OUR MARKET LETTER

Receipts and Sales at Portland Union Stock Yards.

PORTLAND, Or., Oct. 29—Receipts at the Portland Union Stock Yards for the week ending today have been as follows: Cattle, 1,321; calves, 333; hogs, 2,238; sheep, 2,356; goats, 319. The cattle market has been steady to a shade stronger than for the week preceding, with a prompt call for all arrivals. The quantity of thin cattle coming into the market at this time indicates that the earlier plans for extensive feeding this winter in territory tributary to this market, have been changed. Due to a tightening of the money market, intending cattle feeders were not able to get the money necessary for their winter and spring operations, and in consequence many of the cattle that should have gone into feed lots are now coming to market. Killers are somewhat alarmed over the promised shortage of quality cattle for the early spring brought to bear in order that more cattle will go into feed lots. This is a profitable branch of the livestock business and those who make a study of conditions make the statement that this is a year when high-priced feed can be put into cattle with safety.

The hog market has been adjusted in keeping with the market East. The lower level of prices in comparison with the high mark has been set at all of the central markets in the United States, and at the lower level the market has been steady to strong. In the large proportion of the supplies of this market came from Nebraska points. The sheep market has been fairly well supplied and prices have been steady to strong. An attractive demand exists for a liberal quantity of sheep, especially of good quality. Buyers are a little bit alarmed over the scarcity of fed sheep in the country and commission firms are asking for shipments from distant points.

Much interest is manifested in the forthcoming meeting of the National Wool Growers Association, which will be held in Portland January 4 to 7, 1911 and the big Sheep Show that will be given at that time.

Representative sales have been as follows: Steers, $4.65 to $5.65; hogs, $9.35 to $9.60; cows, $3 to $4.70; lambs, $4.75; wethers, $4.75; ewes, $3.35.

CHAMBERS' FRANK ANSWER

Will Oppose Repeal of Any Law Enacted by People.

TOLEDO, Or., Oct. 29—At a recent meeting of the Lincoln County Farmers' Association, the officers were instructed to request the candidates for Joint Representative from Polk and Lincoln counties to define their attitude toward the direct primary law, including the initiative and referendum, the recall, and Statement No. 1. In answer to this request, the following signed statement has been issued by Fred W. Chambers, the Republican candidate:

"To the Lincoln County Farmers' Association—Your letter asking questions relative to certain political questions and as to progressive legislation duly received. In reply thereto will say that I am heartily in favor of the direct primary law. I will support the same at all times, and will oppose any effort to repeal or amend said law, or any other law now enacted or to be enacted by the people of Oregon, as I believe the people themselves should be the ones to repeal or amend any law enacted by them. I will be elected by the people, in case of my election, and will do all in my power to advance their interest and will oppose special interests and special privileges. FRED W. CHAMBERS."

Owen, Mrs. W. H. Walker, Mrs. P. H. Drexler, Mrs. G. A. Wilcox, Mrs. W. R. Allen, Mrs. G. W. Conkey and Mrs. J. E. Hubbard. The town was thoroughly canvassed by a number of girls and young married women. The library rooms were tastefully decorated and here tea was served.

THEORY VS. PRACTICE

PROHIBITION IMPOSSIBLE UNLESS PEOPLE WANT IT.

Voters Should Consider Actual Conditions Rather Than Fervid Oratorical Appeals.

(Hillsboro Independent.) Last week The Independent gave an outline of the address of Captain Dan Smith; this week it sketches the remarks on the other side of the question by Rev. E. P. Hughes. An analysis of the two addresses shows that up to a certain point both speakers are in accord, and they only diverge later when it comes to remedies suggested. Both admit the same evils and the desirability of curbing them, but while one endeavors to show that the remedy suggested has failed wherever tried, the other dismisses that phase of the question by suggesting that if it fails it will prove popular government a failure.

