

THE FIGHT IS NOW ON

SHERIDAN SAYS DAYTON SHALL NOT HAVE BLOCKHOUSE.

Citizens in Vicinity of Old Fort Stand Aghast at Mention of Removal.

Sheridan is on the warpath. It has suddenly awakened to the fact that it has a yearning for a blockhouse—second-hand preferred, and within easy walking distance of the center of business activity. Dayton has also manifested antagonizing symptoms of the same kind of a yearning, therefore Sheridan is on the warpath, and many of its staid and reverend signors have sworn by the beard of the Prophet that they would see the historic and now beloved blockhouse sunk beneath the waters of the surging Yamhill ere they will allow it to be polluted by the unclean hands of the vandals Daytonians.

Since the announcement that Fort Sheridan had been given to Dayton by a Federal act engineered by United States Senator Chamberlain, citizens of Sheridan have been vigorous in their protest against the removal of the historic structure bearing General Phil Sheridan's name.

The Sheridan Commercial Club has taken up the case with the Tillamook and Willamina commercial bodies, and telegrams and letters have been sent to Senator Chamberlain at Washington opposing the removal of the old blockhouse. A protest signed by the citizens of Sheridan was forwarded to Washington, with resolutions of protest adopted by the Commercial Club.

Sorry, But Helpless.

Mr. Chamberlain replied that the act recommending the removal of the old fort to Dayton cannot be revoked. Attorney J. T. Simpson, Sheridan's lawyer, appealed personally to Mr. Chamberlain, his boyhood chum and friend. To him Mr. Chamberlain replied that he regretted that Sheridan's earnest appeal could not receive his endorsement.

Sheridan argues that the old structure is so far distant as Dayton will wreck it, relates a dispatch to the Oregonian. Then, it is contended, the old fort is the only historical point between here and the coast, and being situated on the main thoroughfare it interests travelers bent this way.

The Sheridan Commercial Club was referred to the superintendent of the Siletz school by Mr. Chamberlain, who, he said, was authorized to correspond with any interested party of the Siletz school, said the town of Sheridan had not been notified that the fort bearing this city's name was open to donation.

Dayton Delted.

A movement is on foot in Sheridan now to erect a glass frame over the old blockhouse. This will have to be done by popular subscription by citizens of Sheridan, and will cost $5000. If Sheridan residents are not allowed to save the fort, many say the blockhouse will never pass through this city in its removal to Dayton. Many declare openly that they will see the old blockhouse in the Yamhill river before they will consent to its removal to Dayton.

An interesting new chapter in the history of the old fort is promised, as Sheridan stands at a most strategic point on the road between Grand Ronde and Dayton, and the old fort will have to pass through this city.

No Stops For Roosevelt.

It begins to look as though Salem and other towns in the Willamette Valley would not get a chance to hear Colonel Roosevelt, on his intended trip to Portland. There will be no stops of the Southern Pacific's northbound Shasta limited to permit him to speak Wednesday, as the train is required to reach Portland on schedule time. Application for brief rear platform talks have been received from many enterprising places, but all have been denied by the passenger department, because granting one request would involve the railroad in no end of difficulty. All towns that would want to be favored in like manner. "We could not think of stopping the train any place to allow the Colonel to speak," said William McMurray, general passenger agent, yesterday. "He will be only one of probably 100 passengers and it would be a great inconvenience to him and justice to all the others if we were to discriminate in his favor."

Corvallis to Primp.

CORVALLIS, March 25.—Consistent with the policy of the city administration, which is to make the city of Corvallis more beautiful, the water stand-pipes in town have been painted white. Many projects will be taken up by the different ladies' and men's clubs for beautifying the city, and the school children will contribute their share to the work by keeping the school grounds and park in good condition. A lawn can be kept here with but little trouble, and no irrigation, and the prime movers in this step intend to see what they can do to get everyone who has property to keep a grassy front yard. A campaign against dusty streets will be taken up next. Attempts will be made to get residents to paint their old out-buildings and trim trees.

SALEM FRUIT UNION MODEL

Organized Marketing of Products Solves Many Problems For Growers.

