

Ox Teams For Army Wagons And Army Peddlers In Turkey

Photos by American Press Association.

In Turkey they do things differently. They're about a million years behind the times there as viewed by our impatient eyes. Take their army transportation, for instance. The Turkish employ ox teams to cart their army supplies on the slow but safe basis. No autos for them. Then, too, their soldiers complete their outfits by buying from peddlers in the streets. Such odd but interesting scenes as these are common.

EMBARASSING.

The Tragedy of the Push Button Lights.

"POKE lights are very hard to manipulate," said young Hinkins. "They are made that way on purpose. They run like this:

1 2 3 4 5

"You would naturally think that, beginning on the left, No. 1 would light the porch, No. 2 the parlor, No. 3 the dining room, No. 4 the bathroom and No. 5 the bedroom. But that is not the way it works."

"The very first one is for the bathroom, No. 2 is the porch light, No. 3 lights the parlor, No. 4 lights the bedroom and No. 5 lights the dining room."

"One evening last summer I wanted to go downstairs and get a drink of water. All the lights were out because it was so warm and for other reasons. Uncle Billy was taking a bath in the dark because it was too warm to pull down the shades. I did not want any light because I had retired and was just sneaking down in my pajamas to get a drink of water. No shades were down anywhere, and the families of the entire neighborhood were out on their respective porches.

"Anna and the young man to whom she is engaged were sitting on the front steps. They didn't want any light."

"What I wanted to do was to light up the dining room for just a minute, so that I would get light enough in the hall to avoid the place where I knew I must stub my toe at the turn of the stairs. I poked a peg, and there were no results that I could see."

"I poked again. This act was followed by a scream. There was also applause from across the street and there came catcalls and such expressions as 'Oh, you Romeo and Juliet.' There was also a commotion on the front steps."

"I quickly poked again. This time there was a glaring light all around me, and I was the recipient of cheers. I hastened to relieve myself from the embarrassing prominence. Then I tried another light."

"This time I capped the climax. A splash was heard in the bathroom and the stentorian tones of Uncle Billy came through the night: 'High, there! Turn off the light!' Quick! I had attracted the attention of the neighborhood to Uncle Billy."

Stuck Up For Him.

A case was being tried in the west of England, and at its termination the judge charged the jury, and they retired for consultation. Hour after hour passed and no verdict was brought in. The judge's dinner hour arrived, and he became hungry and impatient. Upon inquiry he learned that one obstinate jurymen was holding out against eleven. That he could not stand, and he ordered the twelve men to be brought before him. He told them that in his charge to them he had so plainly stated the case and the law that the verdict ought to be unanimous, and the man who permitted his individual opinion to weigh against the judgment of eleven men of wisdom was unfit and disqualified ever again to act in the capacity of jurymen. At the end of this excited harangue a little squeaky voice came from one of the jury. He said, "Will your lordship

KNOWLEDGE COMPETITION

Following will be found a number of brief paragraphs, each one bringing out a few of the distinctive features or characteristics of this city's business institutions. The prizes are as follows: There is a query or two in each paragraph. To the party who first answers them correctly in detail will be given choice of the prizes noted above. The next best contest will be given choice of the remaining prizes, and so on till they are exhausted. Names must not be abbreviated but given in the usual style of the firm's advertising; street numbers must be given correctly and all answers must be neat and legible. There is no guessing about these. There is a clue in every one by which the identity may be confirmed. Answers will be sent by mail or brought to this office any time before next Wednesday evening. On Friday of next week the sequel of this feature will be published. At that time the prize winners will be announced and they are then entitled to call and get them. The competition is open to every one who reads this paper and employees of the paper and their relatives. Address all answers to: KNOWLEDGE CONTEST, Care Observer.

NUMBER 1—"Tis not painted wood nor polished stone, but hearts and furniture that make the home. This furniture store has been doing business here many years, the last four years under its present title. They have 75 feet front, all plate glass windows that attract the attention of every eye from the street. Their goods are coming they are unusually inviting. They carry a big stock of furniture, carpets, wall paper and house furnishings of every description. They are the people who put that excellent mattress under their own name. Also have the Ostermoot and the Seelye mattress. It is the home of the Hoosier Kitchen Cabinet. Their picture department is very pleasing. What is the name and address of this company?"

