Luther McCarty Wrestling A Bear as Training Stunt

WRESTLING with a bear while training for his fight with Al Paizer was the hazardous feat accomplished by Luther McCarty, the white heavyweight champion of the world. McCarty has had a varied career. He has been a district messenger boy, cowboy, farm hand, lumberjack, deep sea sailor, bill sticker, constable and man of all work. He learned to fight with his fists as a part of his scheme of life. One of his first big ring battles was in 1911, when he substituted for a fighter who had "run out" of a match with Walt Adams, heavyweight champion of Canada. He knocked Adams in the second round. FORSAKES TITLE FOR LEPER'S LIFE

Sir George Turner to Devote All His Time to Sufferers. HOPES TO FIND A REMEDY.

Is Victim of Dread Disease Himself and Thinks There is Great Possibility of Discovering a Cure For It—To Work in South Africa and India—Has Lived in Seclusion at Exeter.

London.—Although Sir George Turner is afflicted with leprosy as the result of his heroic self sacrifice in working among lepers in South Africa, he has no intention of abandoning his active work among the sufferers from that disease, but has decided to devote the remainder of his life to lepers.

He has just offered his services to the mission to lepers in India and the east, but it is felt that there is greater scope for his work in South Africa, where he knows all the conditions, and he will probably return to that field of labor. He is full of brave hope that he may be able to do something more for his fellow sufferers.

In an interview Sir George said that his treatment of lepers thus far had been on the general principles of making lepers more comfortable and retarding the advance of the disease. There was a great possibility, he thought, that some remedy might be found.

"Generally speaking," he said, "people have a very erroneous idea with regard to the contagiousness of leprosy. In my opinion leprosy is usually, if not always, spread by contagion, but most lepers are not nearly so dangerous to the public as a person suffering from phthisis."

Since the terrible day that he made the dread discovery that he was a victim of leprosy Sir George has lived in comparative retirement near Exeter. He has received numerous invitations to social functions and has invariably replied:

"I will come if you don't mind my being a leper."

Wakes Up to the Trade Opportunities in West Indies.

Colonial Minister le Brun (now war minister) sent an important mission to the islands last year, and its report and Minister le Brun's energy brought about the present appropriations.

Mrs. Eze. So your husband fell asleep in church last night, I suppose you woke him up? Mrs. Wye. Not until after the sermon. There was a lot in it about women's extravagance—non-sense, of course, but I'm mighty glad John didn't hear it.—Boston Transcript.

Davis Best Flour

Say, Mrs. Breadmaker, did you ever have trouble with your bread in the Summer and Fall? Yes, you have. But it was not your fault. We know it. For years—yes, for half a century perhaps—you have baked bread fit for a king. The reason of your failure in the Summer and Fall was that you were baking new flour. Flour freshly ground from the newly harvested wheat needs to cure for months before it will make good bread.

The makers of DAVIS BEST FLOUR have solved the bread problem for you. Their mills are in the famous Big Bend wheat district of Eastern Washington. In their string of warehouses they hoard mammoth piles of golden grain, and by operating their mills day and night they accumulate a large stock of old crop flour. We can supply you with old DAVIS BEST FLOUR.

It costs no more than the green, damp, newly ground flours and makes better bread.

BIG BEND WHEAT

Is acknowledged by millers to be the best grade of milling wheat grown on the Pacific Coast.

DAVIS BEST

Is unbleached, uncolored and undoped, but has as fine a color as any flour on the market.

TRY A SACK

of DAVIS' BEST now, and if you are not greatly delighted your merchant will cheerfully refund your money.
