Week In Society

Trip Around the World.
The largest social affair of the past week was a delightful and unique entertainment called "A Trip Around the World," given by the young ladies of the Epworth League of the Methodist church, Tuesday night.

The porter and train-crier (Earl Day) announced "all aboard" at 7:30 p. m., and the first party of guests, which had assembled at the church, was escorted in automobiles donated by Dr. V. C. Staats, Herbert Shepherd, Fred Elliott, William Howe, John Uglow and Lloyd Soehren, to the home of Dr. L. A. Bollman, for a brief visit in Mexico.

The house was a veritable bower of greens and cut flowers, Mexican hats, baskets, guns and swords covered the walls, and an elaborate display of beautiful drawn work was loaned for the evening by Mrs. Edith Plank. An excellent Mexican orchestra, composed of Miss Ada Longnecker, Messrs. Long, Roland Holman and William Boydston, furnished amusement for the guests, playing those soft and melodious Mexican strains which lend enchantment to any occasion.

The hostesses here, who were picturesque in the national costume, were Misses Frances Dempsey, Effa Brown, Dollie Burke, Wava Mason, Lillian Laurensen, Ada Longnecker and Mrs. Horatio Morrison, assisted by Mrs. V. C. Staats and Mrs. J. H. Shepherd, who served the regular Mexican meal—chili con carne, bread and butter and coffee.

From here the guests were motored across the city to the home of Lee Smith, on Fairview avenue, where they spent a delightful half hour in a Japanese tea garden.

Upon entering, one was transported from sober, conventional Oregon to vivid, sunny Japan. Japanese lanterns spread their soft light over the assemblage, making grotesque shadows on the walls, which were hung with Japanese tapestry. Dainty little Japanese ladies served tea and wafers on tiny tables, which obliged the guest to sit Japanese fashion on the floor. Little Misses Janet Laganer, Claudia Plank, Lena Bennett, Ruth Kleaver, Nina Lovelody and Gladys Harmon were graceful in a Japanese folk dance and song, and were enthusiastically encored.

The hostesses at the garden, Mrs. W. Richardson, Mrs. A. D. Campbell, Mrs. Lee Smith, Mrs. Julia Bottorf, Mrs. George L. Hawkins, Mrs. Lloyd Soehren, Misses Emily Branson, Anna Mae Longnecker, Gertrude Follow, and Laura Berg, were the daintiest and most petite body of Japanese society women that one could possibly find, even in Japan's most exclusive "400."

Last, but not the least in the way of entertainment, came the "Sunny South Land," at the spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Farrington, on Hayter street. Here one was received at the door by a porter, in the person of Earl Day, and was introduced in turn to Miss Edna Morrison as "Mammy," (Mr. Day was "Pappy") Miss Iva Stanley as "Topsy," and Miss Opal McDevitt as "daughtah," whose ludicrous and fantastic antics kept the guests in a round of merriment during the short program they presented, consisting of old Southern love songs and lullabys. They were assisted by Jack Eakin as "Romeo," who accompanied them on the violin.

Salad, French crackers and chocolate were served by Misses Norah Robertson, Mina Hughes and Lucy Kopan, and after almost an hour of chatting and sociability the guests were motored back to the church, where another crowd was impatiently waiting for the belated train. All of the passengers voted the novel entertainment one of the most enjoyable this year.

The proceeds of the jaunt will go into the treasury of the Epworth League and will be used for the benefit of the church.
