WORK OF GRIM REAPER

Death Claims T. M. Bailey, George Rowcliffe, J. R. Miller, Robert Gaynor and Dr. R. C. Hunter

BAILEY—At his home, one mile east of Dallas, on Friday, January 24, 1908, Thomas M. Bailey, aged 84 years, 10 months and 24 days.

Mr. Bailey's death was caused by the infirmities due to old age, his health having been gradually failing for several years. He was born in Randolph county, Indiana, April 1, 1823, of Quaker parentage. He married Miss Lucretia Plummer in Tipton county, Indiana, April 23, 1848, and afterwards moved to Kansas, from which state he emigrated to Oregon in 1881. He settled in Polk county, and lived in and around Dallas continuously until the time of his death. He spent much of his time in hunting, trapping and mining, and his long life was doubtless due to his daily outdoor exercise.

Mr. Bailey made two trips from his home in Alden, Iowa, to the Rocky mountains in the early days, the mining region around Pike's Peak being the objective point. The first trip was made in 1860, and the second in 1864. In those days the woods abounded in game, and Mr. Bailey's written experience of his adventures as a hunter and trapper were afterwards published in his home papers and formed highly entertaining reading. He was always a lover of nature, a man of kindly disposition, and a quiet, inoffensive citizen who enjoyed the respect of all who knew him.

He is survived by his aged wife, one son, and five daughters. The children are: P. P. Bailey, of Washington county, Oregon; Mrs. D. T. McIntire, of Coldwater, Comanche county, Kansas; Mrs. J. C. Proctor, of Seattle, Wash.; Mrs. Jerome Stewart, of Seattle, Wash.; Mrs. John Monson and Mrs. Henry Clifford, of Dallas.

The funeral service was held at 2 o'clock Sunday, in the Adventist Church, and the body was taken to the Odd Fellows' cemetery for burial.

HUNTER—At his home in Lexington, Oregon, last week, Dr. R. C. Hunter, aged about 75 years.

Dr. Hunter was for many years a practicing physician at Perrydale, Polk county, and afterwards moved to Dallas, where he practiced for about one year. He was a native of England, and served for many years as a surgeon in the British army. He was a veteran of the Crimean war. He left a wife and several children, all grown. His remains were taken to Portland for burial.

MILLER—At his home at 68 East 22d street, Portland, on Friday morning, January 24, 1908, Jasper B. Miller, a native son of Polk county, aged 51 years and 11 months.

Mr. Miller was a member of one of the prominent pioneer families of Polk county, being the only son of Monroe Miller and the late Virginia Miller. He was born near Crowley on the 25th day of February, 1856. His boyhood was spent in Dallas, where he received his education in the LaCreole Academy, now Dallas College. Leaving school, he formed a partnership with the late Berry Biggs and engaged in the drug business. He conducted his business with great success, and in the late '80s sold his store and moved with his family to Port Townsend, Wash. He was soon afterward appointed a Collector of Customs for the United States and stationed at Vancouver, B. C., where he acceptably served his Government for several years.

When the mining excitement broke out in Nome, Alaska, he joined the rush of gold-seekers to the Far North, and it was there that he lost his health. The rigor of the Arctic winter and the scarcity of wholesome food proved too great a strain on his constitution, and he returned home an invalid. Although broken in bodily strength, his will was as strong as ever, and he at once set out to regain his health by securing a position as traveling salesman for a Portland wholesale firm, hoping that travel and outdoor exercise would build him up again. For a few months the change seemed to benefit him, but at last his health began to fail again and he was finally obliged to give up his work. He then remained in Portland until death relieved him of his suffering.

The remains were brought to Dallas on Friday's evening train, and were given burial in the Odd Fellows' cemetery Saturday afternoon. The exercises at the grave were brief, but impressive, and were conducted by the Rev. A. J. Hunsaker, of McMinnville, a lifelong friend of the deceased and a relation of the Miller family by marriage. The pallbearers were F. J. Coad, Eugene Hayter, H. L. Crider, C. G. Coad, William Lyle and Dr. Mark Hayter, all schoolmates and boyhood friends of Mr. Miller.