Now, while not ready to admit that popular government has proved a failure in all respects, there are not lacking those ready to prove that it has proved inadequate in enforcing the legislation proposed by Mr. Hughes unless backed by an overwhelming public sentiment. In the case of Hillsboro the lack of that sentiment is proven by the fact that sufficient demand exists to furnish business for four liquor dealers. The passage of a law cannot entirely wipe out that demand. It is safe to presume that in the event of its passage the present dealers would close their places, leaving the demand to be met by the bootlegger and joint keeper. Following the passage of a prohibitory law The Independent believes an honest effort will be made by the authorities to enforce it, but as mankind is much the same the world over the same result will follow as elsewhere.

In Dallas we find both newspapers advising the licensed saloon rather than the unlicensed joint. Tax levies have jumped from 4.1 mills in 1908, when the town was wet, to 5.8 in 1909, when it was dry, at least dry in theory. Not only this, but communications from prominent Polk county citizens dispute the assertion by prohibition speakers that people have been attracted to the county because it was supposedly dry, and point to the fact that families have actually removed from at least one town because of the demoralization caused by the bootlegger and blind pig.

It is for this reason that thoughtful people, in thorough accord with Mr. Hughes in his desire to better conditions, hesitate to accept his remedy. It is unfortunate that the intolerance prevalent and there are those who class with the dive keeper the man unwilling to accept a remedy he knows ineffectual. But we believe good citizenship and loyalty to state demand that we be not swayed by fervid oratory or sentimental appeal, but reach a decision by careful consideration of the hard, cold facts, not as we believe they would be or as we would have them, but as experience has actually proved.

A Plea for Majority Rule.

E. E. Fisher, ex-mayor of Beaverton; T. E. Hills, ex-state commander G. A. R.; Hon. R. C. Thompson of Tualatin; Theo. Pointer, George Stitt and 599 other legal voters and residents of the portion of Washington county proposed to be annexed to Multnomah have signed a remonstrance and ask that the boundary lines be not changed. Less than 300 voters within the strip signed the remonstrance and the remainder of the county is practically a unit against it. Let the majority rule. All county divisions should be decided by the wishes of the people affected. By not voting at all you give half a vote for the measure. Multnomah, all powerful does not need one-fourth of Washington county to further increase her power in the state. The loss of the territory will practically ruin Washington, which is already small in area. We ask you to vote 333 X No.—W. D. Wood, Chairman Anti-Annexation Committee, Hillsboro, Oregon. CURED TO STAY CURED.

How Dallas Citizens Can Find Complete Freedom From Kidney Troubles.

If you suffer from backache—From urinary disorders—From many diseases of the kidneys. Be cured to stay cured. Doan's Kidney Pills make lasting cures. Grateful people testify. Here's one case of it.

Mrs. Lydia Pearson, D. St., McMinnville, Ore., says: "I do not hesitate to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as I considered them an excellent remedy. I suffered a great deal from kidney trouble and had acute pains in the small of my back. I was also subject to headaches and felt tired nearly all the time. I tried a number of remedies but was not relieved until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. I continued taking this remedy until I was free from kidney disease." (Statement given in August, 1907.)

WOMAN'S SHARE IN POLITICS

Timely Opinion by Miss Alice Hill Chittenden, of New York.

One of the fundamental differences between the suffragist and Anti-suffragist as I see it, is that the former clings to the belief that the ballot in itself is a panacea for all existing evils and all powerful as a remedy for all ills of government, while the latter recognizes, in these opening years of the 20th Century, the development of a power more potent than the ballot—a power which at present we call education or enlightened public opinion. The ballot hasn't solved our child labor problem and never will. The ballot hasn't solved the negro trouble, it has troubled rather to complicate it, but an awakened public opinion has decreed that these problems and others akin to them shall be taken out of the realm of politics and be considered and dealt with from an economic and humanitarian point of view, and this is being done through the conferences and congresses on child labor, the care of dependent children, tuberculosis and other questions, which are being held throughout this country to-day. And in these conferences the woman's voice is heard equally with the man's. She isn't excluded from participation in such work because she hasn't a vote, neither is her influence lessened as a member of these committees for that reason. Here is a great field of activity and usefulness for woman, a rare chance to serve the state.

