BOYS AND GIRLS CLUBS.

One of the most encouraging and interesting methods which have recently been employed to aid in the good work of spreading agricultural education has been through the organization of boys and girls' agricultural clubs in many states of the Union. These usually trace their beginning to competitive contests of one kind or another in which special awards have been offered. The work has spread and become more comprehensive until there are today clubs for corn growing, cotton growing, potato and fruit growing, poultry raising, live stock study, bird study, domestic science and art study and high school improvement. The work of these clubs seems to have first been given state wide aid and recognition in New York in 1898 through the work of the College of Agriculture of Cornell university in the publication of its nature study bulletins. Since that time the work has taken a great variety of forms and has been developed in a number of other states. In a number of instances the same work has been inaugurated through the far-sightedness and enterprise of some city or county superintendent. In the state of Nebraska, where the work has been very thoroughly organized, it has been carried on under the leadership of the state superintendent of public instruction in co-operation with the State Agricultural college. Practically every county in the state is now included in the plans. The boys grow their show corn and vegetables under directions sent out from headquarters, while the girls practice baking in accordance with recipes sent from the domestic science department of the state university.

Early in the fall a local contest is held in each school, the three prize winning exhibits and the three best essays being taken to the township show, then to a county exhibit and finally to the state corn growing and corn cooking contest at Lincoln. During this season a grand corn banquet is held, attended by from 2,000 to 3,000 of the brightest boys and girls from all over the state. In New York a similar plan is followed, the best exhibits from the local and county clubs being taken to the state exhibit held at the state college of agriculture during Farmers' week. In Ohio, Illinois, Iowa, Texas, Georgia and a few other states similar work has been adopted, if on a somewhat smaller scale. In number of members the boys' and girls' clubs of New York lead with 75,000; Nebraska has 25,000; Mississippi, 6,000; Indiana, Ohio and North Dakota, each 5,000 members. The work of these clubs has vast possibilities for expansion and usefulness, and should be given generous support by local, state and federal agricultural and educational agencies. The work of the clubs so far has not only meant more cotton, corn, potatoes, and small grain per acre, better bread and pastry, but it has aroused an interest in civic and social improvement and better home conditions, most of all enriching and making useful and helpful the lives of all those who have had a hand in it. Farmers' bulletin No. 385, recently issued, takes up the origin, scope and present work of the clubs above referred to and should be in the hands of every public school teacher and school official in the land.

EXTERMINATING FLEAS.

A lady reader of this department living near Ladoga, Ind., noticing the article which recently appeared on how to get rid of fleas, writes giving the method which was successfully used on a farm northeast of Athens, Ill., to which her family moved in the fall of 1896. She states that the fall on their arrival and the next summer they were almost eaten alive by fleas, and she doesn't see how the stock survived either. There were fleas in the cow shed, fleas in the barn and barnyard, fleas in woodshed, with plenty in the house. The fall of 1897 and the early winter was warm, so that they had fleas most all winter. The following spring before the fleas had thawed out and begun to hop her husband and the hired man dug out and hauled afield all of the manure about the premises—every bit, clean to the ground. They also raked all of the litter out of the wood and carriage sheds and burned that. They expected the fleas as usual, but none turned up, nor have any appeared on the place since. Attacked when they were, the frosty morning and spring rains seem to have finished them. Of course, as our correspondent suggests, this plan will do no good for the balance of this year, but the flea pestering might keep it in mind to carry out next spring.

THE ARMY CUTWORM.

Measures to Be Taken to Prevent or Destroy This Insect Pest.

According to R. A. Cooley, state entomologist of Montana, the army cutworm, which has proved so serious a pest in some parts of the country, should be fought as follows:

Under the head of "Prevention" Mr. Cooley says:

Since the moths are out and laying their eggs in the latter part of August and in September it is of much importance that fallow grain lands be kept as free of weeds and volunteer grain as possible in order that the moths may be induced to lay their eggs elsewhere, for they will not deposit eggs in the soil of a cleanly kept field. Likewise it is desirable to keep the borders of the fields free of inviting vegetation. Suspected fields intended for planting in sugar beets, cabbages and similar crops should be tested in the spring before planting by the use of a few belt plants or some fresh vegetation scattered about over the bare soil to discover whether or not it is safe to plant out the crop. After a day or two if the worms are present they will be found to have eaten the belt plants or will be in hiding near the scattered fresh vegetation.

