CHITTY BY VOTE OF FOUR TO THREE. (Continued from Page One) board. Mayor Van Orsdel expressed himself as being very much in favor of beautifying the tract to have it in readiness for the coming chautauqua meeting in July. All Bids Rejected. On motion of Fenton all bids for the hauling of rock from the city quarry were rejected and the matter was left with the street committee with power to act. In this connection it was stated that possibly arrangements might be made with a Corvallis or Independence company to secure gravel for the improvement of the city streets, rather than to use the rock from the quarry, as it might be secured much cheaper. The street committee will look this matter up and take whatever action they deem necessary and proper. In the matter of road and street improvement it was ordered, on motion by Fenton, that the street committee proceed at once to employ men and teams to do the grading on Fairview avenue and place the street in condition to receive the rock or gravel. The question of the improvement of this street brought forth a general discussion of whether the city should improve county roads within the limits of the city from the funds received from the road district, or whether the property should be assessed as in other cases, but no definite action was taken. The matter of street paving was left with a special committee consisting of Barham, Fenton and Risser to look up what streets should be paved and what the cost would be, and report. Dolarway Company Warns. A communication was read from the Dolarway Pavement company of New York, suggesting that the contract for hard surface street work recently awarded by the city to the Clark & Henry Construction company, was a close imitation of their patented pavement and warned the city to require a bond from the paving company to protect the city against possible proceeding by the Dolarway company for infringement of patent. The sum of $39 remaining in the library fund was, on motion of Risser, turned over to the library board. Fenton suggested that some action should be taken regarding the installation of drinking fountains in the city and Mayor Van Orsdel stated that he understood the Dallas Woman's club had this matter in charge and would confer with the council at its next meeting regarding it. W. L. Soehren, representing the Dallas Water company stated that his company was ready and willing to replace its present mains with new and modern ones whenever the city council gave indication that it meant business with the paving matter. The matter of installing hydrants in the southwestern portion of the city was taken up at the suggestion of Mayor Van Orsdel, and it was stated that when the deeds to the recently dedicated streets had been received from the Howe heirs this matter would be looked after. The fire and water committee were instructed, on motion of Risser, to procure lanterns or torches for the use of the fire department. City Finances. Chairman Hayter of the finance committee read a report regarding the finances of the city as follows: Valuation Dallas property 1912 $1,144,862.00 Tax raised by 12 mill levy 13,738.34 Turned over to Treasurer 9,591.04 Balance to be collected $4,147.30 Tax raised in Dallas road

DON'T FORGET! A LOT FOR A WORD Our contest for the name of our beautiful new addition to the city of Dallas closes at noon on 15th day of May. Have you sent in a name? A name suitable for such an exclusive residence district in a thriving city. Building restrictions make it an ideal home site and offer unequalled opportunities for investment. REMEMBER! THAT'S A LOT FOR A WORD FEDERAL TRUST CO. HOTEL GAIL DALLAS, OREGON Open to all residents of Polk County. That's a Lot for a Word

Retiring President's Address

The following address was delivered by Mrs. George E. Gerlinger, retiring president of the Dallas Woman's club at the annual meeting held on Tuesday afternoon, May 6: In coming to the parting of the ways there is always regret, especially if the way has been a pleasant one. So after two years of work with this club, I feel a genuine regret that my active part in its destiny is at an end, with many things yet undone that we would wish to see accomplished. However, it is with a feeling of relief, too, that the really hard work attendant upon the office will fall to other and more capable hands. As I told you frankly in assuming this office two years ago, I knew nothing of Woman's club work except through occasional attendance at a club meeting and some reading on the subject. Consequently my reign has been characterized chiefly by main force and awkwardness. From the interesting reports of your officers you have heard in detail of our work this past year. Surely you must feel a justifiable pride in all the successful enterprises you have carried through. Not one thing attempted can be called a failure, and we feel we have achieved a decided success in equipping our club rooms as we have with this handsome piano, in furnishing our kitchen so completely. We have even made a modest beginning on the club silverware—but there's a field for the next administration to cover. The women of Dallas at last have a pleasant downtown meeting place, where they may gather to settle questions of local and national importance and where they may dispense hospitality. Happily our endeavors have not begun and ended at home. We have reached out a helping hand to the work of the General Federation by a contribution to its endowment fund; have aided in the crusade against tuberculosis by selling Red Cross seals; have furnished two rest rooms at the public buildings; and we have had the honor of opening this fine new library building to the public at two big affairs—one given to adults and one to the children of the town. The club members have most loyally supported the library benefit play, and the concert given by the organization of which we are so proud—the Woman's chorus. The older members have aided the girls in the pleasant parties they have given, and in every way have shown their loyal club spirit. In closing I wish to thank you one and all for your cordial support of the officers, who could have done nothing without your able assistance. To those who have helped us because of personal friendship, as well as for the general good, let me tender again grateful thanks. And to those few not altogether in accord with the present administration who have nevertheless in a broad, fine spirit put aside petty personal prejudices and taken up their allotted duties in a generous, gracious spirit, especial praise is due. It is utterly impossible for a hundred and thirty-seven of us with our natural feminine limitations and our varied experiences in life to think alike and to be wholly united. It is best for the life of the organization that honest differences do exist. But out of these women's clubs, where the members are banded together for mutual improvement and purposes altruistic there comes to the individual that great broadening, leavening power of seeing things from more than one point of view, of accepting gracefully defeat or victory. To this end it is best that officers should frequently be changed and each member made to feel her individual responsibility. Let us continue to embody in our club life the motto of the General Federation, "Unity in Diversity." IRENE H. GERLINGER. (Mrs. G. T.) Club Gets Him. Virgil Capp is an addition to the Missouri contingent who have joined the Oregon ranks within the past few months. Mr. Capp came here last week with his family, having been induced to come here through the efforts of the Commercial Club. Not desiring to settle down in Oregon for good and purchase property here, Mr. Capp was found employment by the secretary of the club immediately and is now employed at the mills of the Dallas Lumber & Logging company. Mr. Capp learned of Oregon's many advantages through The Observer columns. Summer Hats Cleaned. At Phil Begin's, the tailor. tf

She received Toel's electric treatment at Dr. Toel's office, 619 Washington Street, growing her neck over the goitre was found to measure only 13 1/2 inches, and the breastbone and liver now lie 1/2 inches in size and show only a slight enlargement of the thyroid gland is left, and all this in the remarkably short time of a single week, and without any surgical operation, simply by electric treatment.
