Hood River Plant to Have Capacity For 200,000 Boxes.

Encouraged by having had the most prosperous year since King Apple made Oregon famous, the growers of the Hood River district have definitely decided to construct a modern chemical cold storage warehouse with a capacity of 200,000 boxes, according to information received by F. W. Robinson, general freight agent of the O-W. R. & N. Company.

"The fruit-growers of Hood River are well organized and know how to market their products as well as they know how to raise them," said Mr. Robinson. "With the large warehouses they propose to build, they will be in better position to handle the apple crop to the best possible advantage."

"Conditions affecting the apple market are encouraging and the Growers' Union has about closed out the largest crop in the history of the valley. There are 25,000 boxes yet on hand, but as prices are better now than they were a month ago, the last of the crop will no doubt be disposed of soon."

"Since shipments were started last fall the growers of Hood River have shipped apples to 24 different states and to 60 of the largest cities in the United States, besides to the foreign market. More than 50 per cent of the returns of the crop have been received."—Oregonian.

Building Cottage.

A new six-room cottage is being built by N. G. Harris on his 20-acre tract of land east of the I. O. O. F. cemetery. The work is in charge of T. J. Butler.

Baker County has an irrigation project on foot involving the expenditure of $4,000,000.

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE

Deposit of Borax.

LAKEVIEW, Or., Jan. 10.—The second largest deposit of borax in the United States is said to be in Lake County, in the districts known as Albert, Sumner and Alkali Lake Valleys. There have been 2400 mineral locations made within these districts, and it is said by some of the owners of the mineral claims that the quality of borax in Alkali Valley is 98 per cent pure. The quantity is only exceeded by the Death Valley mines in California, and Nevada, but those in Lake County are easily reached and will within the next few years become very valuable. A company composed of the holders of claims that have pooled their interests will bring in machinery during the coming summer and begin development on a large scale. One of the officials of the new company is authorized for the statement that 500 men will be employed in development work. The deposits are either surface or held in solution by the waters of the lakes mentioned, and are easily handled.—Portland Telegram.

NEW EXECUTIVE ADVOCATES

Pays Particular Attention to Banking and Insurance Methods and Advocates Economy.

Salient features of the message of Governor West to the Legislature are: Diverging of state and county taxation is advocated. Oregon having outgrown the method adopted years ago. Present state banking laws are scored for protecting crooked bankers from the public, but neglecting to safeguard the public from unscrupulous bankers. It is recommended that the state constitution be amended to make stockholders liable for double the par value of their stock; require more frequent examination of banks; limit the amount to be lent to one person, firm or corporation; require banks doing commercial and savings business to conduct each branch as a different department; compel banks to confine themselves to banking business and to provide, in event of failure of banks, that the business be wound up by the State Bank Examiner under the direction of the courts and not by a receiver.

Appointment of an Insurance Commission is recommended, that the Legislature be advised as to the best insurance laws to be passed, insurance being too intricate a subject for only casual investigation before adopting laws.

To avoid waste of immense sums by useless printing, it is recommended that the state purchase its own printing plant and place the State Printer on a salary instead of under fee system.

Establishment of a purchasing board to buy all supplies for state institutions is advocated. It is recommended that this board be composed of the Governor, Secretary of State and the State Treasurer.

Attention is drawn to the state's dire need of a system under which all state and county accounts may be audited regularly. Under the present law plan state and county accounts go from year to year without auditing and the books when inspected are examined "by committees loaded with inexperienced men who draw fat sums and give nothing in return."

State penitentiary management is extolled. Road building by convicts is urged that their labor may not be in competition with free labor. Extension of parole system is urged and abolition of capital punishment is recommended. Murderers frequently fleeing from justice are urged to favor hanging before crimes are committed. In his condemnation of capital punishment Governor West recommends that pardons be denied criminals sentenced to life imprisonment for crimes punishable by hanging.

Legislature is asked to pass law to give Oregon from becoming the dumping ground for the refuse of other states. The State Hospital for the Insane at Salem houses many non-resident patients and the Legislature is appealed to correct this condition which is growing steadily.

It is recommended that the name of the State Reform School be changed to eliminate the word "reform," which puts stigma on youths paroled from the institution. Now, declares the Governor, sentence to the Reform School marks the punished person as semi-criminals.

Co-operation of the state with the City of Salem is asked in the construction of a municipal water plant that state institutions may be assured of an abundant water supply.

State control of water powers and co-ordinate control with Government of other natural resources is favored. Conservation is defined, not as withdrawal of resources, but utilization of them to avoid waste, extravagance and monopoly. Proper conservation of the natural resources of the state that Oregonians of this generation may receive benefit from them.