NUMBER 2—"Tis here I'll string my tuneful lyre, and twang my merry lute, and draw sweet strains of vibrant 'rye' from my violin and fiddle. This store has had bath baths to soothe the savage breast. "Everything in music" is the motto here. It is the store where they have the Schumann pianos—a piano that is in a class by itself for tone and finish. The piano of Cable & Nelson and other makes. They will sell you a piano here on very easy terms—so that you can pay for it while you are using it. They have a big stock of sheet music. They are headquarters for Edison Phonographs and Records. What is the name and address? It is one of the best places in town to buy a sewing machine."

NUMBER 3—"What is the name and address of the leading jeweler, who began business in this city 19 years ago? Each one of these years is a separate asset worth much to the purchaser of merchandise as to the quality of which he is forced to rely on the word of the dealer. The customers of many years ago are still his customers, besides lots of new ones. The people have learned that anything that is recommended to them in this store will always turn out right. He has a beautiful line of goods for the holiday season. It is here that you find the Gorham sterling silver and silver plate, Hawke's and Libby's cut glass, the W. W. guaranteed rings, the Ball watch, and many other superior lines. He is the official watch inspector for the Southern Pacific R. R. company. What is the name and address?"

NUMBER 4—"When you're blue, or cold, or shiver with the gripe, or the chills, or liver; when the doctor's auto stands before your door; when you're down and out, when you're sick, when you're in pain, and say, 'get this made up quick at—' drug store." This drug store is very central. It is one of the best equipped drug stores in the city. There are no old fashioned notions here. Everything is comparatively new and fresh and modern. The store has not been more than a hundred years here. It is where they have the biggest plate mirrors in town. It is in the place where they have the Arch family remedies. Give the name and address."

NUMBER 5—"This is the leading cigar store and billiard parlor in the city. Now don't get in a hurry and jump at conclusions. But it is the leading one just the same. Hardly know how to describe it. There are not few pool tables and the quality of the billiard table. It is a dull hour when they are not all busy. It is the place where gentlemen congregate and coin the idle hours into busy minutes. There is a big stock of cigars, tobaccos and smokers' articles. Give name and address."

NUMBER 6—"This hotel over all the county is known; the stockman, the farmer, the merchant—his home. For many many years it has been the inn that has sheltered these classes from fatigue and din. The rates are so low and the rooms so good that people flock here from every neighborhood, is far, it is only two blocks from here. When you visit the city, don't think it S. P. Car. A splendid place to patronize, give its name and win the prize."

NUMBER 7—"The vender of flowers and plants must be an artist to be successful. Here is a florist of superior talent, who has established a name in all this section of the county. He has every where attracted the attention of all who have artistic eyes in the line of beautiful effects with flowers. He makes a specialty of interior decorating for teas, card parties, luncheons, dinners, birthdays and weddings. Always has a big variety of cut flowers and plants. His greenhouse at a central location. What is the name and address?"

NUMBER 8—"What brand of flour is it that appeals most to Polk county people, as well as to those of many other counties in Oregon? You are also to give the name of the mill that manufactures it. An inspection of this plant will show it to be one of the cleanest and most perfect in operation in the whole West. The highest perfection is reached in the manufacture of this flour; it is perfectly uniform; every pound is just as good as every other pound. It is manufactured right here at home, and you should remember that this is "Made in Oregon" year. Patronize home industry and keep your money right here at home."

THE PRIZES

One Dozen Large Photos, Stone's Studio $10.00

Fancy Christmas Cake, Dallas Bakery $10.00

Beautiful Electric Lamp, Smith & Ellison Electric Co. $5.00

NUMBER 9—"A certain mineral water and soda works factory has a reputation for the excellence of its product. Has been doing business in this city for many years. Aerated waters are bottled here and are distributed all over the district. Their carbonated beverages have no superior in the entire province. Sole agents in this city for Hire's Root Beer. You will see this name on the bottle. The prize consists of candy stores. You are to give the name and address of this institution. They are also manufacturers of Lime-Sulphur spray, and of pickles and vinegar of superior merit."

