The way to build up Dallas is to patronize Dallas people.

WHO ARE REPUBLICANS.

The attempts of the Rooseveltians in Oregon and elsewhere to continue in the Republican party, while, at the same time, announcing their intention of supporting the Bull Moose, would be ludicrous were it not for the principle involved, which either demonstrates that they are not in sympathy with the movement, or are deliberately attempting to steal the Republican organization and deceive the people. They declare their allegiance to Roosevelt and, at the same time announce that they are Republicans, and this in the face of the fact that their idol has publicly stated that he has left the Republican party and will henceforth have no affiliation with it in any way. That they are doing this with the tacit consent of the Bull Moose there is abundant ground for belief judging by the course pursued by him in other states, although he himself is now completely out of the party.

There can be no half-way measures about this. There is no possible position "on the fence" for men who align themselves under the Bull Moose standard. They cannot be Republicans and, at the same time, exert whatever influence they may have in attempting to defeat that party's candidates and principles. Whether or not they believe that the Chicago convention was a corrupt affair, and President Taft's nomination secured by fraud, as has so often been charged, makes no real difference with their position. The privilege of leaving the party is theirs beyond question, and they certainly should not remain in it, if they cannot support its platform, but to declare that they are still members of the party while doing their best to defeat its candidates, is an exhibition of bad faith and hypocrisy which has but few parallels in the annals of politics.

There is no such thing as a "Roosevelt Republican." There are no degrees or half way stations in the party. A man must either be a man or a mouse, and when any man tells you that he is a "republican" but will support the Bull Moose," put him down as a hypocrite and a cheap political demagogue. Those who get out into the open and announce their divorcement from the party must be respected.

Prominent among these political renegades is one Dan Kellaher, who, while still acting as a Republican candidate for presidential elector and, as such, is in honor bound to vote for the choice of Oregon Republicans in the electoral college, signs a call for the formation of the Bull Moose party in Oregon and urges his compatriots to assist him in overthrowing the very organization he has tacitly pledged himself to support. In this attempt to steal the regularly nominated Republican electors, the boosters of the Bull Moose in Oregon really show the flimsy nature of their cause and acknowledge that they have no hope of success by honest means and a fearless fight in the open. They are entitled to no consideration, and will receive none from true Republicans. There are thousands of men in the party who do not fully subscribe to all of the sentiments of those in control of their party, but they will not desert the organization, and will put forth their best endeavors to secure the success of the principles in which they believe. In other words they do not believe in wrecking an organization that they cannot control, as Roosevelt and his rabid friends would do, and in taking this position they have shown themselves to be honest, and really imbued with the idea of placing principle above the lust for office, which alone is the distinguishing feature of the Bullmoosecites and their frothy leader of Oyster Bay.

The line between Republican and party wrecker is clearly drawn—there is no occasion for anybody to be mistaken.

HOW TO GET RICH.

The following advice on an all-absorbing topic is so simple that the wonder is that we are not all millionaires:

Some of the best ways of becoming wealthy have been illustrated to us, and here put down. If you will read them carefully and follow instructions explicitly, there is no doubt in our minds that you will also be able to endow colleges and libraries.

Get a block of business property in some city, corner preferred. Divide it equally into four parts, and after you have carefully figured the cost of your investment, all you have to do is to find a buyer, sell three-fourths of your lot for $750,000, and keep the remainder for a warehouse in which to store good ideas. To figure your profit on this deal tell your wife about the transaction and leave her to explain the same to your friends. About the time it comes back to you, you will find that you are worth several million dollars.

Invent some handy and useful article to aid suffering humanity. Here are a few suggestions:

A reinforced concrete shoe lace.
A whistling collar button.
Soap with a handle on it.
A lead pencil with an unbreakable point.
A safety razor that will cut whiskers only.

The activity of the Bull Moose has resulted in driving a lot of candidates to the tall uncut and, despite the clamoring of the proletariat, they refuse to come into the open and state their position as between the Republican party and the Bullmoosecites. There should be no question about this. A man should either be a man or a mouse, or a long tailed rat. If he has any principles he should not hesitate to declare them once and for all. If he is a Republican let him say so, if he has deserted the party and is out with his knife to defeat it, a candid admission will at least cause people to respect his opinions. But this profound silence on the part of our political aspirants, notable among whom is a certain senatorial possibility, isn't calculated to enhance their popularity either with the true blue Republicans or with the third termers. A candidate for office should have political principles even if he aspires to the Senate.

Fred Mulkey, the perfumed, curly-headed Adonis, whose only creditable asset politically is his relationship to the lamented Senator Dolph, and who was once spoiled for life by being chosen to the U. S. senate by the Republicans of Oregon to fill a vacancy for six weeks, has announced his abandonment of the Republican party and says if no other forces will organize a third party in this state he will do it himself. Mr. Mulkey might possibly be able to get three others to join him, but scarcely any more.—Harney County News.

"There were no steam roller tactics in the Republican convention of 1908, so far as I know," declares one T. Roosevelt, and thereby adds another to the long list of misrepresentation, false utterance and deception charged against him. History tells us that the 1908 convention was the first to originate and operate the steam roller, which machine was of pure Roosevelt construction, and operated solely by Roosevelt power. Was there ever a greater trimmer than this Bullmoose?

The Salem Capital Journal is urging Senator Bourne to become an independent candidate for United States senator to succeed himself. Sure. The C. J. is a Bull Moose newspaper and not a Republican sheet. Let no one be deceived. Its boost for Bourne is directly in line with its other erratic actions.

It appears that some of 'em didn't get over the habit when they bolted the Chicago convention and followed the colonel off into the unknown. The Bull Moose is having a mighty hard time to keep his bucks in line, and now that their ardor has cooled somewhat they are "bolting" back into the ranks they lately quit.

It is reported that a New York book agent has passed his one hundredth birthday, and is still intact. He has plied his nefarious trade for three-quarters of a century and has escaped unscathed, but think of the fate that awaits him in the next world—if he ever gets there.

Captain Tooze and his valiant company from Dallas were given a place in the front rank of the advance forces of the Red army. The boss of the show must have heard of the prowess of company G's basket ball team.

FOR HUMAN OR ANIMAL FLESH

A remedy that is equally efficacious in healing the wounds, sores, sprains or other ailments of the flesh of man or beast.

BALLARD'S
SNOW LINIMENT

A healing remedy to effectively meet the needs of animal flesh need not be a harsh, strong mixture, too drastic for the human body; Ballard's Snow Liniment is proof of this. It ranks with the best of the flesh healing remedies designed for man; and it is equally as prompt in curing the wounds and flesh diseases common among animals. Owners of blooded horses prefer it to any other liniment because it leaves no disfiguring scars in any of the minor accidents or ailments. It heals by a mild power to which the flesh of horses responds readily.

It is of great value in healing harness galls, barbed wire cuts, wounds, festering sores and many other ailments to which horses are subject. In the relief of human suffering, it has done a world of good, particularly in easing the pains of rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica and lumbago. When gently rubbed in where the pain exists, it gives a most gratifying relief to the afflicted. As a household remedy for cuts, burns, bruises, sprains, contracted muscles, stiff neck, frost bites, swellings, chilblains, ivy poisoning, there is nothing better on earth.

Put Up in Three Sizes, 25c, 50c and $1.00 per Bottle.
