A LITTLE TALK ABOUT ENVELOPES

There are many kinds of envelopes—good, bad and indifferent. We make the markets of the country to select none but the very best. An experience of twenty years in printing on all kinds of envelopes enables us to select the best values.

An envelope, to be desirable, must possess many good qualities. It must be strong, so that it will stand rough handling in the mail. It must have a smooth writing surface. It must be well gummed, so that it may be sealed quickly and securely. It must be high-cut, so that your letter will not be exposed to this gummed surface. It must be neatly cut, so that it will present an attractive appearance.

All of these qualities will be found in the envelopes we sell, whether it be in the 5-cent or the 10-cent grades. Our Regal Linen envelope is the best 10-cent envelope in the world today. Our Paragon brand has no superior as a 5-cent seller.

We buy these envelopes by the case and thus obtain an additional discount. This extra profit we share with you, by giving you a better envelope that you can possibly buy from the dealer who buys his goods in small lots.

Our envelope trade is growing at a marvelous rate, and we want you among our customers. It will benefit both of us.

No man knows the full meaning of the word "home" until he owns his own home.

The independence, the pride, the satisfaction of owning your own home do not come to those who pay out their hard earned cash to a landlord.

Look about you.

Who have the "homest" homes?

Who have the best kept lawns and gardens?

Is it those who have no definite assurance as to whether they are going to be required to move in a month or so? No, it is those who are living in their own domiciles. Those who know that every seed, shrub, or tree that they plant is going to grow to beautify their own surroundings, to benefit themselves.
