To bring about better results in the schools of Polk county through a careful and systematic study of the conditions and to develop the schools to the highest standpoint of efficiency are the principal objects of the County Principals' club of Polk county which has been formed and is under way.

This organization has the stamp of approval of County Superintendent Seymour and the interest of the principals of the county. Through co-operation of all of the teachers and principals, through a comprehensive plan of going into the details of school work and of educational books at its meetings and through proposed betterments and developments in the light of past experience, it is believed that the club will bring about decided advancement in the county schools.

SHUTTING DOWN ON SALES

Liquor Legislation Already Leaves Some Districts Parched.

Liquor legislation, although not yet effective, as passed by the last legislature is resulting in some of the unincorporated towns in Polk county being shut out of Dallas wet goods. Where some times in the past it has been customary for shipments to be made to the smaller communities for personal use some of the local dealers state they are taking no more chances. The principal law in question which has been worrying them has been one which would prohibit the sale of liquor outside of incorporated cities and towns and while the law will not be in effect for some time to come dealers here state they are taking no chances.

MAKE MANY IMPROVEMENTS

Davis & Horn to Have Enlarged, Modernized Store.

Davis & Horn, who recently purchased the furniture store at Washington and Main streets are greatly improving, enlarging and modernizing their store. The store will be enlarged so as to give floor space covering 50x100 feet. A rest room is being installed, which will be a great convenience to customers and in many ways the store is being improved throughout. The newcomers who have taken over the store, are demonstrating that they are "live wires" and genuine boosters.

Mallicoat-Farmer.

A most beautiful wedding took place on Sunday, May 18, 1913, at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Farmer near Rickreall, when their daughter, Josephine, was united in marriage to Lloyd H. Mallicoat.

The rooms were tastefully decorated with purple and white lilies. At 12 o'clock the bride and groom entered the parlor to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march played by Miss Winifred Dennett. Rev. D. M. Metzger of Dallas, read the impressive marriage service of the Evangelical church in the presence of 50 guests. After congratulations a bountiful three-course luncheon was served.

The bride was charming in a gown of white silk net over white messaline silk and carried a bouquet of bride's roses, which was later caught by Miss Flora Gee.

The wedding presents were numerous and beautiful in evidence of the high esteem in which the contracting parties are held.

Amid a shower of rice and good wishes Mr. and Mrs. Mallicoat left at 3 p. m. for the Allen farm near Oak Grove, where they will be at home to their friends after June 1st.

Cow and Hog Day.

Cow and Hog day will be celebrated at Stanfield May 24. Under the auspices of the Commercial club of that place an enthusiastic rally will be held and dairying and hog raising will be boosted. Many visitors will attend from outside points.

DALLAS MAN HAS OLD PAPER

Printed on Wall Paper During the Famous Siege of Vicksburg.
Some of the lights, shadows and vicissitudes of the great Civil War are reflected in a copy of the Daily Citizen printed on wall paper at Vicksburg, Miss., and the property of E. L. Johnson of this city. The issue is that of July 2, but contains a note dated July 4, which chronicles the end of that memorable siege.

On Dit, recites the paper in one instance. "That the great Ulysses—the Yankee generalissimo surnamed Grant—has expressed his intention of dining in Vicksburg on Saturday next and celebrating the 4th of July by a grand dinner and so forth. When asked if he would invite General Jo Johnson to join he said 'No, for fear there would be a row at the table.' Ulysses must get into the city before he dines in it. The way to cook a rabbit is 'first to catch the rabbit,' etc."

Then the note of two days later is printed under date of July 4 with a different ring in its tone.

"Two days bring about great changes" says the note. "The banner of the Union floats over Vicksburg. Gen. Grant has 'caught the rabbit.' He has dined in Vicksburg and he did bring his dinner with him. The 'Citizen' lived to see it. For the last time it will appear on 'Wall paper.' No more will it imagine the luxury of mule meat and fairsessed kiltten—urge Southern warriors to such diet nevermore. This is the last wall paper edition, and, excepting this note, from the types as we found them. It will be valuable hereafter as a curiosity."

That all was not calm inside the city itself during the siege is indicated by one editorial which charged that citizens of the city were concealing breadstuffs from the famine stricken armies and doling them out at an extortionate rate. It was claimed that some parties were selling flour at 85 a pound; molasses at $10 a gallon and corn at $10 a bushel.

The editor of the Citizen, whoever he was, was also a master of invective. Referring to a contemporary and his editor, he says, "This paper at present is in dress and edited by a pink-nosed, slab-sided toad eating Yankee, who is a lineal descendant of Judas Iscariot and a brother german of the greatest Puritanical sycophantic, howling scoundrel unhung—Parson Brownlow."

The paper contains one sheet and throughout is interesting. Mr. Johnson, possessor of the paper, is an old veteran, and served with Grant during the siege of Vicksburg.