I do not hesitate to say that those of us who are opposing the extension of suffrage to our sex, entirely eliminate the personal element in our consideration of this subject. It is not a question of whether we want to vote or do not want to vote.

We have the welfare and development of our country at heart and after a studious contemplation of the governmental principles involved, we are firmly convinced that such a revolutionary change in our constitution as the best interests of the state, its women and the home, and would be a step backward rather than one in advance.

A man in public life when interviewed this winter on the subject of woman suffrage said "Somewhere within the borders of this country today there are men who are bringing up four Presidents, one hundred cabinet officers, three hundred Senators and five thousand representatives who have been between the years of 1930 and 1950 will be making the history of this country and measurably the history of the world."

Woman can have her share in politics if she will. The ballot isn't all. The mere ballot she is so eager to clutch doesn't in the balance of politics count for more than an ounce in a ton.

A Word to Voters

Having received the nomination on the Democratic ticket for County Treasurer, I wish to say to the voters of Polk County that if elected, I will accept the office and will transact the business of the office in a manner that will be a credit to myself and the whole people of Polk county which I represent.

I was born near Arlie, February 11, 1874. After attending the public schools at Arlie and Lewisville for a number of years, I entered the Monmouth State Normal School, where I graduated at the age of nineteen. The following seven years I taught school in three districts, after which I performed the duties of Deputy Assessor and Deputy Sheriff for four years. I then purchased a confectionery store at Dallas, which I conducted for two years, since which I have been following the profession of bookkeeper.

I believe that I can truthfully say that my work has always been satisfactory to my employers and agreeable to their customers with whom I came in contact. TRACY STAATS. (Paid Advertisement.)

WARNING TO ELECTORS

WHAT CONSTITUTES VIOLATION OF CORRUPT PRACTICES ACT.

Voters Will Scarcely Dare to Sneeze on Election Day for Fear of Arrest.

As the general election is near at hand, and as many persons are not familiar with the provisions of the corrupt practices act, the following is a brief outline of the principal features: The corrupt practices act, known as the "Honey Bill," makes it unlawful for a candidate to give clothing, meals, liquors, cigars or tobacco, with intent or hope to influence a vote. Makes it unlawful for any religious, political or charitable organization to solicit any payment or contributions from a person seeking a nomination or office.

Makes it unlawful for any person to make use of force, coercion, threats, etc., influencing the vote of another, and for ministers, preachers, etc., otherwise than by public speech or print to urge, persuade or command any voter for or against any man or measure on account of his religious duty.

Any person may do as much writing, speaking, publishing or other work and spend as much time as he wishes, without pay, for any candidate, political party or measure, except on the day of the primary election or the day of the general election, and except as above noted.

On election day no badges or buttons are to be given out or worn, and on that day the voter is allowed to go to the polls and vote as his own judgment dictates, absolutely free from any question or argument for votes, either for men, measures or parties.

Makes it unlawful to bet or wage anything of pecuniary value on the result of the election. Makes it unlawful for any person to pay another any loss or damage on account of the election, or to transport to or from the polls.

GOOD WORD FOR NORMALS

Prominent Oregon Educator Speaks in Praise of Monmouth School.

(C. H. Jones in Salem Statesman.) Reports from all over Oregon show that there is a shortage of teachers. Almost every county needs more teachers, and especially the eastern Oregon counties. It is not probable that this scarcity of teachers is due to the fact that for years past Oregon has had no normal schools? Heretofore, from 100 to 250 new teachers were turned out every year, and the cutting off of this supply doubtless accounts, in a measure, for the shortage. With this fact before the people, it seems to me we ought to vote to re-establish the three normal schools. The cost of maintaining these schools under the proposed plan is insignificant—amounting to about 12 cents for each $1000 of taxable property.

