College Y. M. C. A.

Pronounced activity in College Y. M. C. A. circles is a noticeable feature this semester. Officers elected for the first term, include Rev. G. H. Steiglitz, president; H. J. Wackerbarth, secretary; and Lars Larson, treasurer.

The meetings are held every Wednesday evening at the college reception room, and generally witness a large attendance from the student body.

Committees have been appointed to arrange an attractive booklet for the program decided upon for the first semester. It will be cut in the form of a letter "D" and tinted in red and white. The center and back of the folder will contain a list of the addresses and orators and the individual invitation to be present at the meetings.

Philadelphia Literary Society.

Holding their meetings every Friday night, instead of Monday, as has been the custom heretofore, the Philadelphia Literary society is branching out remarkably and have added several new members to their large roll. Officers have been elected for the coming term: H. J. Wackerbarth, president; L. Larson, vice-president; R. O. Caves, secretary; and Foster Williams treasurer. A list of open programs for the year has been planned, the first to be given within the
