Teachers' Convention which is to be held there this week. Miss Forbes will go from that place to her home in the East.
 Frank Gilliam, of Airlie, was a Dallas visitor, Saturday. Mr. Gilliam said that the rain storm last Friday was quite heavy in the vicinity of Airlie, so much so that the roads were covered with water in some places.
 A double wedding was solemnized at the Baptist parsonage yesterday afternoon, when William H. Munson and Bessie McTimmonds, and Chester A. Erickson and Florence Turner, were united in marriage by the Rev. C. H. Davis. The contracting couples are residents of Falls City.
 Mrs. Mary Martin fell down the stairway and fractured her right collar-bone while visiting at the home of her son-in-law, Edgar Brown, on Salt Creek last Thursday. Dr. B. H. McCallon was summoned to attend the injury. She was able to return home a few days later and is now resting comfortably.
 The young men of Dallas who are taking lessons in the National School of Music, are already beginning to discuss the question of a stringed orchestra. If their lessons continue to be as satisfactory as they have been this far, the citizens of Dallas may look for such an organization to be formed next winter.
 The Willamette Valley Electric Company have had their men at work today, placing 16-candle power incandescent lights at intervals of eight feet, along the wires which have been strung around the Court House block. When these are lighted, the display will be something approaching more nearly the metropolitan than anything of this kind, that the citizens of Dallas have had the privilege of enjoying heretofore.
 Go to the Colosseum rink and skate from 8 to 11, Saturday night.
