F. H. Morrison went to Portland, Wednesday, on business.

B. Skeels, of Falls City, was a business visitor in Dallas yesterday.

Mayor A. B. Muir went to Portland today, for a short business visit.

The Rev. C. H. Davis is in Salem this week attending the Baptist Conference.

Miss Maud Bailey, of Portland, is visiting her friend, Miss Hattie Teak, at her home near Dallas this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Gideon Stolz, of Salem, were Dallas visitors, Wednesday. Mr. Stolz came over to look after his business interests in this city.

Frank Glover, of Rickreall, has purchased the D. A. Covert property near Dallas, and will move to this city for the coming winter with his family.

Edward Biddle went to Salem, Wednesday, to secure medical treatment for a cataract on one of his eyes, that has been an annoyance to him for several years.

L. Rogers, the millwright who installed the machinery in the old Rickreall flouring mill, is busy this week taking it down and getting it ready for shipment to Bellingham.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Fenton returned Wednesday evening from Portland, where they went to visit A. H. Collins at the St. Vincent hospital. Mr. Fenton says that Mr. Collins shows a slight improvement, and that hopes are entertained for his ultimate recovery from his injury.

Professor William Caldwell, director of the musical department at Dallas College, reports that plans are afoot to organize a college band. Many of the boys already have instruments, and others are making arrangements to secure them as soon as possible. Practice will be commenced at an early date, and the basketball games and other big events of the coming year will no doubt be greatly enlivened by the presence of a college band.

Vern Bartlett has opened a clothes cleaning and pressing shop in the Clingan residence near the depot. He will clean and press all kinds of clothing, and will make a specialty of ladies' garments, including skirts and jackets. Several stores in Dallas that have been doing this class of work have turned it over to Mr. Bartlett, who thoroughly understands the business. His assistant is also an experienced cleaner and presser, and will alter garments to suit customers. There is much work in these lines in Dallas and the surrounding towns, and Mr. Bartlett will find no difficulty in securing a paying patronage.

County Fruit Inspector J. B. Nunn was a business visitor in Falls City, Wednesday.

L. C. Koser is building a fine modern house for B. B. Knowles on his farm near Rickreall.

Mrs. J. S. Harkins, of Portland, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Huff in this city.

Mrs. Sutor, the widow of Robert Sutor, who was formerly owner of the Dallas sawmill, returned to Portland today, after a short visit among her many friends in Dallas.

Services at the M. E. Church, Sunday morning at 11 o'clock; subject of morning sermon, "The Rationality of Religion;" subject of evening sermon, "The Great Commission." The public invited. M. P. Dixon, Pastor.

W. J. Leaming, of Kimball, Nebraska, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Miller. He is the youngest brother of Mrs. Miller, and has come all the way from his native state to be present at the celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Miller's golden wedding anniversary tomorrow. Many other relatives of the aged couple are expected to be present, and will add to the occasion the joy of reunion after many years of separation.

A. A. Launer arrived home Wednesday from Rainier, Washington, where he has been employed in a sawmill for about two months. An injury to his ankle incapacitated him for work, and made it necessary for him to return home. Mr. Launer says that about half of the seventeen mills in Rainier have shut down, and the remainder are contemplating a suspension of work for 90 days. This is a result of the unsettled state of freight rates, which has caused lumber to fall in price until it is unprofitable to manufacture it. Mr. Launer says that the price of rough lumber in Washington at present is from two to three dollars less a thousand feet than the cost of securing logs to make it.

Mr. and Mrs. Ab Magers, of Salem, are the proud parents of a new-born son.

Mayor and Mrs. A. B. Muir and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hollister were Salem visitors Sunday.

Chris Staffin, who is attending medical college in Portland, came up this week for a short visit.

There will be both afternoon and evening sessions at the Colosseum rink this week, on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, and Bartlett's orchestra will be in attendance at all evening sessions. Ladies will be given free admission on Tuesday evenings.

"The Cow-Puncher," a play depicting life in Arizona, by Hal Reid, will be one of the events theatrically in Dallas this season. This play enjoyed a most prosperous season East last year, and the producer, W. F. Mann, promises local theatergoers an attraction worthy in every particular. Woodman Hall, Wednesday, October 30.

TWO MORE JOIN LEAGUE

Corvallis and Forest Grove Will Be Seen in Basketball Games This Season.

Frank Kersey and Edgar Craven, returning from the meeting of the Oregon Basketball League held in Salem, Tuesday, report that Oregon Agricultural College and Pacific University will enter the association this season, and that Monmouth Normal School has withdrawn.

The League has been separated into two divisions, one composed of Dallas College, O. A. C., Willamette University, and Salem Y. M. C. A.; and the other consisting of the two Portland clubs, Newberg and Pacific University. The winning teams of the two divisions will compete for the championship in a final three game series, one game on each home floor and a third on a neutral floor. B. A. Teats and W. I. Ford, of Dallas, were among those chosen as referees for the coming season. The season will begin December 10.

Dallas College promises to put out fully as good a team this year as she has had during the past four years, and will undoubtedly give the other teams in the league a hard run for the cup. In their first formal practice game Wednesday evening, the boys showed up exceedingly well both in team work and goal throwing. The line-up for the first team cannot be absolutely predicted at this time, but it is supposed that it will be as follows: Fenton and Craven, forwards; Shaw, center; and Savery and Simonton, guards. Among the other students that are showing themselves to be promising basketball material are: Claud Shaw, Lew and Walter Ballantyne, V. O. Launer, Lloyd Rice and William Ridgeway.