NUMBER 10—"Who are the people who 'know how' in the cleaning line in this city? The proprietor is a custom tailor and sanitary cleaner; cleans everything except dirty linen and bad character—and fish. Uses the latest dry, or French, process sends for and delivers, and guarantees satisfaction. The dry, or French, cleaning process is one of the most important of the enterprises of recent years. But the process is somewhat complex and difficult. It needs expert handling. This busy tailor also attends to alterations, repairs everything in the tailoring line, and names that comes close to the top of the alphabet. Give name and address."

NUMBER 11—"The science of restoring health is no longer dependent on materia medica and surgery. The pendulum is swinging the other way, and in the numerous methods of treating disease that of Chiropactor is one of the most popular. It is based on a correct knowledge of the human body and the nerves emanating therefrom. Here is represented an institution that gives advice in dietetics, medical gymnastics and hydrotherapy, presided over by a thoroughly qualified Chiropactor. Has a nicely equipped institution, with a lady attendant. A Chiropactor so thoroughly understands the mechanism of the human body and Chiropactor science that they unerringly locate the cause of every trouble without the aid of a question. What is the name and address of this Chiropactor?"

NUMBER 12—"When you are ready to get that 'buzz wagon' on an establishment that will interest you greatly. The machine that is sold at this garage is one of the most popular in the whole automobile game. There are so many points in its favor that few people who investigate fail to decide in its favor. The new 1913 model all complete with every necessary and convenience at $986, is the greatest bargain in the auto world. You are to give the name of this automobile, also the name and location of this garage. They do the highest class of repair work at this garage, including vulcanizing. Also carry a full line of auto supplies."

NUMBER 13—"Many people have learned that it is not necessary to travel down town to the business center to get good groceries and family supplies at proper prices. There are high cost of living is due to high rents as much as to any other one cause. In this number we introduce a lively grocery store that is not paying too high prices because it is not in the business district. Telephone lines all lead to this store and their own special delivery system reaches all parts of the city very promptly. They will sell you the very best brands of goods at the lowest prices and the highest quality. What is the name of firm and the location?"

NUMBER 14—"Who are the liverymen who have become famous here in this city? Any kind of a rig you want will be found in this stable. They have the kind of horses that are 'safe and sane', and they go along with the quality. They know the livery business from start to finish. This stable is headquarters for the sale of horses for all purposes. What is the name and address?"

NUMBER 15—"Where was Moses when the light failed?" Is a question that has come down through the ages. If Moses had only known of this popular electrical company, he would not have met with that momentous misfortune. These experienced electricians know how to harness the electrical apparatus so that it will not fall, as long as there is any power on the circuit. They furnish electric fixtures, power apparatus, motors, etc. They do contract work in the electrical line all around the city and country. They are chook full of electricity, and all you have to do is press the button or ring the phone—they do the rest. Give the name and address."

NUMBER 16—"Here we introduce one of the best looking grocery stores in the city. It has not been under the present ownership more than a hundred years, but it is making good. When you enter the commodious vegetable fountain the first thing to catch the eye; further back in the enclosed screen for many good things—cheese, honey, etc. On either side are shelves and tables containing the latest and best brands of staple and delicacies. The produce is fresh and it will be found the sanitary grocery store. It is the store where they have the Amber blend of coffee—many people will have no other coffee but the Amber blend. Give the name and address of this grocer."

