

PROFIT IN ONIONS.

Satisfactory Returns in Growing the Yellow Globe Variety. An instance of where Connecticut river valley farmers are making farming pay is afforded by the experience of Arthur Hobart of Franklin county, Mass., last fall. From two and a half acres of his land there was harvested 2,650 bushels of Yellow Globe Danvers onions. These sold at 50 cents a bushel or more at the time of harvest, and in the entire lot there was not more than ten bushels of small onions. Fertilizer was applied at the rate of one ton of high grade to the acre. This cost about $45. The field was taken on shares, and Mr. Hobart figures that the rent of the land for the year returned him $125.

ARTHUR HOBART.

ply the land, the fertilizer and half the seed and let a second party come in and do all the work, each taking half at the harvest. One good point about this practice is that it is usually profitable to all interested. Pointers frequently lease land in this way and with the help of their families and immediate friends handle a large amount of work during the season. In fact, it is said they will handle more than twice as much as they would working as day laborers.

In the east, from New England Home- stead, are shown specimens of the onions that contributed toward such satisfactory results.

Ranches in the West. The great 10,000 and 50,000 acre ranches all over the west are disappearing under the invasion of the farmers who are satisfied with 100 or 200 acres of land and who are making these little patches remarkably productive, says Denver Field and Farm. The time is not very remote when ranches will be unknown and when the country now monopolized by them will be broken up into moderate sized farms. The rise in the value of farming land is steady, and in a few years land which for a decade or two has had only a nominal value will command from $20 to $100 an acre. In the irrigated sections of Colorado land adapted to fruit growing is selling from $500 to $2,000 an acre. Sugar beet lands near factories bring $100 to $200 and upward, and the best cantaloupe growing lands sell readily at $500. Experts make annually a net profit of from 10 to 25 per cent on this big priced land.

For the Farm Dairy. Work in breeding for milk production at the Canada experiment farms seems to show that (a) superior dairy cows may be found in all breeds; (b) pure bred females are not essential to success in dairy farming, but a pure bred bull should always be used.

Hardy Russian Apples. Some of the Russian apples appear to be harder than any apples of American origin and have been the means of extending the culture of this fruit to southern Manitoba.

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR stops the cough and heals lungs

OVERHEARD.

"I'm getting up, Maria." "George, why, it's only 4 o'clock!" "Well, I must feed and water the hens before they start to lay and get that wagon load of eggs to the early train to get them to the city by 12 o'clock. Good-by!" "Get up, Willie! It's most 9 o'clock. Breakfast's cold and the hens are starving." "Blame the old hens! Let 'em starve. They haven't laid for a month anyhow!"

Moral—The early hen gets the early worm; the early worm makes the early egg; the early egg makes the almighty dollar. Give your hens a good big dose of early risers for breakfast and buy a seat in Wall street.

THE CHAMPION LAYER.

When a poultryman keeps White Leghorns, he sees a big difference when he changes breeds. We believe them to be the whitest and the prettiest extant. They can read you like a book. They know your mood as soon as you step into the pen. They are flighty or calm, just as you are. Cranky people, cranky Leghorns. They are the champion foragers, fliers and layers.

THE CHAMPION.

It for an inspiration. Put in a larger nest egg, and her eggs increase in size. You can't beat her. She never loaf. Her egg pops out so quickly the mites can't catch her. If you aren't sharp, you can't catch her. She understands English and hates swearing. She will love you if you are lovely, but, being high bred, she appreciates quality. "But the Leghorn is small for market." Yes, but fine flesh is for epicures, not for gluttons, just as Leghorn hats are for beautiful maidens, not for coarse swineherds. The Leghorn is "quality, not quantity"—"best goods done up in small packages that cost less and taste better."

FEATHERS AND EGGSHELLS.

Shove those cutts to the high priced market. Don't stand under when the drop comes. Fresh eggs, like government bonds, are at a premium. The egg is the national asset. Invest. Eggnog is not now the fad. It is cheaper to take it straight. Spruce beer is needed to keep some lazy poultrymen straight. Why do so many poultry medicine firms offer "swelled head" remedies for prizes? Did you win? When a man has lots of greed his hen gets little feed. The liberal man has a full egg pan. What is needed by the man who sells dirty eggs? A drubbing and scrubbing. Hands up! Are you getting lots of big fresh

CURE YOUR KIDNEYS

Why will people continue to suffer the agonies of kidney complaint, backache, urinary disorders, lameness, headaches, languor. Why allow themselves to become chronic invalids, when a certain cure is offered them? Doan's Kidney Pills is the remedy to use, because it gives to the kidneys the help they need to perform their work. If you have any, even one, of the symptoms of kidney disease, cure your self now, before diabetes, dropsy or Bright's disease sets in. Mrs. L. Holson, of 717 Aura St., Pendleton, Ore., says: "I just as enthusiastically endorse Doan's Kidney Pills today as I did nearly three years ago. They relieved me of kidney trouble which had bothered me for a considerable time. There was aching pains across the small of my back and down through my kidneys, which were aggravated by colds which settled in the back and loins and caused an aching lameness. This was my condition when I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills. This remedy banished the backache and pains through the loins, regulated the kidney secretions and removed every symptom of the trouble. From that day to this there has been no recurrence, and I give Doan's Kidney Pills all the credit. I consider them to be the best kidney remedy procurable and recommend them whenever the occasion arises." For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N.
