The way to build up Dallas is to patronize Dallas people.

OUR NATION'S COMMUNION.

Thanksgiving day is close at hand and before our next issue greets our readers, will have already begun to shrink back into the mass of vari-colored yesterday that go to make up the mosaic of history.

A day in which to offer up thanks, and it really seems that, even if we had nothing else for which to be thankful, we might with perfect propriety devote the entire day to a formal giving of thanks to those shrewd old Pilgrim Fathers for their benificent wisdom in establishing for us the custom of Thanksgiving.

Thanksgiving day comes like the call of a church bell to attract the attention of us busy Americans from our frantic pursuit and persistent worship of the lesser deities of wealth, ambition, luxury or other idols of an even baser forging, and directs it, for a moment at least, fully and formally to that basal Force which is the source of all these lesser things whose benefits we enjoy. And it is thus that we are restrained from drifting quite away into a modern and refined system of idolatry.

There is one day in the year when every person in the United States can kneel before a common shrine, and, whether on Thanksgiving day he addresses his prayers in the name of Allah, Jehovah, or any one of the thousand names by which men designate the Great Father of the Universe, there is after all, one anthem the spirit of which is common to all human tongues and the expression of which is common to all human hearts—"Te Deum laudamus."

LEAGUE SEASON TO OPEN

Dallas and McMinnville Basketball Teams Will Play First Game Saturday Night.

The Dallas College basketball team will play its first league game for the season of 1908-09 in the gymnasium in Dallas next Saturday night, against the team from McMinnville College.

Although three of the players on the old championship team of last year are not attending school this year and the line-up is almost new, the Dallas aggregation has been showing up strongly in practice and apparently stands about as good a show to carry off the pennant this year as it did at the beginning of any of the previous League seasons.

The team will be lined up Saturday night as follows: forwards, Rice and Fenton; center, Simonton; guards, Claud Shaw and Lew Ballantyne. The team opens the season with a stronger organization than was hoped for earlier in the year and, although it will be somewhat crippled near the middle of the season by the departure of some of the men on the Eastern tour with "The Oregons", it bids fair to give the other league teams as hard a fight for the pennant as ever before.

Two new volumes have just been received at the Dallas Free Library, The Red City by Mitchell, and The Voice of the City by O'Henry.

Miss Ethel Tooze was in Dallas yesterday enroute from Eugene, where she is attending school, to her home in Falls City for a vacation visit.

A message received from Salem, Monday, announced that Dr. R. E. L. Steiner is recovering from his recent serious illness and is now practically out of danger.

BIG BUSINESS TRANSFER

Craven Brothers of Independence, Buy Hardware Establishment of William Faull.

One of the largest business deals of the present year in Dallas has been consummated in the transfer of the Faull hardware store from the hands of William Faull, who has for 22 years been sole proprietor of the establishment, into the control of Messrs. J. R. and J. M. Craven, of Independence, who will take charge of the business as soon as the invoice of stock can be completed.

Mr. Faull began business in Dallas, June 1, 1886, in the old bank building, with limited capital and a small stock of goods and remaining in the same business continuously up to the present time, developed his establishment into one of the largest and best equipped in Dallas.

In 1892 the growth of his business made it necessary for him to move into new quarters and he erected the brick building now occupied by the main portion of his store. Further expansion became necessary in 1902 and warehouses were built in the rear of the main building to accommodate his rapidly growing lines of stock. As Mr. Faull retires he is rated as the pioneer merchant of Dallas, there being no others remaining in business, who started at the same time Mr. Faull did. The Dallas merchants of today all belong to the "second generation," so to speak.

Mr. Faull says that he intends to retire permanently from active business life. He will continue to make his home in Dallas however.

His successors, the Craven Brothers, come from Independence with a high reputation for strict integrity and excellent business ability. Both have had considerable previous experience in their line and will no doubt continue to develop the excellent business that they have secured and maintain their establishment among the front ranks of the business houses of Dallas.

PLAN TO BUILD HOSPITAL

Citizens of Dallas Hold Mass Meeting To Discuss Proposed New Institution.

About sixty of the representative citizens of Dallas attended the meeting held in the Courthouse, Sunday afternoon for the purpose of discussing plans for the establishment of a hospital in this city.

Mayor A. B. Muir presided over the meeting and Dan P. Stouffer acted as secretary pro tem. The Rev. H. J. McDevitt, of Portland, in a brief address outlined the importance of the venture, the requirements for carrying it through and plans for the immediate beginning of the work.

The subject was generally discussed by those present and it was finally decided to appoint a committee of leading men to canvass the city and find out the attitude of the people toward the proposed improvement might be. Father McDevitt had stated in his address that to assure the establishment of the hosital it would be necessary for the citizens of Dallas to advance at least $3000 and during their canvass the members of the committee will solicit subscriptions and endeavor to find exactly what financial help can be assured in case the proposition is to be taken up and carried through.

About $185 was subscribed to the proposed hospital fund by men in the assembly, even before it adjourned, and it is anticipated that the call for assistance will meet with a liberal response from the progressive citizens of Dallas.

The men who were finally chosen to serve on the committee were: Mayor A. B. Muir, Ed Biddle, Dr. B. H. McCallon, E. N. Hall, Professor D. M. Metzger and R. E. Williams. The date for the next meeting has not been definitely set, being left to the discretion of the committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Jester, of Seattle, are visiting at the home of Dr. and Mrs. L. A. Bollman, while on their bridal tour. Mr. Jester is Mrs. Bollman's nephew.

Union Thanksgiving services will be held in the Christian Church, Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock the Rev. H. H. Farnham, of the Evangelical Church, presiding.

The funeral of the late Henry Howe was held in the Methodist church Friday afternoon, the Rev. M. P. Dixon preaching the funeral sermon. The remains were buried beside those of his wife in the old cemetery west of the Odd Fellows cemetery. The relatives from out of town who attended the final ceremonies were: Frank Howe, of Bellingham; Mr. and Mrs. Shoemake, of Seattle; Will Howe, of Spokane, and George Howe, of Corvallis.
