

Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Fattening Beef.
It is entirely practicable by simple, natural, economic methods to produce prime beefs from 1,400 to 1,600 pounds in weight at from twenty to thirty months. The greatest weight of beef can be made with a given amount of feed during the first twenty months of a steer's life.

Keep It in the Bottle.
Bottled milk, being sealed with a cap, cannot absorb odors and should be left in the bottle until used, not emptied into an open dish.

RAMBOUILLET SHEEP.
A Breed That Stands High Among the Wool Producers.
A breed of sheep that during the last twenty years has come to the front in this country is the Rambouillet, a French breed, that is by many classes with the Merino. It is the largest of the fine wool sheep and comes close to being a general purpose animal. The appearance of the head is characteristic, being covered with a dense growth of wool extending over the face and around the eyes. The body is deep and well fleshed, and the chest is deep. The neck is rather thick, but comparatively free from wrinkles. Ears are short and silky, legs short and straight. Yield of fleece is very heavy because of its thickness and combination of length and fineness. It is bright and lustrous and in a good specimen is of even quality. As compared with the Spanish Merino, the Rambouillet is considered a better mutton form, with more weight and quality of fleece and greater hardiness. Many of the American flocks were started from German sources, some of the best types of the breed having been developed in the northern part of that country. The first importations were known as the French Merinos, but the present name has been generally adopted during the past twenty years.

Summons.

In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for Polk County, Department No. 2.
A. J. Wilson, Plaintiff, vs. James Sparks and Sparks, his wife; Andrew Sparks and Sparks, his wife; Elizabeth Goddard and Goddard, her husband; Wm. Holcomb and Holcomb, his wife; Thomas Holcomb and Holcomb, his wife; Mary Evans and Evans, her husband; Mary Garrison and Garrison, her husband; Sadie Taylor and Taylor, her husband; Daniel White and White, his wife; Henry White and White, his wife; and Catherine McGarry and McGarry, his wife; et al., the above named defendants.

In the Name of the State of Oregon—You are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled suit, on or before the expiration of six weeks from the date of the last publication of this summons, to wit: On or before May 15th, 1909, at the place of holding Court, in the said County, for the purpose of presenting your objections to the relief prayed for in the complaint, to wit: That you and each one of you, you heirs and sever in the following described premises, to wit: Beginning at the Southeast corner of the D. L. C. of Mathews and wife, in Tp. 6 S., R. 6 W. of the Willamette Meridian in Polk County, Oregon; thence N. 10° E. 1/2 Sec. 12, 122° E. thence S. 1/2 Sec. 12, 122° E. to the place of beginning.

The date of the first publication of this summons is April 18, 1909, and the date of the last publication is May 15, 1909. This summons is Judge in and for Polk County, Oregon, and made and entered at Chambers in the City of Dallas, Polk County, Oregon, on April 18, 1909.

W. L. TOOZE, JR., and L. D. BROWN, Attorneys for the plaintiff.

AS A mutton producer the breed ranks fairly well, although not maturing so quickly as some breeds and producing a coarser mutton than some others. Yet it matures fairly early and produces a salable class of mutton, probably superior to any other of the Merino breeds. At the international stock show the Rambouillet mutton was priced at $5 per hundred, live weight, compared with $5.75 for the Southdown.

The ram shown in the illustration was sold in South Africa in 1907 for $1,000 and later in Argentina for $1,600. It weighed 300 pounds, wool 37 1/2 pounds. It was raised by Thomas Wyckoff of Michigan, who pronounces the breed "the greatest mutton and wool sheep on earth."

Feeding the Calf.

The aim in calf feeding should always be to prevent scours, and this is one of the things which should be watched closely. This ailment in skimmilk calves is the result of indigestion brought on, as a rule, by overfeeding, but also by feeding skimmilk in poor condition and from dirty pails. Every feeder of skimmilk to calves must soon or later learn this lesson. He must learn that if the calf has scours the feeder is not doing his work right. In the case of scours reform your system of feeding instead of purchasing the many remedies advertised, and in dairy farming one of the important qualifications is the learning not only of making but of saving money. There are numerous and most excellent home remedies for scours, and I do not venture a recommendation. In our experience of rearing several hundred pure bred calves we have not had to exceed a dozen cases of scours, and these were in our early experience. One or two raw eggs broken into a calf's mouth have cured such cases.—T. A. Borman at Missouri State Dairy Association.

Points For the Shepherd.

Oats, wheat bran, linseed meal, clover hay and roots are the best foods for breeding ewes.