NUMBER 17—"Who is the milliner for men in Dallas? This big store is modern throughout—the place where the smart dresses get their becoming touch. Beautiful fashions brought out—with goods to match. Everything the latest in men's furnishings. The place for the young men to 'get ahead'. Likewise the place for the old ones to 'come back'. It is the store where the Sophomore clothes and Schloss Bros. fine tailored garments find the door to the open market. It is the store that has the Mallory and Street hats, the Flossheim and Gutzan shoes, the Ever-

NUMBER 18—"In this number we suggest a meat market in a modern building that looks swell—a front that opens full and ventilation that is perfect. The meats at this market are the kind that are 'fed right, handled right, cut right, and sold right.' The boys behind the block are smart, good looking and very pleasant. It is the market that appears so neat and clean that a look inside is an aid to the appetite. They have nice show cases equipped with cold storage pipes, and everything to facilitate the very best service. The only thing that is lacking in the equipment is the old time 'meat market smell.' The family trade specialists have made this market famous on account of their excellence. What is the name and address?"

NUMBER 19—"The one predominating feature at this drug store that everybody will recognize is its reputation for the careful filling of physician's prescriptions. This is not the kind of a drug store that advertises by handing out pills that when applied to the stub end of a dog's tail caused the said tail to grow out perfectly, and then applied in the same way to the severed piece, picked up from the dust of the street, caused a new dog to grow out of the tail, the kind that sells all first-class dependable drugs, standard remedies and sundries, in every case just what they purport to be. It is the oldest drug store in the city, a druggist of experience and attainment at its head, and competent assistants in every department. What is the name and address?"

NUMBER 20—"Who is the man who furnishes the garden and field seeds that will grow? He has had the experience that entitles him to first rank in the seed business. His card reads: 'Wholesale and retail garden and seeds, hay, grain, flour and feed, poultry and bee supplies.' He does a large mail order business as well as taking care of the home trade in the very best manner. This store has been many years in the public eye. What they sell always turns out to be just as it is represented. Give the name and address."

NUMBER 21—"Made in Dallas" is a slogan that ought to be burned into the memory of every smoker. Some of the best 5 cent cigars are made here that are to be found this side of Havana. This cigar factory and store has been a prominent concern for over a year. Ever smoke a "Little George" cigar? It is one of the "hardest to catch" 5 cent cigars in the whole west. You are to give the name of the manufacturer, and the location, and the next time you line up to the cigar counter you are to call for these cigars. The proof of the pudding is in the smoking. A first-class pool and billiard hall will be found at this place also."

NUMBER 22—"Where is it in Dallas that you get the wet goods that go right to the spot?—If you know where that is, this liquor store has been doing business here many years. They make a specialty of bonded liquors, fine wines and cordials—and they cater to family trade. They are the distributors of the Olympia beer. All that is necessary to get what you want is to whisper it to them over the phone and the identical article will be found on your premises on short notice. This house can meet the taste of the most critical connoisseur. Give the name and street number."

NUMBER 23—"Where is it they always have something new in sweets? Things have been going along this way for over two years. First one thing then another—just one thing after another. It is where they have the good candies, the still better smokes. It is where people go to buy a live newspaper, that comes in the evening. There is no better place on this side of Portland to get that sweet tooth cured. What is the name and address?"

NUMBER 24—"Where do these people who really appreciate their work in photography sit for their photographs? To whom do they go when they wish, not just a good photograph, but that superior quality of work which is turned out from the studio of a real artist. The character of the work here is in a class by itself and is appreciated by all discriminating people. The studio is located right in the heart of the shopping district, occupying several nicely equipped rooms on the second floor. It has been under the present very efficient management over one year. Carbon and sepia portraits, interior and commercial work, developing and finishing. Give the name and the address."

NUMBER 25—"Where is the place in town to go to have a little fun and pass off the time? Do you love to shoot? How straight can you shoot? Do you smoke, chew or eat candy? If you want to get healthy, wealthy and wise take an occasional look into this place, during the holidays. There will be special attractions. There is never a dull minute around this shop. It has been a going institution for 5 years. It is the place in town to turn the idle hours into busy minutes. What is the name and location of this good place."

