MANY BIRDS ARE ENTERED

Polk County Poultry Raisers' Second Annual Show Has Large Exhibit.

The second annual poultry show given by the Polk County Poultry Raisers Association opened Wednes-day morning with between 300 and 400 birds entered, and although unfavorable weather has limited the attendance considerably, is attracting many visitors from all parts of Polk and neighboring counties.

The show is being held on the lower floor of the college gymnasium, which is the only available building of sufficient size to accommodate the exhibits conveniently. During the first two days an admission fee of ten cents was charged to defray the inci-dental expenses of the show but today, the last day of the big exhibition of Polk county's best poultry, the doors will be thrown open and every one will be given free admission. The manage-ment has extended a special invitation to the school children of the city to pay a visit to the show during the day.

Marked improvement in every respect is shown in the exhibits this year. The entries are larger and a greater number of poultry fanciers are represented than before and the exhibits have been handled in a more systematic manner. Especially fine are the exhibits of Rhode Island Reds and Barred Plymouth Rocks.

The judging by Elmer Dixon, of Oregon City, was finished late yester-day afternoon and the coops of the prize winners are decorated this morn-ing with the official ribbon badges of the association.

The largest exhibitors are B. I. Fer-guson, of Eola, with his prize winning coops of Rhode Island Reds; N. L. Wiley, of Rex, whose exhibit consists entirely of Barred Plymouth Rocks; I. M. Garrison, of Forest Grove, with a number of Plymouth Rocks, Wyandottes and Brown Leghorns; and H. Ringhouse, of Gresham, with a num-ber of White Wyandottes.

The complete list of poultry fanciers having entries is as follows: William Tatom, G. A. Brock, N. M. Grant, A. G. Rempel, J. G. Rempel, D. A. Critchlow, Mrs. S. D. Steffy, Fred Homer, A. H. Harris, F. S. Ramsey, C. S. Graves, of Dallas; C. S. Marks, C. P. Cornwell, of Monmouth; Gerald Tillery, A. M. Tillery, of Ballston; T. W. Reel, J. E. Beezley, of Falls City; Holbrook Brothers, of Salem; E. S. Piper, of Portland; N. L. Wiley, of Rex; C. L. Ballard, of Rickreall; J. M. Garrison, of Forest Grove; J. L. Hos-kins, of Newberg; B. Z. Riggs, of Amity; B. I. Ferguson, of Eola; and H. Ringhouse, of Gresham.

Uncle Bill Brown has ordered 600 pounds of candy which he will dis-tribute among the children of Dallas at J. L. Castle's grocery store on Christ-mas. Every child that comes, from 13 years of age down will be entitled to a share of the Christmas treat.

Visitors from Black Rock and the logging camps further back in the mountains report a heavy fall of snow accompanied by exceedingly cold weather. Residents in the valley dis-tricts have had no snow as yet, while the weather has been severely cold only during the past two days. Con-sidering that it is almost Christmas and this is the first winter weather experienced the people of the Willam-ette Valley should have little to com-plain about on that score.

The Portland Journal of Wednes-day's issue contains the following item about Ralph Bennett, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Bennett, of this city. "Happy as a child could be, eight-year-old Ralph Bennett, of Dallas, is watching his artificial limbs being made by B. C. Linstrom, of New York, at his Portland shop, 27 1/2 Morrison street. 'It is one of the most difficult cases that I have seen in my 16 years' experience,' said Mr. Linstrom, Wednesday morning, 'but I shall have him walking inside of two weeks.' The child has never walked, owing to his deformed limbs."

Olives, Pickles Etc

WISE TALKS BY U. S. LOUGHARYS OFFICE BOY

I know what's the matter with me. I thought I had indigestion or dys-pepsia or something like that. By gum, I couldn't eat lately and felt weak and lifeless. Now I know what it is. I'm in love—got it bad too. If I didn't, you needn't think I'd kiss you that oft look on my face, and roll my eyes like I had fits, and to CUT IT OUT. Now to business—you can't mix love and vinegar, or sentiment with pickles and chow-chow. Don't tell anyone about my being in love, for if the old man hears of it again, he'll wallop me good and plenty. When you want good pickles or olives or any nice kind of relishes, come straight to Loughary's store. We have received 500 pounds of candies for Christmas trade. We are now using on our third sack of those fine walnuts, everybody says they are the best ever.

Keep Your Horses Warm

Freeze yourself if you enjoy it. Sit on the seat and shiver all the time you are driving, but for goodness sake when you hitch, see that your horse is blanketed. You owe that much to your faithful servant, even if you didn't—its business—It costs less to keep a horse if you keep him warm.
Many a horse has gone to the bone yard because of the need of a blanket.
