WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION.
On September 29th, "Woman's Home Companion" assumed its final regular price of $1.50. The larger and better magazine and the increase in price have been endorsed during the past year both by our old friends and by one hundred and fifty thousand new readers. We are proud of the success of the Greater "Companion." But next year the "Companion" will be better still. It will be larger and richer than ever—and will contain new features never before attempted by a woman's magazine. The greater "Woman's Home Companion" at the Dollar-and-a-half price will be the most interesting, the most useful and the most beautiful woman's magazine published. With nearly a score of different practical departments for women, every one a complete little magazine in itself, "Woman's Home Companion" can promise for 1910 the most useful woman's magazine in the world.

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS
is the magazine which is preeminently up-to-the-minute as regards the topics of the day. Non-partisan in its attitude; international in its scope; and judiciously impartial in its findings, it is not only the busy man's short-cut to keeping abreast of the times, but the one "necessary" magazine for people of culture and discernment. Each month Dr. Albert Shaw interprets current events with a clarity and accuracy that are born only of a keen insight and a rare knowledge of men and affairs, in his profusely illustrated editorial, "The Progress of the World." "The Review's" character sketches of notable people are intensely interesting; of world-wide fame are its concise and comprehensive reviews of the best which has appeared in other periodicals; and its clever and graphic cartoon reproductions are culled from the newspapers of the world.

McCLURE'S MAGAZINE
Optimistic, enthusiastic, progressive and fearless, "McClure's" is indisputably the real exponent of the "American Idea" in the magazine world. Both in point of artistic make-up and literary merit, "McClure's" leads, by a wide margin, all other magazines. Its fiction is the best—being far more expensive than that of any other popular priced magazine on the market. From cover to cover you will find a distinctive snap and sparkle to "McClure's" that will compel your interest. Its problem articles are marked as only by their timeliness, but by a straight-from-the-shoulder directness and a regard for the truth. And when "McClure's" deems it necessary to point the accusing finger at any spot in the social, political or financial world, it is done so, not with muck-rakish glee, but with a desire to correct. For "McClure's" is fair, square and very American. You'll like it.
