Aged Woman Passes Away.
Mrs. Elizabeth Maxfield died at her home in this city, Sunday, aged 78 years. Mrs. Maxfield was born in Kentucky in 1830 and afterward moved to Indiana, where she resided until 1864 when she crossed the plains to Oregon, settling near McCoy. She afterward moved to Independence where she made her home until about three weeks ago when she came with her family to Dallas. Her husband died in Independence more than a year ago and she is survived by only her five children: Mrs. William Hunter, of Corvallis; Donald M. Samuel, May and Angie, of Dallas. The funeral was held yesterday and the remains were taken to Bethel for burial.

Ballston Man Accidentally Shot.
Rodney Bowman was accidentally shot by a 22-calibre rifle in the hands of Mrs. Bowman at his home near Ballston last week. Mr. and Mrs. Bowman had been out hunting and upon their return to the house Mrs. Bowman proceeded to clean the rifle, and while doing so, it was accidentally discharged, the bullet entering Mr. Bowman's leg above the knee, passing upward and through the leg, coming out at the thigh a foot above the point of entering. Surgical services were at once secured, the wound skillfully treated, and without the intervention of blood poisoning no serious injury will result.—Sheridan Sun.

IN THE SOCIAL REALM
Season of Hallowe'en Most Appropriately Celebrated by Merry Parties.

The members of the Entre Nous Club gave a most enjoyable Hallowe'en party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Guy, Friday night. The rooms were beautifully decorated with autumn leaves, while to keep up the spirit of the evening's entertainment, lighted Jack-o-lanterns grinned jovially out of every nook and corner. The guests came dressed, as the invitations had demanded, in ghostly attire, and the evening was merrily spent in various games and fortune telling tricks characteristic of the Hallowe'en season, and a most delicious luncheon was served.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Guy, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Soehren, Dr. and Mrs. L. A. Bollman; Misses Mina Hughes, Maud Hart, Evangeline Hart, Nora Robertson, Claire Patrick, Maud Robertson, Fannie Dempsey, Oille Howe, Effa Brown, Flora McCallon, Florence Burton, of Independence; Messrs. N. L. Guy, W. I. Ford, R. E. Williams, Harry Gaynor and R. R. Hill.

An enjoyable Hallowe'en party was given by Mrs. R. McLennan and Misses Ida and Anna Staffin at the home of the former Saturday night. The whole house upstairs and down was elaborately decorated with evergreen, autumn leaves and appropriate Hallowe'en symbols and the evening was spent in playing various Hallowe'en games. A delicious luncheon was served during the evening.

The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Soehren, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Kaerth, Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Staffin, Mrs. Tripp, Mrs. Martha Staffin; Misses Frankie Hayter, Nora Robertson, Effa Brown, Josephine Jacobson, Catherine Olin and Ella Pearson; Messrs. Ponso Manston, R. E. Williams, Julius Essig, Christy Staffin, Fred Olin, Dean Collins and James Shaw.

Body Not Recovered.
All efforts of the crew of U. S. dredge Mathloma, have so far failed to recover the body of Walter Thomas, who lost his life by drowning last Wednesday off the Mathloma in which J. A. Gwinn and Harley Ryan had a narrow escape from the same fate. The crew of the Mathloma dragged the river from Salem bar to Kaiser's Rapids, four miles below Salem, and Sunday they used a quantity of dynamite, but met with no success. The boy's father is still over at the scene, and with some of the boys from Salem, doing all in their power to aid the crew of the dredge in their efforts to locate the body of the unfortunate lad.—Statesman.

Highly Entertaining Lectures.
The lectures of Dr. George Gilbert Bancroft given at the Woodman Hall, Friday and Saturday night were well attended and the Y. M. C. A. of Dallas College, under whose auspices the entertainments were held, cleared a handsome sum from the sale of tickets. All who were present at the lectures speak highly in praise of Dr. Bancroft and his work and, should he return to Dallas at some future date, he would doubtless be greeted by a larger house than ever before.
