HERBINE

Is a Powerful Chills Tonic and Liver Regulator.

It puts the liver in healthy, vigorous condition and cures the chills by destroying the disease germs which infect the system. Herbine is a fine antiperiodic medicine, more effective than the syrupy mixtures that sicken the stomach; because it not only kills the disease germs, but acts effectively in the liver, stomach and bowels, thus putting the system in condition to successfully resist the usual third or seventh day return of the chills. Herbine is a cleansing and invigorating medicine for the whole body.

Price 50c per bottle.

Scientific Farming Bats Out a Home Run on Pacific Coast

SOME potatoes! After juggling in our mind such other adjectives as mammoth, huge, colossal, elephantine, enormous, mighty, gigantic and cyclopean we decided to select the very last thing in modern comparative expression and call 'em "some" potatoes. They were grown in a big new state, Washington. They're the newest word in scientific farming. C. V. Ogee is the name of the youth in the illustration, and he grew the potatoes (which really speak for themselves without any adjective) in Douglas County, where he attends high school. He took the new scientific course in farming provided through a new federal law which gives schools $100 per farm for farm directors. If anybody thinks he can grow any larger or better "spuds" let him go to it.

CONCRETE HENHOUSE FLOORS BEST.

More and more concrete is becoming the poultry house floor. The insubstantial earth and expensive board floor are certainly not in it with concrete when properly laid and littered. Our floors are never damp and give perfect satisfaction.

A few who tried concrete are pessimists. They tell us such floors are damp and even that rats chew through them. This is concrete nonsense. It proves their floors were not real concrete.

But, what is real concrete? Real concrete is a stone-like material composed of A. No. 1 cement, clean, sharp sand; gravel and water, mixed in proper proportions, and laid by correct methods on a properly prepared foundation.

Let it be remembered that a concrete floor is never drier than the surface under it, and, placing tar paper between the layers of concrete to keep down damp, separates the layers and spoils the job.

The house foundation, whether of stone or concrete, should go below frost line, and the space between the walls should be dug out and be filled with cinder thoroughly rammed and wet before concrete is spread on it. The first, or rough coat, should be thoroughly mixed and consist of one part cement, two of sharp sand and four of clean gravel. Enough water should be used to make it work easily, and it should be packed level two and a half inches deep on the soaked cinder. When set so it will not move it should be sprinkled, and a half inch smooth, finishing coat, equal parts cement and sharp sand, should be spread on it flush to all and should be a half inch thicker if poultry machinery is set on it.

If floor is large a few sand cushions will allow for contraction and expansion. July is best time to lay floors as they require time to dry, and when floor breaks away well from all it is sign that they are dry enough for the flock.

It is unnecessary to cover concrete with tar or with sand, but litter should be plentiful. A concrete floor may be sprayed with whitewash.

DON'TS.

Don't growl. The bulldogs growl only when there is a reason. A human growler is a mighty poor imitation of a dog and of a real man also.

Don't sell dressed poultry with full crops. The feed will rot and spoil the carcasses.

Don't forget that green bone is rich in phosphate of lime, an element of bone and eggshell.

Don't carve a sprig or extra point off a rooster's comb and expect it to leave no scar nor unnatural appearance. Take your cut for extra points rather than be a cheat.

Don't try to replace broken or lost feathers in a rooster's tail nor dye a white primary another color. Such an old trick is not slick and is seen quick.

Don't attempt to remove white in face or ear lobe with acid. It is cruel and crafty, but the scar will remain to your shame.

Don't fake at all. It is better to have shown and lost than make your conscience pay the cost. A silver-cup or a ribbon blue will never make that up to you.

Don't put if you don't win. Be kind to the winner and then go home and break your troubles gently to the gate post.

Don't breed from birds with bad defects nor disqualifications. They will be repeated in the offspring and often be worse than in their ancestors.

Petroleum Oil as Adulterant. The department of agriculture has discovered a new adulterant that is being used in the manufacture of biscuits and wafers containing an upper and lower crust with a cream filler. This adulterant is made of petroleum oil, and seizures have already been made of products containing such ingredient.

The oil is used in connection with sugar and milk in preparation of the cream filler and substituted because it is cheaper than coconut oil or butter. The use of this substance in articles of food is regarded as adulteration and in violation of the federal food and drugs act. Petroleum oil is a lubricant rather than a product containing food value.

KIDNEY DISEASES AND THEIR PHYSIOLOGIC TREATMENT as used by DOCTOR TOEL THE CHICAGO SPECIALIST NOW AGAIN IN DALLAS

Kidney diseases have long been known to the medical profession as diseases very little influenced by drug treatment. When the kidneys had once become enlarged it was next to impossible to prevent the following hardening and shrinking, the process of so-called Bright's disease. This at that time was known as an incurable disease. Of late years, however, it has been found out that Bright's disease is not a primary disease, but it depends in most cases on a disturbance of the nervous system, which influences the tension of the walls of the arteries, finally bringing on a hardening of these walls, and in consequence of this an increased blood-pressure. This pressure throws more blood than normal into the kidneys, they swell up, and often the liver becomes affected in the same way.

Special instruments were invented and constructed for the accurate measurement for the blood pressure. The first ones consists of a glass tube filled with mercury, like a barometer. Later on instruments on the air pressure system, made and jewelled like the finest watch, were constructed, which allow the high pressure when the heart is contracted, also the low pressure when the heart is dilated, and by these two the pulse pressure, to be measured accurately. Dr. Toel uses the best make of the latter kind of instrument, which of course, is very expensive. But he is sure then to get accurate measurements, which it is impossible to get with the cheaper instruments.

In this way the extent of the disease can often be discovered in time yet to stop the dangerous process.

Medicines of course are useless for that purpose. But of late it has been discovered that certain forms of electrical currents when properly applied, will bring the blood pressure down again below the point of danger, and thus in many cases save patients suffering from kidney and liver diseases. These currents change their direction up to a million times per second, and on account of this property they can be used in such strength that they will light up a lamp through the body of the patient, when the patient is insulated from the one wire, the current going right through the insulation on account of the high voltage. As many machines found in the market are perfectly useless for this purpose, discharging only at one pole. Dr. Toel designed himself the machine which he is using, which is a double discharging machine of four times the strength of those found in the market, and which allows him to bring the blood pressure down very rapidly.

Dr. Toel can be found at his old office, 619 Washington Street, Dallas, Oregon, one-half block east of the S. P. depot, from 9 a. m. to 12 noon, 2 to 5 p. m., 7 to 8 p. m., Sunday 10 to 1 p. m.
