A LITTLE TALK ABOUT ENVELOPES

There are many kinds of envelopes—good, bad and indifferent. We make the markets of the country to select none but the very best. An experience of twenty years in printing on all kinds of envelopes enables us to select the best values.

An envelope, to be desirable, must possess many good qualities. It must be strong, so that it will stand rough handling in the mails. It must have a smooth writing surface. It must be well gummed, so that it may be sealed quickly and securely. It must be high-cut, so that your letter will not be exposed to this gummed surface. It must be neatly cut, so that it will present an attractive appearance.

All of these qualities will be found in the envelopes we sell, whether it be in the 5-cent or the 10-cent grades. Our Regal Linen envelope is the best 10-cent envelope in the world today. Our Paragon brand has no superior as a 5-cent seller.

We buy these envelopes by the case and thus obtain an additional discount. This extra profit we share with you, by giving you a better envelope that you can possibly buy from the dealer who buys his goods in small lots.

Our envelope trade is growing at a marvelous rate, and we want you among our customers. It will benefit both of us.

PORTLAND TEAM EASY FOR LOCALS

SUNDAY GAME WON BY SCORE OF 8 TO 3.

Visitors Completely Outclassed; Game Slow and Featureless and Ragged Exhibition.

There wasn't much to that contest Sunday over at the Rowell park between Dallas and a ball team from Portland styling themselves "Stiletos." While the score resulted in favor of Dallas 8 to 3, the crowd would have been just as well pleased if it had been more even. There is no gainsaying the fact that the local fans are growing tired of this endless merry-go-round at the ball park and contests with teams utterly outclassed by the locals. If "Barney" had kept the pace he started the game last Sunday the score might have been much larger for the locals. But he saw there was no use pitching his head off to win, so he took it easy after his team had piled up a total of eight scores to three for the visitors.

The game was slow and featureless with the exception of the geying handed out from the bleachers to visiting team and home club alike, although a great running catch by Rice in right garden brought a liberal hand from the crowd. Errors were plentiful, a total of 10 being charged up against the players.

Following is the official score:
Stiletos AB.R.H.PO.A.E.
McKenna, 2b 0 0 2 2 1
Wood, 3b 1 2 2 0 0
Dear, ss 1 1 1 3 0
Martin, 1b 0 0 11 0 0
Lind, lf 3 0 1 0 0
Barnes, p 0 0 1 0 0
Bark, rf 3 0 1 1 0
Dempson, cf 2 0 1 0 0
Samuelson, c 3 0 5 2 2

Score by innings—
Stiletos 0 1 0 1 0 0 0—3
Dallas 2 0 5 1 0 0 0 x—8
Summary—Two base hits, Herzog, Dammon. Sacrifice hits, Cooper, Stolen bases, Herzog, Hillery, Dear 2, Lind. First base on balls, off Barnes 2, off Barham 3. Hit by pitcher, Lind by Barham, Cooper by Barnes. Struck out, by Barnes 7, by Barham 12. Wild pitches, Barnes 2. Passed balls, Samuelson 2. Left on bases, Stiletos 4, Dallas 5. Time of game, one hour and a half. Umpire Grant.

Both Fenton at first, and Clarke at third, were out of the game Sunday, both being out of the city. Manager Serr made his debut on the local team at first, while Ray Boydston of the recent high school team held down the third spot.

The regular unps, Senator Morton, being away with the soldiers helping to wipe out the Tillamook "rebellion," Glen Grant held the indicator and did a very good job with it.

Come on, boys—give us a stronger team, even if you do lose—the bugs want a run for their money.

Chicago College of Osteopathy. Announcement.

Convinced of the necessity of establishing and maintaining a high standard of education in the science and art of osteopathy, the members of the osteopathic profession in Chicago have organized the Chicago College of Osteopathy, and have incorporated under a charter from the State of Illinois as an educational institution not for profit. The new institution has taken over the buildings and equipment of the well known Littlejohn college, which was itself a non-profit making school, and which now automatically goes out of existence.

The city of Chicago has long been known as the medical center of the United States. Its scientific libraries and centers of research and its intimate touch with the scientific world, make it the natural center and source of the most rapid progress in the new and ever growing science of osteopathy. The spirit of Chicago has inspired the Chicago College of Osteopathy, which, from its very inception, will reflect, in every one of its aspects, the great city out of which it has come forth.

This College in every one of its departments, will be of standard excellence. Its teaching power, both in its faculty and equipment, will be the highest attainable. Its post-graduate department will be of the kind—in its clinical, lecture and laboratory features—which the practicing osteopath has most ardently longed for and which, thus far, he has not been able to obtain anywhere at any price.

Believing that a scientific institution, especially one which is devoted to the training of young men and women for the practice of the high art of healing, should be inspired with the spirit of productive research, ample provisions for this essential feature of its life have been made. It has been truly said that no medical school is complete in which the student comes in contact only with instruction in which known facts are retailed at second hand. Progress depends upon effort toward the enlargement of knowledge.

The Chicago College of Osteopathy will encourage investigation, and the progress that springs inevitably from it. These influences are all powerful in forming the professional character, the broadness, the intelligence, and the power of the future practitioner.

In its course of studies, the Chicago College of Osteopathy will include all branches taught in the best schools throughout the country.

FORTUNE TO AGED PEOPLE

F. Swope, of Independence, as attorney for the guardian C. W. Irvine, represented by affidavits and papers duly executed, that arrangements for a settlement had been effected under the terms of which Simmons will receive $17,000 in cash. Two thousand dollars of this money has already been paid him.

25 Years in Independence.

The Simmons have been residents of Independence for a quarter of a century and, by frugality and the details of everything, approaching luxury in the past years, succeeded in owning their own home, a small and unpretentious cottage. During all the time the family has been supported by Mr. Simmons who worked as a common laborer at whatever he could get to do. There are four children, but none of them live at home. During the earlier years, while the head of the household was able to work, all was well, but as the weight of the years bore down upon him he found his ability to toil growing less and less and problem of existence becoming an ever-present reality. Things went from bad to worse until, at one time, it was reported that the couple were without wood and the necessities of life. Kind hearted neighbors rallied to their assistance, however, and with help from the children, ministered to the wants of the old couple.

So now, in the evening of life, this assurance comes to them and gives will be full of the luxury and the realization of which they have never known. The whole story is so filled with claims and counter-claims, and attempts at alleged fraud that one is impressed with the fact that gave an honest man control of Simmons' interests and therefore assures him of a just and equitable division of the fortune in which he is interested.

Exchange building, Portland, and any locality wishing to become part of this great national machine of marketing can get desired information of above address.

The system publishes a paper—"Up to Date Farming" which goes to every farmer who pays his membership fee. An extract from this paper which covered the whole ground, is as follows:

"We plow, and plant, and prune and hoe, yet harvest pays few debts we owe. Apples are cast in piles to waste, and onions are thrown away in haste; potatoes lie in pits and rot, wheat chance for profit have we got? The gross injustice makes me hot. Hark, ye hoofs, be up-to-date—the middleman don't pay the freight, wake up, and act before too late."