"Jap" Miller, as he was familiarly known by his friends, was a man of many kind and lovable traits of character. He was true to his friends and honorable in his business dealings. His life was clean and blameless, and his death is sincerely mourned by a large circle of friends and acquaintances. He is survived by his wife, who was formerly Miss Laura Hall; an aged father, and one sister, Mrs.

U. S. Grant. The sorrowing relatives have the deep sympathy of the community in their great bereavement.

GAYNOR—In Heppner, Oregon, Friday, January 24, 1908, Thomas Robert Gaynor, of inflammation of the heart, aged 38 years, and 4 months.

The news of the death of Robert Gaynor was received in Dallas, Saturday morning, and cast a deep gloom over the community in which he had resided for many years before he came to Heppner to make his home. His death was caused by inflammation of the heart, following a severe illness of pneumonia.

About two weeks ago, he took a severe cold which soon developed into pneumonia. He was taken to a hospital in Heppner, where his disease soon yielded to medical treatment. He then left the hospital and returned to his own apartments, thinking that he would be able to resume his work in a few days. He did not regain hoped-for strength, however, and had to return to the hospital, where his condition soon became critical. His mother was summoned from Dallas and reached his bedside a few hours before he died. He retained consciousness until a few minutes before the end, and gave his mother minute instructions as to his wishes concerning the disposal of his business affairs. Death was pronounced by his physicians as having resulted from inflammation of the heart, his lungs having entirely healed from the effects of the attack of pneumonia.

The remains were prepared for shipment to Dallas, and the bereaved mother started on her sad homeward journey Saturday morning. She was met at The Dalles by L. L. Shreve and in Portland by her son Harry, her daughter Mrs. Walter Williams, Mrs. Charles McDevitt, Mrs. Suitor, and Mayor A. B. Muir. The party reached Dallas, Sunday morning, and the body was taken to the Masonic Hall to await burial.

The funeral was held from the M. E. Church yesterday afternoon, and was largely attended by friends of the sorrowing family. The members of the local Masonic lodge attended in a body, and all of the business houses in the city were closed during the service. A brief and touching sermon was preached by the Rev. M. P. Dixon, pastor of the M. E. Church, and prayer was offered by the Rev. D. J. Becker, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. Appropriate music was rendered by a selected choir. The floral offerings were beautiful, elaborate emblematic tributes having been sent by the Masonic bodies of Heppner and Dallas. At the close of the service in the church, the remains were taken to the Odd Fellows' cemetery, where they were buried by the officers and members of Jennings Lodge, No. 9, A. F. & A. M., according to the ancient usages and customs of that fraternity.

Thomas Robert Gaynor was the younger son of Mrs. J. C. Gaynor, of this city, and was born in Clinton Junction, Rock county, Wisconsin, September 23, 1869. He lived for many years in Iowa and California, and then went to Missouri, from which state he came to Dallas in 1891. He married Miss Clara Uglow, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abel Uglow, May 2, 1900. His wife lived only a few years after her marriage, dying November 18, 1904. Soon after the death of his wife, Robert moved to Heppner, Oregon, where he formed a copartnership with Charles Huelat in the furnishing goods business. He was a member of Heppner Lodge, No. 69, A. F. & A. M.; Heppner Chapter, No. 26, Royal Arch Masons; Naomi Chapter, No. 22, O. E. S., and Dallas Camp, No. 209, Woodmen of the World.

Robert was a young man of fine social qualities, and enjoyed the respect and esteem of all. He was of a kind and generous disposition, and was ever ready to assist in caring for the sick and afflicted and to aid the poor. He was an industrious business man, and managed his affairs successfully. He will be sadly missed by his friends and associates, and his death in the prime of manhood is deeply mourned.