NUMBER 26—"Before your gaze at this time is a bakery—the one that bakes that good bread—just like mother used to bake when she had good luck. This is not the oldest firm in the city but it is one that has made many friends already. All bread is baked out of flour, but the fact that some of it is better than others is proof that the baking has much to do with the quality. The pies, cakes and pastry of all kinds that come from this bakery are superior. They have opened an inviting coffee and lunch department which is bound to become very popular. What is the name and location of this bakery, also give the name of the proprietor."

NUMBER 27—"This number is to represent a firm of abstractors who have brought the records of the county down to a school. They are both attorneys. One gives his attention to the law while the other largely manages the abstract business. They have been accumulating their plant for the last 7 years, one year ago they installed a fire vault. They are always ready to issue abstracts of title on short notice and at very reasonable rates. The members of this firm are both young and active, ready and willing to take hold of any question at law, or to give the most modern service in furnishing abstracts of title. What is the name and address of this firm?"

NUMBER 28—"This number represents one of the busiest industrial institutions in the city. It is a hive of industry six days in a week and gives employment to a number of men. They manufacture awnings and window frames, inside finish of every description—bank, office and store fittings, cabinet, stair and general mill work. What is the name and address?"

NUMBER 29—"A painter was once asked what he mixed his paints with. He replied, 'with brains.' We have before you a firm of painters who use the same ingredients. They have been 'spreading it on pretty thick' around here for over two years. They have a store full of paints, wall paper and decorative supplies of all kinds. And they have their hands full of contracts all the time. They can paper or casement that room, or the whole house so as to get the best results. They always make a good job if they have to apply two coats—and a pair of pants. Another feature with this firm is the manufacture of mirrors and art glass effects. What is the name and address?"

NUMBER 30—"One of the prominent dry goods stores of Dallas is before you. It is where you find the Home Journal patterns, the R. & G. corsets, the Black Cat hose, Petera shoes, and the big line of coats and suits for the ladies and misses. There are larger stores than this one in Oregon, but none more modern and complete in detail. It is the store where the nice goods are found, and where there are plenty of kindly mannered, courteous, patient salespeople to wait on the crowd that is continually passing its portals. The name is one that describes the chief means of transportation in Africa. Give the name and address."

NUMBER 31—"What is the name of this good hotel, where they please you with those fine meals. Breakfast, luncheon and dinner come each time with a pleasant surprise. The appetitive, served in such a genteel and polite manner. Everything served is first-class, and it is always nicely served. There are good rooms at this hotel always clean, and well kept. They make a specialty here of luncheon and dinner, and if you have not tried them you will never know what you are missing until you do. The name is very familiar in hotel circles. It is one of the best first-class hotels in the Willamette valley. A new and modern building."

NUMBER 32—"It's the clothes that make the man. If you think it makes no difference about the clothes just you try going down street without any. Here is an establishment that is a complete outfitter for all that half of humanity that wears trousers. It is just door to a corner and runs clear round and has an entrance to the rear or street. It is not a wide room, but its capacity is doubled by the neat balcony that runs all the way round the room. It is the store where they have the beautiful Clortho, the clothing, the Flossheim shoes, the Headlight overalls, and other superior lines. It is the place where 'if men wear it, they have it.' What is the name and address?"

NUMBER 33—"A prominent department store is now called to your attention. It is located in a modern building, of three stories. It can not point to a long story of achievement and growth—that is in the future. They carry about everything but groceries and hardware—dry goods, clothing, furnishing goods, millinery, shoes, hats, hosiery, etc. These goods are new and down to date. It is where you find the Gordon line, the Blinner and La Camille corsets, the Fashion shoe. It is the store where they have the good looking, pleasant, painstaking salespeople, who never tire in making it easy and pleasant for you to shop with them. Good merchandise and very low prices are the additional features that draw trade to this store. Give name and location."

NUMBER 34—"A large number of the monuments that mark the interesting places of the pioneers of this city and county were erected by the gentleman to whom we allude in this paragraph. Has been in business in the county 25 years. He is in the district of low rents, and will make it up to their customers in low prices. You will miss some great things if you pass them by for the holidays. They are live wires. What is the name and address?"

