hospital in Salem, Saturday, after an illness of only a few weeks, her death months ago. Miss VanTassel was came to Oregon with her stepfather, Frank Fuchs, about five years ago and has lived in this state since that time. The funeral was held at the Societies Give Creditable Programs.

The Philadelphian and Utopian literary societies held their open programs in the college chapel Saturday and Monday nights respectively. Both programs were well prepared and were highly creditable to the young people upon whose efforts their success depended. The most attractive features of the entertainments were the double quartette of male voices in the program Saturday night and the beautiful tableaux given by the young women last night to represent the more important educational institutions of Oregon and other states.

Keep Your Horses Warm

Freeze yourself if you enjoy it. Sit on the seat and shiver all the time you are driving, but for goodness sake when you hitch, see that your horse is blanketed. You owe that much to your faithful servant, even if you didn't—its business—It costs less to keep a horse if you keep him warm.

Many a horse has gone to the bone yard because of the need of a blanket.

There's no sense in it when I sell blankets as low as I do. Full-lined blankets from $1.50 to $2.50. Call and see for yourselves at the Harness Shop.

Olives, Pickles Etc

WISE TALKS BY U. S. LOUGHARYS OFFICE BOY

I know what's the matter with me. I thought I had indigestion or dyspepsia or something like that. By gum, I couldn't eat lately and felt weak and lifeless. Now, I know what it is. I'm in love—got it bad too. If I didn't, you needn't think I'd kiss Julia right in the mouth, in front of everybody, too. Father has warned me, though, to keep myself heart free for at least seven years yet. You see, I'm only 13 coming 14, and he says it's foolishness for a boy like me to get that calf look on my face, and roll my eyes like I had fits, and to CUT IT OUT. Now to business—you can't mix love and vinegar, or sentiment with pickles and chow-chow. Don't tell anyone about my being in love, for if the old man hears of it again, he'll wallop me good and plenty. When you want good pickles or olives or any nice kind of relishes, come straight to Loughary's store. We have received 650 pounds of candies for Christmas trade. We are now using on our third sack of those fine walnuts, everybody says they are the best ever.
