Verily we are progressing in the use of words. The addition to the vocabulary of the nation has been quite marked in recent years. The advent of the automobile and airship have brought into use numerous new words and some old ones that have been regarded as slang have gotten into the dictionaries in due form and in respectable company. For inspectable company. For inspectable company. For inspectable company. For inspectable company. The inspe stance, "damphool," "aghty," 'corker," "stemwinder," and the like are now in good standing. It will be a great relief to the newspaper fraternity to be able to express ary election for the nomination for its contempt for a brother editor county surveyor. If elected in the without using profanity. "Dam- Nevember election I will do my utpaper fraternity to be able to express phool" certainly fills a long felt want.
