In The Social Realm

(By Gladys Canter.)

DESPITE the fact that loafing on the lawns, piazzas and parks is the coolest and most inviting form of social amusement during the warm weather, the past week has witnessed several important functions given by the different members of the social elect. From now on the bulk of the parties will probably be given in the open air, perhaps in suburban homes where several are planning house parties or on the shady banks of the LaCroye. Suffice to say the annual exodus to the different beaches and summer resorts will soon be felt, in fact is being felt, and the remaining contingent are planning various affairs for the comfort as well as the pleasure of those who must remain in town.

Not the least among the affairs of this kind will be the annual dinner and jollification given by a club of women at the City Park which is planned for an early date. These dinners are not only popular with the older crowd, but are extremely popular with the younger set as well.

Mrs. Rich Entertains.

About twenty guests thronged the cozy Rich residence Tuesday evening, July 16, when Mrs. Fred R. Rich entertained five tables at cards.

The rooms were a forest of greens and cut flowers, pink and green being the color scheme used, also in the dining room. Great bunches of shell pink carnations peeping from their background of holly were used in an effective arrangement on the buffet. The punch table at which Mrs. H. L. Crider presided was graced with a centerpiece of carnations and ferns.

Card honors were won by Mrs. Harry Wood and John R. Allgood.

Mrs. Rich was in an elaborately embroidered bodice of white lingerie with light tan princess skirt which was worn with Marshal Nell buds. Mrs. Crider wore Nile green messaline with corsage bouquet of shell pink carnations.

The guest list included: Messrs. and Mesdames Harry Wood, Edward Jacobson, E. C. Kirkpatrick, H. L. Crider, David C. Crider, H. C. Eakin, John R. Allgood, Harold Rich, Miss Nora Robertson and Dr. A. B. Starbuck.

Silver Tea.

The beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Smith was thronged with daintily gowned guests Thursday afternoon, July 11, comprising the members of the different societies of the Christian church and their friends.

The rooms were bright in scarlet geraniums, sweet peas and roses, making a delightfully cool resting place for sewing and pleasant conversation which filled the afternoon hours.

Mrs. Edith Plank and Mrs. Lela

Whitney assisted the hostess in serving.

During the afternoon instrumental selections were rendered by Misses Claudia Plank, Adah Campbell and Velma Ray.

Adams-Kearns.

A beautiful little wedding occurred at the L. R. Adams country home when their daughter, Mable, became the bride of Ora Earl Kearns on Tuesday, July 16, at high noon. Rev. D. Lester Fields officiating.

The bridal couple took their places under a bower of seafoam and greens. Seafoam in long creamy clusters formed a pillar on each side of the canopy. Oregon grape was also used artistically about the rooms.

In the dining room, where the wedding breakfast was served, were great bunches of seafoam and Oregon grape. The old stone fireplace was banked with snowy seafoam and dainty green ferns and cut flowers filled the cases on the mantle. The bride's cake table was in white sweet peas.

The bride, who was unattended, wore soft cream messaline and carried a shower bouquet of shell pink carnations and bride's roses.

The invited guests were: Messrs. and Mesdames Homer White, George Kearns, J. H. Mulkey, William Howe, Ray Adams, D. Lester Fields, Misses Ollie Shue, Leta Dodge, Lora Kearns, Miss Dixon, Messrs. Charles Johnson, Paul Hunter, James Howe, Mrs. Anna Brock, and Miss Ethel Howe, of Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. Kearns left on the afternoon train for Portland where they will spend a short honeymoon after which they will be at home to their friends at 318 Lyle street.

Birthday Party.

Dainty little Miss Alice Madeline Crider was hostess Tuesday afternoon, July 16, at her home on Levens street, the occasion being the celebration of her sixth birthday.

The miniature hostess met her guests at the door promptly at two o'clock and from the strike of the second hour until the cutting of the birthday cake she was mistress of ceremonies.

Games were played and about four o'clock a delicious lunch was served by Mrs. David Crider, mother of the little hostess.

The guests were: Little Misses Virginia Ellis, Helen Butler, Hazel Butler, Evelyn Sibley, Bernice Richardson and Frankie Crider.

Miss Sallie Finley, of Santa Ana, California, has been a guest at the T. H. Starbuck home. Miss Finley taught school in Dallas about 22 years ago in a building standing about where the Public school building now stands. She left for Salem Tuesday afternoon where she will visit friends and relatives before returning to her home in California.

The Way We Buy Books

In buying books, we deal directly with the publishers wherever possible, thus cutting out the middle man's profits. This saving we give to you.

That is why the new Dallas book store can sell you any book published at department store prices. It is why our book trade is growing every day.

A few Eastern houses may quote you lower prices on some books, but you will find that the additional postal charges will make the book cost you more than if you bought it at home.

"The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," "Freckles," and "The Girl of the Limberlost" are now in the popular 50-cent editions and are selling low. Nothing better for your summer vacation reading.

Come in and make yourself at home with the new books and magazines.

Avoid High Prices

Here is a point well worth remembering. Remember that the vacationist who goes to the sea-shore, mountains or country and who forgets to take the necessary conveniences is liable to excessive charge. Why not let us supply you with all your vacation needs, such as soap, perfumes, talcums, toilet waters, etc. at a price far less than you would pay away from home. A new, fresh stock is here awaiting your inspection.