ROWCLIFFE—In Portland, Saturday afternoon, George Rowcliffe, a native of Canada, aged about 60 years.

Mr. Rowcliffe's death was caused by a sudden attack of heart failure and occurred while he was on the street, walking to his home in East Portland. Mr. Rowcliffe was born in Canada, and moved to the United States after his marriage, settling in Nebraska, where he remained until 1884, when he came to Oregon with his family and located on a farm near Dallas. He sold this farm about two years ago and moved to Portland. He is survived by his wife and two children—John and Helen Rowcliffe.

WINS EASY VICTORY

Dallas College Basketball Team Defeats Willamette University By Score of 37 to 4.

More than 50 of the students of Dallas College, and of the basketball "fans" of this city appropriated all of the buggies and carriages that could be secured and drove over to Salem, Friday, where they had the pleasure of watching the home basketball team defeat the Willamette University five by the decisive score of 37 to 4.

This victory was expected by the Dallas people, since the first game, played in Dallas was won by the home team, the score being 59 to 11, but none were prepared to see the Willamette aggregation so crushingly defeated on its own floor. Those who witnessed the game declare that the players on the opposing team were so closely guarded that throughout the entire 40 minutes of play they did not get more than a half dozen shots at the basket. The four points that they did secure were scored from the foul line.

Craven starred for Dallas in goal throwing, securing 11 of the 15 field baskets; Shaw threw three and Savery one. The remaining seven points were scored by Fenton, from the foul line.

The members of the opposing team when they found themselves outclassed in speed, endeavored to carry the game by sheer force, but soon found that they were matched against men who were as far superior to them in strength and weight, as in speed and skill.

The majority of the Dallas "rooters" returned to their home town the same night, only a few remaining to drive back with the basketball team on the following day.

The line-up was as follows:

Craven	F	Pemberton
Fenton	F	Moore
Shaw	C	Hornshoe
		Johnson
Savery	G	Nelson
C. Shaw	G	Wilson

Livingston, of the M. A. A. C., acted as referee.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent J. Turnidge, of Ballston, were Dallas visitors yesterday.

MERRY SKATING PARTY

"Jolly Fellows" Entertain Large Number of Guests at Colosseum Rink.

About 50 couples were entertained by the "Jolly Fellows" Skating Club at the Colosseum Rink, Friday night, with one of the most enjoyable parties that has ever been given in Dallas. The rink was lighted with Japanese lanterns—a long chain down the center of the hall, and single lanterns at each of the posts along the galleries and balcony. The light effect produced was most beautiful and striking.

Skating in couples was the order while the music lasted, and between each piece the rink was thrown open to individual skaters. George Brown, one of the club members, entertained the guests with some of his trick skating and dancing during the evening.

The party broke up at 11 o'clock with hearty thanks for the "Jolly Fellows" who had furnished such a pleasant evening. These young men have proven that they know how to arrange and carry out an ideal party, and it can easily be predicted they will be in high favor among the skaters of this city.

MANY PLANT ORCHARDS

Thousands of Fruit Trees Will Be Set Out Around Dallas This Year

The following figures submitted by Polk County Fruit Inspector J. B. Nunn, show the remarkable increase in the fruit raising in the vicinity of Dallas within the past six months. Since last Fall, owners of orchard land near Dallas, have ordered from Mr. Nunn 10,000 apple trees, 5000 prune, 2500 cherry, 1900 pear and 600 walnut trees. Yesterday he received a shipment of 8000 raspberry plants, 3000 being ordered for O. H. Cobb; 2000 for N. M. Grant and 1000 for John Ebbe. About a month ago orders were also placed by some of the fruit men of Dallas for 3000 gooseberry plants.

The fruit industry is growing by leaps and bounds, and now that a ready market is promised by the determination of the citizens of Dallas and vicinity to build a fruit cannery, a still greater and more rapid development may be looked for during the coming year.