NUMBER 35—"Here is a variety store that is making great headway toward showing some beautiful and interesting things for the Christmas holidays. Heretofore it has been a 10, 15 and 25 cent store, but it has determined to climb the ladder higher and will add a variety of goods that come higher. You will not find this store right in the center of the shopping district. It is in the district of low rents, and will make it up to their customers in low prices. You will miss some great things if you pass them by for the holidays. They are live wires. What is the name and address?"

NUMBER 36—"In these piping times of skimp and save it behooves the head of the family to make his money stretch as far as possible. The second-hand store is the one place where this feat can be accomplished. Here is an institution that came under present control in the early part of this year. It is an interesting sight to walk down through the store and see what has been gathered together. They have about everything but a second-hand cow. Their policy is to buy everything that doesn't eat. There are bargains here in household goods of all kinds, in harness, in tools, etc. They have a big line of good stoves. Everything going very cheap. A name that begins with a letter way down at the bottom of the alphabet. Give name and address.

NUMBER 37—"It's the soles of the people he keeps in view, for he is the doctor of boot and shoe; and he serves the living and not the dead, with the best of leather, wax, nails and thread. He can sew on a sole, or nail it fast, and do a good job and make it last. A great many patients come to his door, worn out and run down, besides feeling sore; though he doesn't use poultice, plaster or pill, he cures all sick soles, no matter how ill. What is the name and location? A name that is spelled with 7 letters."

JOHNNIE'S DECISION.

I LEFT a note beneath dad's plate last night in which I tried to state what my position is on schools. An 'spelling' books an 'states an' rules.

"Dear dad"—"that was the way I wrote to him an' put it in the note"— "I have decided I am sore On school, so I won't go no more When it begins, I want to go An' get a job to work at. No more at present." I wrote then Beneath, "Your lovin' little Ben."

When dad turned up his plate an' seen The note he took it up between His thumb an' finger this way An' read it through an' didn't say A word, but give a sort o' frown An' folded it an' laid it down An' et his supper an' then he lit His pipe an' set there smokin' it Till bed-time. Then I said good night. An' he said: "Good night, son! Sleep tight!"

An' when I had got nearly half The way upstairs I heard him laugh.

This mornin' before I come down Dad had gone to his work in town, An' when I turned my plate up, gee, There was another note for me! It said: "Dear son, by this you'll know I have decided you're to go To school when school begins again. Schools are for boys and work for men. I work for you, so you must be Good and must go to school for me. Or else meet me out in the street. Dad." So I'll just do as he said. —Omaha World-Herald.

Andrew Carnegie tells a tale about taking a German financier traveling in America on a visit to Niagara Falls. The millionaire, accustomed to outbursts of wonderment and enthusiasm, was not a little astonished to see his Teutonic friend stand and gaze steadily minute after minute upon that roaring cataract without evincing the faintest emotion.

Finally, unable, as he admits, any longer to conceal his chagrin and disappointment, Mr. Carnegie turned to his companion and asked: "Don't you think that's a wonderful sight?"

"Not," asked the German. "Why, that gigantic body of water pouring over that lofty precipice." The gentleman from the Fatherland stood for a few seconds longer, then looked up blandly and asked: "Well, Vandy to hinder it?" —Los Angeles Herald.

Self Made Ego. It is difficult to convince a self-made man that he has cheated himself. —Chicago News.

Incredible. While the agent was selling farm machinery at the house, the friend at the gate led his horse, and a conversation took place with the small boy of the family.

With grave incredulity he was saying: "Are you sure you are only nine years old? I think there must be some mistake." The boy was positive, but to make sure, "Ma," he called, "ain't I just nine years old?"

"Yes, son." After a time he ventured, "Say, mister, what made you think I was more than nine years old?"

"Why," said the stranger, "I could not understand how you could get so dirty in nine years." —Christian Herald.

Kitchenettes. Pewter is best cleaned by washing it with hot water, rubbing it with fine sand and when dry polishing it with leather.

Mattings splinters easily when swept with a bare broom. To preserve it either clean it with a soft brush or cover the broom with a gray cotton flannel bag.
