E. A. Hamilton, of the Townsend creamery, says that the company is now paying 35 cents for butter fat. He adds that the dairymen of Polk county need have no trouble in determining the prices paid in Dallas, for it is a fixed policy of the company never to let their prices fall more than one cent below those quoted in the regular market reports in the daily papers. At present they are paying exactly the same price for butter fat as is found in the regular market quotations.

Dr. Victor Fink is finding a ready market in Dallas for the product of his thriving vineyard on his Salt Creek farm. The grapes brought in by him last Friday were fully equal in quality to the best grown in California. Among the varieties in his vineyard are the Black Hamburg, Riesling, Tokay and Chassacot. The grape which the Doctor prizes most highly is a purple grape, the original cutting of which was sent him from the Sandwich Islands. The fruit is of medium size and excellent flavor, and the vines are prolific bearers. Dr. Fink is demonstrating that as good grapes can be grown in Polk county as in the more widely advertised sections elsewhere.
