No Cause For Hurry. When Martin W. Littleton was preparing the case of Harry Thaw for trial he sent word to Thaw one day that he would see him in the prison at 3 o'clock that afternoon. Littleton reached the Tombs an bour late and found Thaw highly indiguant because of the delay. "What on earth does this mean?" demanded the prisoner. "You're an hour late for this appointment." "Weil," explained Littleton calmly.

"I figured that I would certainly find you here, no matter how late I was."-New York Tribune.

To most people the idea of water-falls in Australia is quite unfamiliar. All Australia, however, in the winter time (May to September) makes a pligrimage to Australia's beauty spot, the A surveyor who visited the Barron river falls thus records his impres-

"The noise of the falls has been with us since the early morning-now humming through the jungle, now rushing like a mighty wind up the gorges, now echoing with astounding clearness on the ridges. A few hundred yards below our halting place the turbid stream rushed among the bluish gray rocks and along its well worn channel, and beyond this gauzy clouds of spray floated up from the brink of the falls, caught the sunlight and were glorified with ever forming, ever vanishing rainbow tints. The water does not fall in a sheer leap into the gorge, but plunges along its rocky and precipitous bed in a series of cataracts."-London Standard.

Fury of Sunstorms. How can we, who are bewildered and appailed by the fury of our planet's cyclones and volcanic eruptions, form a conception of the terrible energy of natural operations of the sun? Newcomb suggested that if we call the solar chromosphere an ocean of fire we must remember that it is an ocean infinitely hotter than the flercest furnace and as deep as the Atlantic is broad. If we call its movements hurricanes we must remember that our hurricanes blow only about a hundred miles an hour, while those of the chromosphere blow as far in a single second. There are such hurricanes as, coming down upon us from the north, would in thirty seconds after they had crossed the St. Lawrence river be in the gulf of Mexico, carrying with them the whole surface of the continent in a mass not simply of ruin, but of glowing vapor .-Harper's Weekly.

The Wild Pigeon Mystery. That the wild pigeon, once so common in the United States, has become extinct is one of the strangest mysteries in American natural history. It is a puzzle which has battled scientists and which probably never will be solved. Less than forty years ago wild pigeons were abundant in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and all the states of the middle west. In their migrations they traveled in flocks numbering tens of thousands, and it sometimes took a single flock the better part of an hour to pass a given point. Vast numbers of the pigeons were killed every year by gunners; but many investigators hold that the complete disappearance of the species must have been due in part at least to other causes. No other bird was ever so numerous in this country as the pigeon .-New York Mall.

How He Protected the Seals. Some years ago a Russian warship was on special duty in Bering sea guarding the seal fisheries, preventing the slaughter of the seals during the closed season. The admiral of the station in the course of an inspection of the vessel invited any of the sailors who had any complaint to make to step forward. One of the men, as spokesman for the whole crew, complained that the "seal money" ised them had not been paid. On the astonished admiral inquiring what he meant it came out that the ship's commander bad been doing a lucrative trade by killing the seals placed under his protection and sending the skins to London and had taken the crew into partnership. He was duly transferred to Siberia.

Many newly set family orchards that we know. like many boys and girls, need some attention just now if they regards these young trees they should have their rangy, sprawling tops cut back so as to give a sturdler and more shapely head or frame, while cross or ill shapen limbs should be taken out entirely. This work is done easily now, while the trees are in the formative stage, while the results secured are in every way more satisfactory than if the job is postponed.
