

MONEY FOR MILK

Condenser Pays Farmers $66,900 in One Year.

The condenser a benefit to the surrounding country? The facts of the business done by the condenser for the year July 1 were secured by the Dunlap, the manager, and clearly demonstrate that during the year there has been a decrease in the price of milk for the factory 3,065,377 pounds, for which the company paid $12,576.47; making the average of the milk for the year 1930, at the factory. The price was paid during the same period $1,588.99, which, coupled with amount expended for fuel and other incidentals bought locally, makes a net of $10,987.48 distributed in the county during the year. The price of $1.71 per hundred is remarkably good, it seems that no question that this price is the highest and a record price during the coming year. The price of milk for July last year was to the dairyman at the factory, the price the company is now paying 11.60 or 20 cents per hundred more than last season. With plenty of milk in sight, no one will make a mistake by buying good cows now. The price is going away from home to get a cow, and remember that 50 cent a cow is almost a certainty, during the coming winter.—Amity Standard.

Farmers Get Electric Lights.
The Amity Standard says the electric light line between Amity and Dale is nearing completion. This will furnish electric lights for the farms in the valley and Ballston and for many farm homes along the river. Power will be furnished from the station.

DRY WEATHER INJURES

Willamette Valley Hop Yards Are Slightly in Need of Moisture.

E. M. Young, the well-known hop grower and buyer of Independence, was in Dallas on a business visit yesterday. Mr. Young has 92 acres in hop in this year. He estimates that he will get about three-fourths of the usual crop.

"The dry weather will cut down the yield materially in all parts of the Willamette Valley," said Mr. Young. "The short crop will not be caused so much from the heat as from the extremely dry weather. All yards I have visited are sadly in need of moisture, and unless rain falls within the next week or ten days, the buds will be small."

Mr. Young says the farmers have taken better care of their yards this year than for many years past. Cultivation has been thorough, and much spraying has been done. Growers have seemingly awakened to the fact that the loose and careless methods of caring for their yards in recent years has been a losing game. Mr. Young says he also finds a determination among the growers to insist on clean picking this season. The miserably dirty condition in which a majority of growers have marketed their crops in the last three or four years, has produced the buyers to such an extent that another dirty crop this year would almost have the effect of putting the Oregon growers out of business. There seems to be a determination among the farmers this year to pick clean, or not at all.

Asked for his estimate on the Oregon output this year, Mr. Young expressed the opinion that it would not exceed 85,000 bales.

Ten Dollars for One.
One of Polk County's wealthiest farmers, now retired, once told us that every advertisement published by him in the Observer's "Wanted" and "For Sale" column had paid him $10 for every $1 he paid us. He is now one of Portland's heavy property owners. Is not his experience worth considering the next time you have anything to buy or sell?

TO CREATE COMMITTEE

New Ordinance Gives Special Committee Charge of All Street Work.

The city council held an adjourned meeting last night and listened to the first reading of an ordinance creating a Special Street Committee.

The object of the ordinance is to take the active supervision of street work out of the hands of the regular Street Committee and place it in the hands of three members of the council composing the special committee. This special committee to be elected by the council.

The ordinance provides that the Special Street Committee is to have active supervision of all street improvement and to direct the work of the City Engineer, the latter officer to make his reports to this committee. As to the exact object in creating this new committee, the Observer is not informed, as it appears that the ordinance provides for giving the proposed new committee all of the power now possessed by the regular street committee, thereby rendering the regular committee a useless body.
