

FOR FIRE RESTRICTION

DIGEST OF NEW LAW FOR PROTECTION OF FORESTS.

Stringent Regulations and Severe Penalties Provided For Their Violation.

The forest fire law enacted by the last Legislature in this state requires stringent regulation of those matters coming under its provisions, and efforts will be made by the State Forester to enforce it at every opportunity. A digest of the law, giving its most important features, is presented herewith:

Closed Season.

Burning of slashings, chopping, woodland or brushland is unlawful between June 1 and October 1, without written or printed permission from a fire warden and strict compliance with terms of the permit which shall give conditions to be observed. This restriction does not apply to burning of log piles, stumps or brush in small areas, under ample regulations of the state board of forestry. If any burning without permission results in escape of fire or injury to another, such escape and injury shall be proof that the burning was a violation of the law. Violations of this provision are punishable by $25 to $500 fines or ten days to three months imprisonment. Any fire warden may revoke or postpone permits when necessary to prevent danger to life and property. Any permit obtained through willful misrepresentation is invalid and no defense from penalties of the law.

May Suspend Permits.

In times and localities of unusual fire danger, the Governor, with the advice of the State Forester, may suspend any or all permits or privileges and prohibit absolutely the use of fire herein mentioned. He may, in certain emergencies, suspend the open season for shooting game, by proclamation, and for such time as he may designate, during which all laws of closed season shall be in force.

Setting fires or causing fires to be set on land of another without permission of the owner; willfully or negligently allowing fire to escape from your own land; accidentally setting fire on land of your own or another and allowing it to escape without using every effort to extinguish it, are punishable by $50 to $100 fine or one month to one year imprisonment.

Camp Fires.

Camp fires may be built in a careful manner on uninclosed land if same is not forbidden by personal or posted notice of the owner, but fire must be totally extinguished by the builder before departing. Ground around camp fires must be cleared of all material which will carry fire, and fires must not be left burning or unattended or permitted to spread on land of another, under penalty of fine or imprisonment.

Back fires are permitted if set in good faith to prevent the progress of fire already burning.

The use of inflammable gunnawind in firearms discharged on land of another is punishable by fine or imprisonment.

Spark Arresters.

Adequate spark arresters must be kept in constant use and repair during the closed season—June 1 to October 1—on all locomotives, logging engines, portable engines, traction or stationary engines using fuel other than oil or near forest or brush land under penalty of $25 to $100. Escape of fire from any such engine is proof of violation of law, and each engine not equipped with required spark arrester is deemed a separate offense, and its use forbidden until properly equipped.

Burning Slashings.

All annual slashings by those engaged in logging or permitting logging on their lands must be burned each year and the fire confined to the lands of those doing the burning. If burning between June 1 and October 1 all dead trees or snags over 25 feet high must first be cut down. Such burning is also subject to the provisions of Section 8. Penalties $100 to $1000. State Forester may suspend these restrictions where public safety permits or requires, but may have such burning done at the expense of the offender who fails to comply with the law after proper notice.

Trails, Roads and Railroads.

All inflammable material resulting from clearing or construction of trails, roads and railroads must be immediately destroyed or removed unless prevented under the provisions of Section 8. Those operating railroads with coal or wood fuel shall annually, or when directed by the state board of forestry, destroy or remove all inflammable material from their rights of way, in accordance with the directions of said board.

Setting of fire unlawfully with intent to injure property of another is deemed a felony and is punishable by one to ten years in the penitentiary.

Civil Action For Damages.

In addition to the penalties of this law, damages may be recovered, in civil action, brought by persons whose property has been injured or destroyed against those responsible, to the extent of double the amount of damages if fire occurs through willfulness, malice or negligence. But if fire was accidental or unavoidable action shall lie only for actual damage. Persons or corporations causing fire in violation of this law are liable for the full amount of all expense incurred in fighting such fires.

One-half of the fine paid by any one convicted of violating this law will be paid to any person, not employed and compensated as a fire warden, who furnishes information leading to the arrest and conviction.

All fines imposed under this law, less cost of collection and rewards for detection and information, shall go to the county in which conviction is had.

District Attorney to Prosecute.

The District Attorney must prosecute with all diligence and energy whenever an arrest is made for violation of this law within his district, or whenever any evidence is lodged with him showing with reasonable certainty any such violation. Failure of the District Attorney to act is punishable by $100 to $1000 fine. The same penalty applies to Justices of the Peace who neglect to issue warrants for the arrest of persons when complaint under oath has been lodged with them. Willful destruction of any notice posted in compliance with this law is punishable by $10 to $50 fine or imprisonment one day for each $2.00 thereof.

FIFTY ACRES OF PEACHES

Marion County Man Planting Out 10,000 Trees Along River.

One of the largest peach orchards in Oregon is now being planted in Marion County. It is 50 acres in extent, and will contain 10,000 trees.

The exact location of this fruit project is nine miles north of Salem, in South bottom, lying in the Willamette river bottom, just south of the famous Mission bottom fruit section.

The promoter of this extensive peach orchard is J. W. Lafollett, son of Alex Lafollett, the well-known horticulturist and grower of record peach crops in Mission bottom. The trees are being set out on a level tract of fertile sandy loam, with good sub-drainage, just ideally suited to the production of this luscious fruit. Thirteen acres of this land were set to peach trees two years ago, and the splendid growth made by the young trees was favorably commented upon by visitors to this rapidly developing fruit section. Mr. Lafollett grew his own nursery stock and budded them to the most desirable varieties grown in his father's famous peach orchard. These are the Crawford and the Charlottes. The latter peach, by the way, was originated in Salem. It is a descendant of the Crawford family, especially desirable in quality, with yellow, melting flesh and covered with a rich golden color, heavily tinted on one side with pink.—Salem Statesman.

Doan's Kidney Pills relieve backache, Cure every kidney ill.

Many people in this locality recommend Doan's Kidney Pills.

Here's one case:

Z. Rosendorf, Front St., Independence, Mo., says: "I do not believe there is a man in this county who has suffered as severely with kidney disease as I during the past ten years."

I had acute pains throughout my body and when my back was so weak and stiff that I could not stoop. My kidneys were also disordered and too frequent passages of the kidney secretions caused me to arise many times at night. My limbs became badly swollen and there was a puffiness beneath my eyes. I doctored a great deal but did not receive relief until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. I felt better from the first and I continued taking them until every symptom of kidney trouble had disappeared. I firmly believe that Doan's Kidney Pills saved my life and for that reason I cannot praise them too highly."

The above statement was given on Sept. 7, 1907, and on Dec. 9, 1909, Mr. Rosendorf said: "The statement I gave for publication recommending Doan's Kidney Pills two years ago still holds good. I am glad to give Doan's Kidney Pills my endorsement."