Better laws for the protection of Oregon forests are urged, the state's need in this regard being great. The recommendations of the Oregon Conservation Commission in this respect are approved. It is recommended that a trained forester, thorough in his knowledge of Western forests, be appointed to superintend this work with the aid of assistants; that a liberal appropriation be allowed for a forest fire patrol; the state to exert its police authority in guarding against fire and that a system of fire protection be adopted to forests to be saved to the state from devastation by forest fires.

Legislature is urged to pass a law which will enable the state to obtain title to swamp lands without delay. Appropriation is asked that Oregon may co-operate with United States Geological Survey in completing a survey of the state. This says the Governor, will prevent embarkation of irrigation enterprises at places where there is no water, and will save the good name of the state, incomplete surveys making it possible for swindlers to undertake projects and affording investors no protection. Washington and California have co-operated with the Government surveyors with good results.

It is recommended that a law be enacted making it illegal to kill Chinese pheasants for a period of at least three years.

Fourteen-hour law for railroad employees should be so amended as to be effective in assuring prompt connections. Consideration of workmen's insurance is urged.

Swindling employment agencies should be wiped out and misworkers should be protected from bogus or irresponsible mining concerns.

All goods manufactured by convict labor should be labeled to protect free labor.

Careful consideration of all good roads bills to be submitted by the Oregon Good Road Association is asked. To hasten the time when open-river transportation is ushered in at Oregon, City it is recommended that a law be enacted empowering the state to pay $250,000 to the Federal Government to offset the needed change.

Thorough revision of the judicial system should be made and it is recommended that a commission be appointed to serve two years, after which to submit bills it deems best to the Legislature.

Governor West announces his belief in economy of government, and the Legislature is asked to show no disposition to refuse aid to any of the schools or colleges of the state.

Laws to check unwarranted issue of bonded stock are among the state's needs.

Oregon should exploit its resources by issuing pamphlets setting forth all information sought by prospective settlers.

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE

To stamp out the white slave traffic

The Legislature is asked to co-operate with the Federal Government in its crusade against that practice. Claims of Indian War veterans should be given careful consideration, as many of the warriors in appealing to the Legislature for aid now, are offering their last dollar.

Governor West expresses the hope that the legislators will go on record as favoring the income tax law. Promise is made by the Governor that he will guard zealously the laws made by the people.

Legislature is urged to make the record of passing a few good laws rather than adopting many poor statutes.

MANY INQUIRIES FROM EAST

Oregon's Climate and Resources Appeal to Intending Settlers.

As the result of the flood of inquiries received from the East and Middle West, the Bureau of Information of the Portland Commercial Club is working overtime trying to return answers. Two hundred letters are received daily. The mail yesterday contained 600, the accumulation of the Sunday and Monday mails. The average number opened is 6000 a month. W. L. Crissey, head of the department, was of the opinion that the whole year would produce 60,000, as compared with the 40,000 received during 1910.

Efforts are directed only toward helping settlers upon farm or fruit lands. December statistics show that Illinois leads in the number of inquiries sent to the Commercial Club, with New York second. Then come Minnesota, North Dakota, and Iowa. To reply to these seekers of information costs the club $100 a month in postage. The character of the questions asked and statements made leads the inquiry department to believe that Oregon is on the eve of receiving its largest influx of settlers. It is said that there never were so many inquiries as now, and that this is not entirely due to present extensive advertising.

ACKNOWLEDGE IT.

Dallas Has to Bow to the Inevitable. Score of Citizens Prove It.

After reading the public statement of this representative citizen of Dallas given below, you must come to this conclusion: A remedy which cured years ago, which has kept the kidneys in good health since, can be relied upon to perform the same work in other cases.

Read this: Mrs. Mary Hubbard, Leavens street, Dallas, Ore., says: "My back and hips were painful and I could not stoop or move quickly without suffering intensely. On the morning when I first got up I was troubled the most. The kidney secretions annoyed me by their irregularity in passage, especially when I caught cold. After trying a number of remedies without being helped to any extent, I was told about a veteran traveling salesman, who has been in nearly all countries of the world. His business extends to the Orient and Australia, requiring him to make frequent trips across the Pacific.

During the year 1910, County Clerk E. M. Smith issued 72 hunting licenses and 12 combination hunting and fishing licenses. The love of fishing seems to have abated, as there were only two persons who cared to go to the trouble and expense of taking out licenses which would exempt them from whiplash with clear consciences and no rifle disregard for the authority of an approaching game warden.