"The marketing of fresh fruits in an organized way was only begun with the inception of the Salem Fruit Union, an organization purely co-operative, the stock in which is held mostly by the individual growers," writes C. L. Dick, manager of the Union, in a recent article published in the explanation of an ordinance which is attracting considerable notice among fruit growers, he says:

"Its workings are solely for the benefit of him who produces. The by-laws provide that no dividend in excess of 8 per cent shall be declared. Any money in excess of this amount goes to the grower in proportion to the amount of fruit delivered by him. No person has more than one vote, irrespective of the number of shares held by him. He is, however, allowed one proxy. It is a membership of one-half of the quorum at any regular or special meeting. The Union holds title to valuable property upon which they own very little, and their business is increasing every year. The market for strawberries and other small fruits is growing, particularly in this true with dried raspberries. Last year proved this supply inadequate. The grading and packing of apples and pears has been standardized and buyers no longer hesitate to place their orders, knowing that they will get exactly what they buy. Growers are taking more interest in their orchards, and it is not now a question of forcing spraying, pruning, etc., but every one who has an orchard is anxious to know how and when to do this very important work. The outlook for the fruit industry in this vicinity was never as bright as it is at present, due very largely to the officers and members of the Salem Fruit Union."

Pendleton Preparing.

PENDLETON, Or., March 28.—Members of Company L here continue to drill nightly and many recruits are enlisting. A sham battle was fought on the reservation Sunday between the opposing forces under the command of Captain Charles J. Ferguson and First Lieutenant Charles Viner. More than ten miles of reservation territory was covered and the war game proved so successful and interesting that arrangements have already been practically completed for a repetition of the sham battle. The second sham battle will probably be held next Sunday with the members of the Malaban camp of Spanish-American war veterans aligned against members of the local National Guard.

Signs of Spring.

The extended period of fine weather here has advanced the season far beyond its usual schedule of time as shown by the calendar, and the memory of the oldest inhabitant has to stretch itself in order to recall an earlier spring or finer March weather. The advance agents of spring are many. The wild currants are almost in bloom, the maple leaves are expanding, the rose leaves are bursting forth, and the sparrows are fluttering about the court house. In the minds of the weather prophets, the sunshine and warmth will be followed by a countering spell of wetness, coldness, and general disagreeableness, but in the meantime those who can be enjoying the good weather and are letting the future take care of itself.

Laws Are Effective May 20.

SALEM, March 25.—In an offhand opinion given to the Secretary of State Attorney-General Crawford states that the laws passed by the last legislature will become effective May 20. Consequently referendum petitions may be filed up to and including May 19. Laws under a constitutional provision become effective 30 days from the end of the session and not from the date of their approval by the Governor. The 31st day falls on a Sunday this year.

Want California Hops.

Heavy orders for hop contracts have been received in California, according to wires received Tuesday. These orders were for 15 cents, but the growers decline to sell at the figure. Some of the dealers have taken refusals at 16 1/2 cents. California spot hops are also wanted, but growers are holding back and nothing under 18 1/2 cents for 1916 is considered by sellers. In for spots and futures, as has been the case for some time past, with no business resulting.—Oregonian.

WILL STUDY FRUIT PESTS SPELLING CONTEST RESULTS

Horticultural Experts to Be Located at Salem, to Aid Growers.

Preparatory to the work of investigating fruit pests that is to be done in this vicinity under the direction of the State Agricultural College, rooms are being fitted up over the offices of the Salem Fruit Union as headquarters for the horticultural experts from the college who will have charge of the work.

Arrangements for carrying out this work in accordance with the act of the legislature, which appropriated $15,000 for this purpose, were completed recently at Corvallis at a conference between the college authorities and a committee from Salem, composed of L. T. Reynolds, Charles A. Park and C. O. Constable.

The Agricultural College will detail men to different parts of the state, and Salem will be the headquarters of those detailed to this portion of the Willamette Valley, according to the Statesman. The men detailed will be experts along the lines of entomology, horticulture and pathological diseases of fruit trees. They will conduct experiments in the field and will investigate conditions generally.

With the establishment of headquarters at the fruit union their value to the growers will be increased because they can be easily consulted by the orchard men and will be in a position to give advice and expert assistance on many problems that arise in the fruit growing industry.

The law appropriating the money for this purpose does not become effective until 90 days after the legislature adjourns, and at that time the work will be started and prosecuted vigorously.

