LONG ILLNESS IS ENDED

Miss Lucile Dalton Dies At Her Home In Dallas From An Attack of Tuberculosis.

Miss Lucile Dalton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Dalton, died at her home in this city yesterday morning after a long illness, her death being due to tuberculosis. She was confined to her bed for nearly a month during the later stages of the disease before death finally intervened.

Miss Dalton was only a little over 18 years of age when she died. She was born in Independence and attended public school in that city until 1900 when she moved with her parents to this city. Here she finished her public and high school education and was for two years a student in Dallas College.

Of a gentle and winsome personality, she was well beloved by all of her classmates and her untimely death casts a deep shade of sorrow over the opening days of their new college term.

The funeral will be held at one o'clock tomorrow afternoon from the Evangelical church and the classes from the college will be dismissed in the afternoon so that the student friends of the deceased may attend the services and pay fitting tribute to the memory of their departed classmate. The remains will be buried in the Odd Fellows' cemetery.

Keep Your Horses Warm

Freeze yourself if you enjoy it. Sit on the seat and shiver all the time you are driving, but for goodness sake when you hitch, see that your horse is blanketed. You owe that much to your faithful servant, even if you didn't—its business—It costs less to keep a horse if you keep him warm.

Many a horse has gone to the bone yard because of the need of a blanket.

There's no sense in it when I sell blankets as low as I do. Full-lined blankets from $1.50 to $2.50. Call and see for yourselves at the Harness Shop.

CITY COUNCIL MEETING

Ordinance Is Passed For Purchase of Site For New Reservoir.

The most important actions taken by the city council last night were the passage of the ordinance to have all curbing to be built in Dallas in future constructed of cement and the decision of the council to purchase one acre of land south of the city reservoir as a site for a new reservoir to be built soon.

A number of the citizens of Dallas appeared at the meeting last night and desired that the assessment for the construction of the new sewers in the city be based on superficial area of land and not on the valuation. A special meeting of the council has been set for next Monday evening, January 11, for the consideration of the question of this assessment.

Mayor Muir appointed the following members on the Library Commission: M. M. Ellis and Mrs. George T. Gerlinger for three years; Mrs. F. H. Morrison and J. G. VanOrsdal for two years, and Hon. U. S. Loughary and R. E. Williams for one year.

First Snowfall of Season.

The thermometer down to 20 degrees above zero (the lowest it has fallen this season) a heavy fall of snow covering the ground and more coming, were the somewhat unusual conditions the people of Dallas found surrounding them this morning. The snow is fine and dry, and driven by a north wind, bids fair to "hang on" for some time, a circumstance that will no doubt bring "large gloats of joy" to the festive schoolboy and equally large burdens of disgust to those who have lived in Oregon long enough to have become wedded to its usually mild climate (both in summer and winter) and whose dignity removes from them then the gentle joys of snowballing and coasting.
