Three fine stallions and about a score of colts were entered, the chief exhibitors being Amos Holman, David Nachtigal and A. R. Hubbard. The promoters of the show expect to make the entries much larger next year, and will arrange a special day for their fair, so that the attention of the public may not be distracted from their exhibits of fine animals, as it always has been heretofore.

COMMITTEES ARE CHOSEN

Women Who Will Help Make the Public Library Beneficially Successful.

Mrs. E. W. Fuller has charge of the soliciting committee for the big N. W. England dinner, which is to be given October 17 to celebrate the second anniversary of the Public Library and, incidentally, to raise much-needed funds. This committee consists of Mrs. Frank Coad, Mrs. E. M. Smith, Mrs. G. L. Hawkins, Mrs. Otho Williams, Mrs. C. L. Earnes, Mrs. F. S. Ramsey, Mrs. C. E. Shaw and Mrs. Ed Richmond.

The decorating committee will decorate the hall in appropriate autumnal fashion, and will have charge of setting and decorating the long tables.

Mrs. Louis Gerlinger, Jr., is the head of this committee, of which Mrs. L. T. Brown, Mrs. B. Casey, Mrs. H. G. Eakin, Mrs. Dr. Mark Hayter and Mrs. L. N. Woods are members.

Miss Jennie Muscott will have charge of a dozen or more modern Priscillas, who will serve.

It is believed that everyone will respond liberally to this effort to raise money, and all are promised a splendid dinner.

SUFFERING IS ENDED

Wesley Young Dies of Tuberculosis After Long and Painful Illness.

Charles Wesley Young, son of the Rev. and Mrs. M. B. Young, died of tuberculosis at the family home in this city, Monday, September 30, 1907, aged 18 years and 8 months. The funeral services will be held in the Evangelical church at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. The Rev. N. W. Sager will preach the sermon.

Wesley was born in Kenesaw, Nebraska, and came to Oregon with his parents in 1902, at the age of 13 years. He lived in Oregon from that time until his death. He was a quiet, well-behaved boy, and was universally liked by the young people of Dallas. His death is a sad blow to the family, and there were none among his young friends who heard the news without a bitter pang of regret.

Ivan G. Martin, of the Salem Journal staff, and H. N. Stondenmeyer, the well-known musical director of Salem, were callers at the Observer office, Friday afternoon. Both gentlemen attended the school fair and were greatly pleased with the exhibits.

EOLA BOY WINS PRIZE

Earl Brunk Tells How He Raised Premium Vegetables For School Fair.

The $5 cash prize offered by the Observer to the boy giving the best record of growth of vegetables exhibited by him at the School Fair was won by Earl Brunk, the bright little son of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Brunk, of Eola. Here is the record which the judges decided was entitled to first place in the competition:

RECORD OF GROWTH.

Last Fall the manure was hauled from the barns and placed on the garden. It was left there until early in the Spring, when it was spread, and then plowed under within a few days after being spread. The ground was then left alone until about March 15, and then re-plowed and harrowed about one month later. The ground was so well pulverized that most of the seed were covered with the plow. The pumpkin and squash hills were so far apart that they were covered with the hoe. They were planted in moist dirt, and covered about one inch deep with moist dirt.

The potatoes were planted about 5 inches deep. The cabbage was planted in moist dirt, about one inch deep, and covered with moist dirt. The beets were planted in a bed of moist dirt with the hand, and about one inch deep. The ground was in such fine condition that when the vegetables needed cultivation, they were cultivated with the cultivator. After they were cultivated, the dirt that had been crowded up against the plant was all removed, so as to give the plant plenty of room. The weeds were kept pulled out, so as not to take so much strength from the ground.

The tomatoes had the same care, with the exception that they were grown from plants. The corn was sulkered when the suckers could be told from the main stalks. The beets were thinned out, so as to give those remaining a chance to grow. The cabbage plants were taken out of the hill and re-set, with the exception of one. The garden was generally cultivated a day or so after a rain, so that the soil would not run together and get hard, but keep moist.

Our sale has set them all going, but being determined to close everything out, it will be to your best interests to investigate everyone's claims before purchasing. Besides we have placed everything on sale at strictly wholesale prices, nothing reserved.

If we had room and time to do it would quote you prices, but come and see for yourself, everything marked in plain figures.