The people of Salem and Marion county should be especially interested in re-establishing the school at Monmouth. It seems to the writer that it is about time our beautiful city should lose the distinction of being the "Salem hog." With all of our state institutions bringing to Salem vast patronage from the outside, it would seem that the people of Salem and Marion county ought not refuse to vote for the establishment of the proposed normal schools. We should show to the state at large that we can be liberal and that we do not want anything at Salem. We can do this by giving an overwhelming majority for the Monmouth normal and the other schools.

Elect Four Supreme Judges.

For the first time in the history of the State, there are four judges of the Supreme Court to be elected at the election—two for four years and two for six years. The Republican candidates with their numbers on the ballot are as follows: For the four year terms, 27 Henry J. Bean of Umatilla County. 28 Thomas A. McBride of Clackamas County. For the six year terms, 32 George H. Burnett of Marion County. 36 Frank A. Moore of Columbia County.

VOTE FOR ALL OF THEM.

Many Attend Dance.

The best attendance and the best dance of the season is what the young folks of Dallas say of the dancing party given in the Armory, Saturday night. Not only was there a large attendance of young people of the city, but many couples were present from neighboring towns. The floor was in excellent condition and the orchestra gave a program of the latest popular music. Dancing was enjoyed until a few minutes before midnight. The committee in charge of the affair feel greatly encouraged by the success of their efforts and are looking forward to a pleasant season of social gaiety.

GANDERBONE FORECAST

FOR NOVEMBER. Copyright 1910 by C. H. RIETZ.

Mr. Taft, who rules the nation, offers this, his proclamation: Whereas, Providence continues blessing us from day to day, and the boon of independence Has, we take it, come to stay;

And whereas, Indulgent Nature Lavishes upon us still Bounty in excess of what the Weather and the bugs can kill; And whereas, The old republic Couldn't be improved upon, Notwithstanding everybody Gets to run it off and on;

Therefore, I, as delegated Now and for a short time hence President, decree that turkey Shall go up to 20 cents.

That's about all there is to it. Once the country raised its own, and the White House proclamation was not greeted with a groan, Father simply grabbed the hatchet, mother got the water hot, father read the proclamation to the turkeys in the lot, all the young and female turkeys promptly fainted from the shock, and after due farewells the gobbler laid his head upon the block.

No one telephoned the butcher, asking what a turkey cost. No one in his deep resentment wished the Pilgrims had been lost. No one, while the feast proceeded, knew the torment of the rack figuring upon his napkin what the day had set him back.

Everybody was provided, as the founders pre-supposed. No one can be very thankful, if the truth should be disclosed, paying what we pay for turkey, and for all of Heaven's siffa, feeling that the day was founded for the Armours and the Swifts.

November gets its name from the Latin novem (nine), and was originally the ninth month of the year. This brought Thanksgiving around two months earlier than we have it now, and it became very unpopular. The insurgents, who constituted a majority in the agricultural districts, were bitterly opposed to it. They made two contentions: First, that young turkeys were not old enough to market; second, that crops had not progressed to the point where it was possible to make out whether there was anything to be thankful for or not. In 1713 B. C. the storm broke. The insurgents carried Gaul, Britannia and 17 other doubtful states, and the Forum immediately assembled and made November the eleventh month of the year.

At any rate, the snow will fly, and the wild duck spin across the sky with both eyes focused on the ground, and his tail-piece going round and round. The eager hunter will deploy and supplement the live decoy, and the pneumatic, while he toots, will perforate his rubber boots.

A little shooting now and then is polished by a lot of men. They like to stroll about and let the farmers run them out. It does them good to feel, by fling that Morgan don't own everything, and if he came in consequence, and also tried to climb the fence, together with his dog and gun, he, too, would also get the run.