Persecuting Greeks.

SALEM, March 28.—Another attempt to run Greek laborers out of Salem was made yesterday afternoon by unknown persons, who set fire to the camp, resulting in much clothing and other personal belongings being destroyed. Fire broke out in the bunk house while the men were at work in another section of the town, but the department was called before the fire damage was done. This is the second attempt to rid the city of the Greeks. A dynamite bomb was used in the first instance, which was thrown into the camp but failed to do damage, on account of it falling short of the sleeping quarters. The police have made several investigations in an effort to ascertain who is responsible for the assaults on the Greeks, but have been unable to fix the crime on anyone.

The Colds That Hang On.

Are readily cured by Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey. It relieves the cold and stops the cough. There is only one genuine.

The winter of 1911 will be memorable for the passing of the old Astoria. It is impossible to count the number of deaths that have occurred since that time. Many of the old generation are passing, and as much as the men of the older generation; for in the main, the oldsters did well for us, says the Astorian.

If you have trouble in getting rid of your cold you may not know that you are not treating it properly. There is no reason why a cold should hang on for weeks and it will not if you take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For sale by all good dealers.

Spring Valley Invited.

The Progressive League of Lincoln Valley and their friends on Saturday evening, April 1, and a program in keeping with the date has been planned by the entertainment committee. There will be music, readings, a general discussion and a social good time. The subject for serious consideration will be "Conservation of nature," which will be presented by Professor Crawford of Gena. The discussion will be led by W. D. Henry. Following the discussion will be more selections along the musical and literary line, and the refreshment committee has hinted at a surprise—undoubtedly a "dine to eat" and plenty of fun on the side. Everybody invited.—Salem Statesman.

Carnegie Library For Salem.

SALEM, March 28.—An ordinance was passed by the council last night which authorizes the setting aside of $2000 annually for the maintenance of a Carnegie library for Salem. Andrew Carnegie has made an offer of $27,000 for a library building, provided the city pays for maintenance. The Carnegie Library Association has sufficient funds on hand to purchase property in University addition, southeast of the capitol building, and the founder of the library will be informed today that Salem has accepted his donation. Mayor Lachmund appointed a committee of directors for the library, with A. N. Bush, banker, as president of the board.

Independence Gets Newcomers.

INDEPENDENCE, Or., March 29.—Many newcomers are reaching Independence, and farm and city property is rapidly changing hands. One of the largest real estate deals that has taken place lately was the sale of Spurling's place, which included the Independence Brothers' 292 acre joining Independence. W. W. Wilson was the purchaser, for a consideration of $15,000. Mr. Wilson will cut the place into small tracts. This is one of the finest farms in Polk County.

Oregon City Strikes Oil.

OREGON CITY, March 29.—Drillers at the Stone oil well, near this city, struck a vein of mineral oil Sunday night at a depth of 1175 feet. Oil was found in a thick vein of oil-bearing sand in 20 hours. Casing is being pushed down into the sand firmly to preclude any possibility of the well being flooded with water, in the belief that the flow of oil may be developed into a paying well.

Asthma Cured Death.

Elizabeth Sholund died at her home four miles west of Salem, March 27, from cardiac asthma, aged 23 years, 1 month and 2 days. Funeral services were held at the Cottage undertaking parlors Wednesday, March 29, at 8 p. m. Rev. Mr. Oval, of Portland, officiated and services were in the Swedish language.—Salem Statesman.

Died in Salem.

Mrs. Amy C. Wilson, daughter of E. T. Smith, died Sunday evening, March 28, at 6 o'clock. The funeral services were held at the residence of James D. Mann, on Liberty street, and the body was buried in City View cemetery. Mrs. Wilson leaves a husband and two sons at Independence.—Salem Statesman.

Cashy Man Raises Phosgenites.

CASHY, Or., March 29.—Roy Lee is building a "phosgenity" and proposes to raise ring-necked Chin phosgenites on a large scale. The first consignment has just arrived from Lebanon, and as soon as his plant is completed he will receive 20 pair more.

Council Courtesy.

The city council of Falls City sent to the city council of Salem a vote of thanks for granting the Salem, Falls City & Western Railway a franchise. The communication was ordered placed on file.—Salem Statesman.