If the worms are found to be present and abundant enough to threaten the proposed crop it is well to scatter poisoned vegetation on the field. Alfalfa or other fresh vegetation may be selected for this purpose. It should be cut and dipped into a barrel containing Paris green and water in the proportion of one pound to fifty gallons or the same strength of solution may be sprayed on the standing vegetation, which after it is dry may be cut and taken directly to the infested field. In the absence of other vegetation on the field the worms will gather in the scattered piles of poisoned vegetation and get a fatal dose of arsenic.

This treatment is, of course, advisable only where the value of the proposed crop warrants the necessary expense.

Under the head of "Remedies" Mr. Cooley says:

To protect plants grown from seeds as well as transplanted crops a poisoned bran mash bait may be used. Thoroughly mix dry bran with enough Paris green to give it a distinct though not deep greenish color, or four ounces to ten pounds of bran, then add water enough to make it wet, but not sloppy.

SCIENCE ON THE FARM.

Enables the Farmer to Trade $2 For $5, Says a Scientist.

"Carrying Scientific Agriculture to the Farmer" was recently discussed by Dean H. L. Russell, University of Wisconsin. Scientific agriculture is permanent agriculture. The Chinese have a more fertile soil than ours because they have applied scientific agriculture. Holland produces thirty bushels of wheat per acre. We produce thirteen bushels.

Great interest could be aroused by convincing our people that there is an undiscovered continent whose soil is as productive as ours. We will find that continent when we discover the methods by which our soils can be made to double their production. Our experiment stations have discovered the secret, but that will do no good until the tillers of the soil understand it. The publications of our stations must reach our people and be read by them. Information must be put in concrete form; it must be visualized.

Three things are necessary in farming—first, improved seed; second, improved production; third, reduction of loss.

We are appointing county demonstrators who go into each county and employ the "show me" method of farming. Corn, wheat and other grains and crops are planted and the cultivation done before the farmer and his help.

The farmer may be prejudiced against new methods, but this opposition yields when he is shown the better way. Wisconsin was driven from raising wheat by the chinch bug, but this bug was a godsend to agriculture because the farmers went into the dairy business.

By growing wheat we increased our bank account and depleted our soils; by drying we both increase our bank account and the fertility of our farms. The purchase of $2 worth of phosphorus on a stock farm increased our crops $9 worth. We are always willing to trade $2 for $9. There is a limited amount of phosphorus in our soil, and to keep up the phosphorus content we buy for $10 as much phosphorus in the raw rock as we formerly got for $25 in the treated goods. The far $25 in the treated goods. The far $25 in the treated goods. The far $25 in the treated goods.

Read September Sunset.

Read "Arizona the 47th Star" by Governor Richard E. Sloan, and "Fremont and the Bear Flag War" by William Simpson in Sunset for September now on sale at all news stands, fifteen cents.

Uncle George Webb of La Grande, once state treasurer, celebrated his eighty-sixth birthday this week.

A Burglar in Town

His name is "bad cough." He doesn't care for gold or silver but he will steal your health away. If he appears in your house arrest him at once with Ballard's Horehound Syrup. It may mean consumption if you don't cure for all coughs, colds and chest troubles.

Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by Conrad Stafirin.

The Gratitude of Elderly People.

Goes out to whatever helps give them ease, comfort and strength. Foley Kidney Pills cure kidney and bladder diseases promptly, and give comfort and relief to elderly people. Sold by Conrad Stafirin.

Medford is growing by leaps and bounds, says the Mail-Tribune. Yet rapid as the improvements are, they cannot keep pace with the demands. There is not now and has not been in five years a vacant building or a house to let. And Medford's future is brighter on this first day of September than ever.

When Merit Wins.

When the medicine you take cures your disease, tones up your system and makes you feel better, stronger and more vigorous than before, that is what Foley Kidney Pills do for you. In all cases of backache, headache, nervousness, loss of appetite, sleeplessness and general weakness that is caused by any disorder of the kidneys or bladder. Sold by Conrad Stafirin.

To Kill Bull Thistles.

Bull thistles, common in pastures, cannot always be killed by mowing. Mowing tends to prevent maturity of seed. Cutting off the thistles just below the surface of the ground two or three times a year will effectually eradicate them.