November will be unusual this year for the reason that there will be a total eclipse of the moon on the night of the 16th when it would otherwise be full. This eclipse will be visible in the United States and in Wall street, and it will send bacon down a couple of points.

The breath of Winter will distill upon the outer window sill, and the chilling calf will hump his back and burrow deeper in the stack. The hired man, with wintry spurts, will put on both his underhairs, and the plutocrat who sells his coals will pry our bodies from our souls.

Then let us all embrace the chance and be as merry as we may, for whether we desire or dance, the fiddler is for all to pay. The gentle autumn-time will pass, the countryman will kill his hogs, the cotton-tail will weave the grass around the unbracketed dogs, the honking geese will ride the heights with that weird hollering of his, and the wolf will sit around o' nights and tell the moon how thin he is.

O woe is us that could enjoy the autumn-time for aye and aye, and what with growling soul employ its witchery from day to day. The phosphorescence in the sky, the quail soft-piping on the hill, the blackbirds ever bobbing by, and the wind soft-sighing where it will.

But happiness can never last, as Antony could apprehend, and holding Cleo to his fast, destroyed himself before the end. The summer cometh after spring, and winter, merciless withal, as truly must succeed the sweet and gentle blandishments of fall.

At any rate, upon a day Deciphered in the almanac, December, desolate and gray, Will come to whistle through the cracks.

SOME NEEDED REFORMS

BOWERMAN WOULD SAVE MONEY TO TAXPAYERS OF OREGON.

Nominee's Speeches Clearly Show Attitude on Important Issues Affecting Voters of State.

As indicated by his public addresses in his present campaign of the state, here are some of the important things that Jay Bowerman, the Republican direct primary nominee for governor advocates:

Protection of the laws of the people. "If I am elected governor," says he, "I shall defend by exercise of the veto if necessary, any effort made by the legislature to repeal any laws written upon the statute books by the people. This applies to the direct primary, Statement No. 1 and all the laws of the people. The people alone have the right to make changes. Their voice is final; their will supreme."

Economy in the operation of public institutions. The buying of supplies in bulk for the Institute is at Salem would afford a saving to the taxpayers of $50,000 a year.

Elimination of machine politics and defeat of the Bourne-Chamberlain combine, which is seeking to gain imperial control of Oregon politics for selfish ends.

Putting state employees to work and compelling them to do a day's work instead of putting in part of their time in political activity, as under the present machine system.

Enactment of a law giving protection to employees of street car companies, railroad companies and other corporations, which now discharge men indiscriminately on complaints often made without foundation.

"The accused man should be brought face to face with the accuser and the charges should be proved," is the Bowerman rule.

Enlargement of the scope of the State Railway Commission or establishment of a public service commission to adjust differences arising between the people and corporations dealing in such utilities as gas, electricity, telephones and transportation.

Removal of state normal schools from the pale of political log rolling and legislative bartering and trading. "Let these schools be the best that money can establish, but let them stand on their merits, supported by legitimate methods," is his idea.

Protection of bank depositors by establishment of a refuting bank examiners to reject as assets stocks and bonds having no fixed and profitable income.

Promotion of good roads by employment where possible of convict labor so as to do away with the present practice of manufacturing stoves at the state prison and selling the product in direct competition with free labor.

Abolition of the old practice of peddling out state appointments for political reasons and without regard to merit. "Merit must be the basis of all appointments," he declares.

West Speaks in Dallas.

Oswald West, the Democratic nominee for Governor of Oregon, spoke in Dallas, Saturday night, to an audience that filled every seat in the circuit room in the Courthouse. Prominent Democrats from every precinct in the county were present. Mr. West's talk did not differ materially from his speeches made elsewhere in this campaign. As an outline of these speeches have been printed in the daily newspapers of the state, Mr. West's claims for support are already familiar to the Observer's readers. The candidate was given an enthusiastic reception by the members of his party in Polk County and his address was greatly enjoyed by all.
