CURE YOUR KIDNEYS

Why will people continue to suffer the agonies of kidney complaint, backache, urinary disorders, lameness, headaches, languor. Why allow themselves to become chronic invalids, when a certain cure is offered them?

Doan's Kidney Pills is the remedy to use, because it gives to the kidneys the help they need to perform their work.

If you have any, even one, of the symptoms of kidney diseases, cure your self now, before diabetes, dropsy or Bright's disease sets in.

Mrs. L. Holson, of 717 Aura St., Pendleton, Ore., says: "I just as enthusiastically endorse Doan's Kidney Pills today as I did nearly three years ago. They relieved me of kidney trouble which had bothered me for a considerable time. There was aching pains across the small of my back and down through my kidneys, which were aggravated by colds which settled in the back and loins and caused an awful lameness. This was my condition when I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills. This remedy banished the backache and pains through the loins, regulated the kidney secretions and removed every symptom of the trouble. From that day to this there has been no recurrence, and I give Doan's Kidney Pills all the credit. I consider them to be the best kidney remedy procurable and recommend them whenever the occasion arises."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

THE FARM COLLIE.

Training a Young Shepherd Dog in the Care of Stock.

To make a success in training the collie puppy we must be willing to use both time and patience. He must first learn to come at call and come at once, not hesitatingly or doing so unwillingly. When he is called he should know that he is to obey, and while he is being taught this if he is favored with bits of cooked meat or cake and a friendly pat upon the head he will readily understand and do as he is bidden gladly.

Never scold or whip him at this period, for forced obedience done in a sneakish way cannot be depended upon. No dog can be expected to obey gracefully when he knows the whip is waiting for him. Gain his confidence by kind treatment, and his training will be an easy matter. If he looks for a favor or kindness at his master's hand he comes to him full of animation and spirit, ready to help if wanted. Good work cannot be secured if the dog is harshly treated. If he is under good control in this way he can at once be checked when he makes errors in his work instead of going on and making things worse.

A GOOD COLLIE

Then to come to call at once there is nothing more important for a useful dog to know—to leave all else and heed his master's call. Then teach him to drive at the heel, keeping him in check close by your side while you do the driving, so that he may become accustomed to drive at the rear or heel. Persist in this until he gets the habit well formed, and do not undertake to teach him to head off or turn the stock to right or left until he is a sure driver at the heel. Then he can be taught easily any desired ways of handling the stock, only go slowly, step by step, not trying to accomplish the impossible in turning out a fully trained dog in a few days.

Often a cord is used in restraining the dog if he is overzealous to force the stock, and in some cases it may be necessary to continue its use until he has given up his habit of going to the head. A headstrong or vicious steer turning upon the puppy would cause him to fight at the head and so get this habit, for which reason we advise avoiding such kind of stock in the early training. If the dog is kept on a chain or in a small kennel yard it is well that he should have a bit of freedom before attempting to keep him under control. It being much easier to manage him after a short run, says Lothian in giving the foregoing advice in the Breeder's Gazette, Chicago.

Silver Duckwing Leghorn.
The illustration shows a very handsome specimen of the Silver Duckwing Leghorn male. This variety of the Leghorn is very seldom seen, and it is not even claimed that it is any better from the standpoint of egg production and hardness than the whites or the brown or even than the blacks.

But its plumage, like that of all the Duckwings, is really beautiful, and, what is perhaps more to the point to the average fancier, it is as easy to obtain a large proportion of fine specimens of Silver Duckwing Leghorns as of the whites of the same breed. For that reason it is a particularly valuable bird for the farmer as well as for the "city lot" fancier.

AMERICAN VARIETIES.

How a Fad is Working Very Great Injury to Some of Them.

J. H. Davenport in American Fancier says: "A retrospect of the varieties seen at many shows the past twelve months indicates the drift toward American varieties more strongly than ever. Rhode Island Reds have made giant strides in many sections, not only in the number exhibited, but in the great advancement seen in the quality of the birds. The males are still considerably in advance of the females as far as color is concerned, although in the past few months we have seen and handled a number of hens and pullets, both single and rose comb, that were strictly high class in the evenness and richness of the surface color, absence of mealiness and shuffling being a gratifying feature."

"Columbian Wyandottes are booming and coming along at a great clip. The beautiful Light Brahma markings are now frequently seen in first class Columbian, and the graceful Wyandotte type is being rapidly approached. This variety is bound to be very popular for years to come. It not only pleases the eye for color, but 'catches out' in shape."

"White Wyandottes are still leaders in numbers at most shows, their popularity being universal. Still, there has been a falling off in some sections, and we regret to say the quality is not just as good as it might be or what it was a few years ago—4 e., as a whole. The craze for dead white plumage regardless of shape, color of skin and legs has worked injury to this great fowl in certain sections. Practical poultry raisers have complained that the hens of some strains lay inferior eggs, and not too many of them, and that often the carcasses dress white instead of yellow. That some mighty poor stuff has been sent out labeled White Wyandottes by avocrite dealers is unfortunately true. Some of the so called big egg strains advertised by men who are taking advantage of the big boom in whites are a libel on the breed, and buyers should fight shy of such. There are many reputable White Wyandotte breeders, men who exhibit at the leading shows and advertise in the leading poultry papers, and these are the fanciers to deal with. First class White Wyandottes are in demand always and are not too plentiful at any time."

Cotton Cake For the Cow.
"It has been demonstrated in Denmark that no other cake is as productive of fat in milk as is the cotton cake," according to Consular Agent Benton. "Feeders of every class are fully aware of this, and cotton cake is prized more highly than in the United States."

The Red, White and Roan.
The extensive Shorthorn exhibit at the Minnesota state fair seems to indicate that the red, white and roan cattle are better supported by Minnesotans than any other of the beef breeds.
