BONBONS AND CHOCOLATES

WISE TALKS BY U. S. LOUGHARY'S OFFICE BOY

Have you had any leap-year proposals yet? I haven't had any but I have had a very strong hint, nothing short of a box of yum-yums. Of course it was my birthday but I wasn't looking for it. I heard a good one about a polite young man who had just had a proposal from a nice girl. He couldn't accept but he was saying, "I will always be a brother to you," when she up and said, "Brother, nothing; if that was what I wanted I could pull one out from under the sofa right now." I went to a leap year party the other night and, say, it was fierce. One girl actually proposed to a young friend of mine and was accepted and they were wedded right on the spot by jumping over a broom that was purchased at U.S. Loughary's store. We have fine brooms for 25c, but I think our bon-bons (assorted) and chocolate creams are more in line for social occasions. They are surely the all-right merchandise for birthday and wedding gifts. Some come in fancy boxes and some of the glace fruits are in burnt-wood boxes, mission style. Get a line on our sweetmeats. WILLIE
