A Word to Parents About School Books

As most of you probably know, the margin of profit on School Books is barely sufficient to pay the bookseller for handling them. There is doubtless a paying profit somewhere along the line, but the retail merchant does not get any of it.

For this reason, all retail dealers find it necessary to sell school books for cash, as they are obliged to pay cash when buying their stocks from the wholesale book depots.

Our shipment of school books has arrived and will be ready for the little folk when school opens a week from next Monday.

In buying our school supplies this year, we have endeavored to anticipate every need of the children, and the result is found in the best stock of Books, Tablets, Pencils, Inks, and other school stationery ever brought to Dallas.

Your patronage will be gratefully appreciated.

WEEK IN SOCIETY.

(By Gladys Canter.)

ONE could hardly say that social life has been peculiarly rollicking or dashing the past week. Its most salient quality seemed to be the absence of frolicsomeness which clashed with a contrapuntal effect against the thought of "busting." Even the most exclaiming of the older set who are fond of quiet little affairs among its different members were obliged to exclaim in answer to a query, "I am sorry, but I have nothing to tell you this week. We haven't had a thing, not even an informal afternoon."

Master Grant Lane Entertains. Master Grant Lane, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Lane, of 212 Main street, was host on Wednesday afternoon from two o'clock 'til five when he entertained several tiny men and women at which Miss Kathryn Jennings, attractive little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Jennings, of Hillboro, was honor guest.

Rolling with sheer delight and the zest of youth the blithesome care-free revels of the tiny youngsters wended its capering way through a maze of fantastic delight. Little Miss Kathryn who has inherited her mother's gift of voice, sang several vocal selections. Luncheon was served on the lawn by Mesdames C. H. Lane and R. D. Jennings.

The guests were Misses Virginia Ellis, Kathryn Jennings, Almada Cowles and Master Grant.

For Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Kearns. Mrs. Oscar Holmes entertained Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Kearns of Rainier, as honor guests on Friday evening. The affair was given as a surprise for Mr. and Mrs. Kearns who are former Dallas residents and the guests were members of the Christian church. The honor guests were presented with an exquisite piece of Haviland China as a token of the esteem held for them by their friends in this city.

Mrs. Holmes entertained at luncheon for Mr. and Mrs. Kearns on Sunday when she asked several friends in for an informal afternoon.

For Mrs. H. K. Ball. Mrs. W. Wynn Johnson, of Sidney Orchard, entertained informally on Wednesday at luncheon and bridge for Mrs. H. K. Ball of Seattle, the house guest of Mrs. C. E. Sundberg.

Motorboat Detroit, Which Crossed the Atlantic Ocean

IN a thirty-five foot motorboat, the Detroit, Captain Thomas F. Day of New York city and his crew recently crossed the Atlantic from New York to Queenstown in twenty-four and a half days. Captain Day, who is the editor of the Rudder, says that he has proved the feasibility of a motorboat race across the ocean. The Detroit encountered terrific gales and shipped a good deal of water, but her captain says she was never in danger from the weather. Other perils which the crew experienced were the taking of the gasoline in the engine room and the spilling of the fresh water. The little craft pursued its way by water to St. Petersburg. The route taken was the English channel and the North and Baltic seas. The best day's run on the transatlantic voyage was 156 miles, the poorest twenty-two miles. The illustrations show the boat as she floats and in drydock.

MISSIONARIES DO GREAT WORK

Representative of Sunday School Union Visits Dallas. G. W. Rohrbough, missionary in the Albany district of the American Sunday School Union, which is the greatest Sunday school missionary society in the world, spent several days in this city this week calling upon many Dallas citizens who are interested in this home missionary work among the neglected rural districts of our own country.

Twelve commissioned men give their entire time to this work in the Upper Coast district—Oregon, Washington and Idaho. Since the first of last March these men have established 119 Union Sunday schools in villages, lumber camps, mining towns, mountain cabins, public halls, abandoned churches and school houses. They have brought together 428 teachers and 3401 scholars, visited 212 other needy schools, made 5190 pastoral visits to families, distributed $489.66 worth of Christian literature, 214 Bibles and Testaments, delivered 542 sermons and report 78 conversions.

As rapidly as possible these Sunday schools are turned over to some denominational church. Four churches and 21 preaching points were established during the month of June. Three hundred thousand young people of school age are reported outside of any Sunday school in these three states.