No young animal will attain to as good results as the one liberally fed. This applies to lambs as well as other animals.

Sheep are dainty feeders. They will not eat hay that other creatures have mused over. They refuse grain taken from a ratty crib.

An excellent plan in handling sheep is to provide well protected yards into which they may be turned on fine days and have a shed for the stormy, blustery weather.

Put the unthrifty appearing ewes by themselves and give a little extra feed. Perhaps they are suffering from the greed of the hoes in the flock and are not getting a full ration.

Damp Stables.

Damp stables are caused by a lack of sufficient circulation of air to take up the moisture. When the barometer wishes to dry your face quickly he uses a fan to circulate the air about your face and thus take up the moisture. Every cow is throwing off from seven to ten pounds of water every twenty-four hours. It will condense on cold walls unless sufficient fresh air is circulated through the stable and often enough to dry it up. There is no other way to take up this moisture or prevent it. In regard to the temperature of a stable, keep it at 50 to 55 degrees. But in all these things a stable must be properly ventilated.

Feeding the Brood Mare.
The brood mare should be liberally fed, but not to excess. She should have the best quality of well cured hay, oats and bran. Never feed hay that has become heated, nor musty oats or bran that has soured.

FEATHERS AND EGGSHELLS.
The easy winter in the east made some of the sports careless. The first zero weather caught them unaware, and long rows of roosters at the shows with black frozen combs and wattles told the story. We saved ours by watching the thermometer and placing them in covered boxes kept for the purpose.

The third day of incubation turn the eggs by rolling with the hand, or, if you prefer, mark eggs on two sides and turn each egg separately. Eggs should be turned twice a day up to the eighteenth day to exercise the embryo.

A newspaper on which was the thief's name was found in a robbed hen-coop near Lancaster. It led officers to the man's house, where six hens were found roosting. The pen is more powerful than the police.

The incubator companies are continually preaching the old hen of extinction, but with all her faults we love her still. If she is such a failure and a back number, why are the winners at the big shows hatched with these "awful clucks?"

We believe in incubators, use them and have won cups with birds hatched by machinery, but no incubator has yet been invented that can beat or equal mother hen in hatching and rearing vigorous, beautiful birds.

How is this for hoodoo? We selected a cock and two hens and sent them to a big fair. They came from a flock of thirteen, the cock wore the leg band thirteen and the secretary tagged them thirteen, and with all that they won ribbons for first cock, first hen and second hen.

The trap nest dealers advertise rapaciously over the profits that come from the method and the ease of manipulating their fancy jiggers, but they never tell how these trap nests make the roosters lay. Every fellow knows how roosters help hens bust the nests. Just as soon as the trap nest is set the rooster leads the way to show Biddy where to lay and is trapped, to his dismay.

The output of Kansas in poultry and eggs for 1908 is $34,000,000. Many of you eastern states step down to the foot of the class Old Pennsylvania, with her $19,483,480, will please bustle to spell bustle.

The Chester (Pa.) tuberculosis dispensary treated 750 patients and distributed 61,000 quarts of milk and 65,000 eggs during 1908. The poultryman or dealer who sells bad eggs to such an institution should meet with instant prosecution.

The Secret of a Beautiful Face lies in keeping the skin protected as well as cleaned. Just washing is not enough—that only leaves the delicate surface more exposed to the irritation of dust and germs; to merciless attacks of sun and weather. After washing, apply Robertine and experience its delightful refreshment. You will admire the lineless softness it imparts to face, neck and arms. It not only stimulates a radiant glow, but protects the skin from becoming coarse. Prevents burning, tan and freckles.

A TREACHEROUS TROUBLE

If You Suffer From Headaches and Dizzy Spells Do Not Mistake The Cause.

The headaches and dizzy feelings that trouble so many persons are often but symptoms of kidney complaint. Nature gives early warnings of every disease, if you would but note and heed them. Backache, twinges of pain when turning or lifting, headaches, faint spells, urinary disorders are among the first warnings of kidney trouble. If these signals are unheeded, there comes a steady, dull heavy aching in the back and loins, a noticeable weakness and loss of flesh, rheumatic attacks, swelling of the sight, irregular heart action, languor, attacks of gravel, irregular passages of the kidney secretions, depression, painful, scalding sensation, distention, bloating, etc. But there is no need to suffer long. Doan's Kidney Pills are all kidney troubles. This remedy has made a reputation for quick relief and lasting cures.

Home proof is convincing evidence of the efficiency of this remedy. Call on Belt & Cherrington's drug store, and see the statements of Dallas people who have used this remedy.
